national policies of higher education within and outside the European Union EU for the last twenty years In some European countries this process was initiated early on and has brought about remarkable results while in others progress has been slower Different countries and institutions have focussed on different strategies for raising awareness about the discrimination of women and for increasing the number of women in academia particularly in leadership positions Previous research on gender equality in higher education has produced many case studies about programmes at institutions of higher education in Europe and elsewhere Different actors like the European Commission and national organisations have also furnished reports about national policies Building on this material it is now time to analyse under what conditions equality programmes are successful For a deeper understanding of the mechanisms of and barriers to gender equality in higher education we also need studies that focus on the development of gender equality policies in different countries as well as on conditions of implementation change of strategy and the evaluation of results Comparative studies would be another useful tool for understanding the development and success of gender equality programmes

Refugee Women, Representation and Education Melinda McPherson, 2014-10-07 Even with increased attention to refugee women's issues in the late 20th century post colonial discourses have nurtured limiting representations of refugee women predominantly as subjects of charity and as victims Adding to a growing body of work in the field the author challenges this preconception by offering an opportunity for women's voices to shape and influence policy especially as it pertains to the role of education in the authoring of their own lives In this volume Melinda McPherson centres refugee women's voices in the educational policy debate Drawing on interviews with a group of refugee women in Melbourne she explores purposes of education and asks what kind of society these women imagine for themselves and for others Their critical reflections personal experiences and diverse backgrounds offer a contrasting picture to that privileged in ordinary policy debate The women require support resources and guidance but they are agents in their own lives who bring strength thought and imagination to crafting their own destinies in a new country Education is a pivotal tool in exercising that agency Throughout the book discussions centre on why education matters to refugee women focusing upon the integral links between education civil society and successful settlement and conversely on the negative impacts of exclusionary practices Representation and participation in education is a topic of critical social justice concern and as such the book will form important reading for academics students policy makers and community development researchers Contemporary Issues of Equity in Education Susanne Gannon, Margaret Somerville, 2014-10-02 Contemporary Issues of Equity in Education argues that equity and social justice must be brought back to the centre of discussions about education It traces international system wide and local effects of policies that increase marketization and competition between students schools and systems whilst erasing wider considerations of the socio cultural contexts that shape educational experiences and outcomes Leading researchers interrogate the design of educational systems for social justice fairness and inclusion at multiple levels from classrooms and schools through to universities and initial teacher education Chapters trace the ways in which gender ethnicity class and refugee experiences intersect with indices of socio economic disadvantage in ways that directly impact on young people s learning and on the pedagogical work of teachers The book demonstrates collaborative and inclusive approaches for researching schooling in disadvantaged communities It offers strategies and practices for reimagining schools and universities in ways that enable young people in high poverty and culturally and linguistically diverse communities to effectively engage with education Teenagers, Literacy and School Ken Cruickshank, 2006-09-27 This unique and timely book follows the experiences of four Arabic teenagers their families and their community focusing on the role of literacy in their daily lives and the differences between home and school The author looks at the conflict between expectations and practices at school and in the home arguing that problems are inevitable where class and cultural differences exist Emerging themes include how literacy practices in the community are undergoing rapid change due to global developments in technology how the patterns of written and spoken language in English and Arabic in the home are linked with social practices in logical and coherent ways how many of the family practices that differ from school culture and language become marginalised Built around these insightful case studies yet grounded in theory this book is of immediate relevance to teachers working in multicultural contexts and students and lecturers in language literacy or on TESOL courses The SAGE Handbook of School Organization Michael Connolly, David H. International Handbook of Urban Education William T. Pink, George W. Noblit, 2008-09-03 It is evident that urban education has become the central focus of educators at the present time In the U S for example almost one third of all school age children attend schools in large urban school districts It is in these urban schools where the diversity of cultures and languages is highest and where student learning is most problematic What has emerged from recent work to improve urban schools is the insight that there is no one size fits all panacea Rather we have discovered that the local context shapes in critically important ways what will be effective at the school level The universality of the problematics with urban education together with the importance of understanding the local or situated context of improvement interventions brings into sharp focus the importance and timeliness of an undertaking like the International Handbook of Urban Education An important focus of the International Handbook of Urban Education will be the interrogation of both the social and political factors that lead to different problem posing and subsequent solutions within each region An important question to be answered for example is what it takes in terms of resources political will and policy actions to improve urban education

Troubling Multiculturalism Hans Skott-Myhre, J.N. Little, 2015-09-25 It can be easy to imagine that Child and Youth Care practitioners are inherently or naturally attuned to issues of diversity and colonization as they pertain to multicultural practice While there are excellent culturally attuned practices that are happening in the field of Child and Youth Care when it comes to collecting stories of cultural diversity and more specifically the problematic unfolding of some of these stories there remains hesitancy in the field This hesitancy in part is due to assuming we are practicing in postcolonial times where all the messiness the doubting and the pain have been dealt with The authors of this volume suggest otherwise and their chapters represent an important contribution to the field They are a diverse group of practitioners but they share a common concern that the term multicultural practice grooms hegemonic interventions that do not critically examine issues of power difference colonialism Whiteness or species to name a few Although the title of this issue is Troubling Multiculturalism the language within this issue stretches this term troubles it and at times re invents it This book was originally published as a special issue of Child and Youth Services
