Mathematics Society And Curricula:

Rethinking the Mathematics Curriculum Celia Hoyles, Candia Morgan, Geoffrey Woodhouse, 2002-01-04 At a time when political interest in mathematics education is at its highest this book demonstrates that the issues are far from straightforward A wide range of international contributors address such questions as What is mathematics and what is it for What skills does mathematics education need to provide as technology advances What are the implications for teacher education What can we learn from past attempts to change the mathematics curriculum Rethinking the Mathematics Curriculum offers stimulating discussions showing much is to be learnt from the differences in culture national expectations and political restraints revealed in the book This accessible book will be of particular interest to policy makers curriculum developers educators researchers and employers as well as the general reader

Mathematics Education in Korea Jinho Kim, 2013 This book will introduce the history and practices of mathematics education in Korea How it has been influenced from Japan America and other countries and has developed into the unique Korean style of mathematics education The editors have planned to include most of the topics researchers outside Korea want to know mathematics education in Korea

Schooling, Society and Curriculum Alex Moore, 2006-08-10 Schooling Society and Curriculum offers a much needed reassessment and realignment of curriculum studies in the UK and international contexts Comprising a collection of eleven original chapters by prominent nationally and internationally known experts in the field of curriculum studies the book leads and fosters critical generic debates about formal education and its relationships to wider society Focusing on key debates that have been present for as long as formal state education has been in existence the contributors contextualise them within a future orientated perspective that takes particular account of issues specific to life in the early years of the twenty first century These include globalisation and nationalism poverty and wealth what it means to be a good citizen cultural pluralism and intolerance and centrally what it is that young people need from a school curriculum in order to develop as happy socially just adults in an uncertain and rapidly changing world The book is organized into four sections issues and contexts values and learners school curricula in the digital age exploring the possible globalisation localisation and utopias

Subjectivity, Curriculum, and Society Tero Autio, 2006-05-15 In this book Tero Autio traces not only the key philosophical currents that structure traditional Anglo American instrumental curriculum theory and Didaktik theories of curriculum which are lesser known in the U S but also the divide between them and implicitly the opportunities for traversing this divide Using careful historical and theoretic

School Mathematics Curricula Catherine P. Vistro-Yu, Tin Lam Toh, 2019-04-26 This book sheds light on school mathematics curricula in Asian countries including their design and the recent reforms that have been initiated By discussing and analyzing various problematic aspects of curriculum development and implementation in a number of East and South Asian countries and offering insights into these countries unique approaches to supplementing school mathematics curricula it contributes to shaping effective policies for implementation assessment and monitoring of curricula The book covers a wide range of issues curriculum design localization of curricula directions of curricular reforms mathematics textbooks assessment within the curriculum and teachers professional development which are of interest to a wide international audience Transforming Curriculum for A Culturally Diverse Society Etta R. Hollins, 2013-10-18 The intention of this book is to engage educators in transforming the public school curriculum for a culturally diverse society This means more than including knowledge about diverse populations It means reconceptualizing school practices through debate deliberation and collaboration involving the diverse voices that comprise the nation Certain key questions must be addressed in this process What should be the purpose of schooling in a culturally diverse society Who should be involved in curriculum planning and what process should be employed How is the actualized curriculum differentiated What is the relationship between school practices and the structure of the larger society How should the curriculum be evaluated The authors of the essays in this book address critical perspectives from which a framework is constructed for a discourse on planning curriculum for a culturally diverse society In a substantive introduction Hollins presents the major themes and overall goals of the book and describes how the readings in each of the four parts are linked to each other and to these themes and goals Each part begins with critical questions and an overview to provide a framework and a focus for the readings that follow and concludes with suggested learning experiences Selected Writings from the Journal of the Saskatchewan
