

HOUSE RULES

The following cards have specific actions when played:

Play a 1 and give a card in your hand to another player.

Dish out an unwanted card to a player who has fewer cards than you, especially if that person has UNO (one card in the hand).

Play a 2 and place a card from your hand on top of the deck.

Face down, of course! Strategically place a card on the deck for the next player. You can use this for good or evil.

Play a 7 and switch hands with another player of your choice.

Play a green 7 and the next player tells you who to switch hands with. Pro Tip: usually wise to switch with someone with fewer cards, unless you're crazy.

Play a 0 and everyone rotates hands in the direction of play.

Warning! This makes people with decent hands angry sometimes. Use at your own discretion.

Got it? Good! Now learn these advanced rules:

Jump in with the same exact card.

This applies to all cards. If a card requires an action, that action needs to be made before jumping in. Draw 2 and Draw 4 cards will be compounded if jumping in, if someone has not drawn cards yet.

Draw 2 cards compound to make someone draw a lot of cards.

A sure-fire way to make enemies. Use the "slingshot" to put some hurt on a player with fewer cards.

Draw 4 cards also compound in order to make someone draw more cards.

Player that plays the last Draw 4 gets to pick the color. You often see people drawing 16 cards!

Play a progression of cards in the same color.

Be quick! But also be careful about cards that require other actions. Those actions need to be made before continuing your progression.

Play a reverse or skip of the same color on a Draw 2 to make another player next to you draw cards.

Play a double skip of the same color on a Draw 2 to skip the player next to you and make the following player draw cards.

Yes, we know it seems complicated, but you'll get it. Godspeed!

Note: Red Cards shown above, but rules apply to all colors.
