Schools For Growth:

Schools for Growth Lois Holzman, 1997 A passionate deconstruction and reconstruction of learning development and schooling that urges teachers to explore and create new educational opportunities for themselves and their students Schools for Growth Radical Alternatives to Current Educational Models asks the following questions Can we create ways for people to learn the kinds of things that are necessary for functional adaptation without stifling their capacity to continuously create their growth Can schools become environments that support children to perform not only as learners but as developers of their lives This book challenges educators to look at the deeply rooted assumptions about schooling learning and development and urges that the way psychology and education have constructed our conceptions of what it means to teach to learn and to grow may be the most serious impediment to the learning and developing of children Beyond the criticism the author presents an original methodological reformation of what learning and development are as relational activities and then takes readers on a visit to three radical independent school settings Arguing that current educational models have been misguided by scientific psychology the author states that the dominant model of human development actually hinders development Moreover as learning theory has become infused with developmental theory over the past 30 years the overly cognitive manner in which psychologists have come to think about thinking learning and development has become further insinuated into education Both theories learning and developmental fail to recognize the human capacity for relational revolutionary activity and for performance The prevalent mode of education acquisitional learning is grounded in a world view that gives primacy to knowledge and knowing which Holzman believes is inconsistent with ongoing developmental activity The author focuses on developmental learning a social constructionist activity theoretic conception of development which includes a transformation and synthesis of Vygotsky and philosopher Ludwig Wittgenstein She also discusses educational projects that are self conscious attempts to break with key elements of modern epistemology and the dominant psychological paradigm as they are perpetrated in contemporary educational theory and practice Their specific philosophies and practices highlight important methodological issues raised in the attempt to create postmodern schools schools more concerned with growing than knowing

Preserving the Public in Public Schools Phil Boyle, Del Burns, 2012 What's public about public schools Why do we invest in educating the next generation of Americans What is it that drives our common purpose in educating children and at the same time divides us so passionately about how to educate them Public schools have little to do with children Schools are political and ideological institutions in which each generation battles among itself for supremacy in determining the purposes goals and direction of public education From battles over school lunch to school dress to school prayer each generation reinterprets and recapitulates the political and ideological arguments that date back to the founding of our nation More than two centuries after the American Revolution public schools serve as political battlefields for debates about religious freedom and whether students should be allowed to wear U S flag teeshirts We invite you to join us in an exploration of the purposes of public schools the competing visions of public education and the values of the public good that comprise the public in public schools
