

Subject Specific Action Plan 2022-23
Subject: Mathematics
Co-ordinator(s): Tim Suwain
Priority One: To develop a love of reading numbers Early reading is key to engaging children into the value and love of books. Starting with phonics, children progressing through the phases of phonics, building their understanding of tricky words – link to maths vocabulary	Action(s): - Teachers to use the QLA from P0L to plan gap closing interventions/programmes to support whole class and targeted groups – reading of maths problems and what children need to do - Staff to highlight tricky vocabulary and help children understand maths-specific words - Staff to share where numbers are in all areas of the curriculum and how numbers can be 'read'. (eg. in date and statistics, what do the numbers mean?) Develop a love of understanding data and interpreting information)	Success Criteria: - Maths-specific words on display - Children able to interpret, understand and talk about where numbers are found and what they mean in context - Children able to read questions in maths more fluently so that they know what to do
Priority Two: To develop a love of maths through well-planned lessons that close the gaps and spark curiosity in the subject. Historically maths has been of less interest to children within our school community. This is also reflected in the opinions of parents. Maths can be seen as a 'turn off' subject. However, it is used and needed in so many areas of everyday life. Impact: this objective will have been achieved when there is an increased proportion of children achieving the expected and higher standard in Maths at the end of Y2 and Y6. This will improve the EYFST combined measure in both year groups. A particular focus on middle attaining children and disadvantaged children securing expected, as well as higher attainers securing greater depth.	Action(s): - Assess areas to focus on by looking at previous year group's QLA as discussed in pupil progress meetings - Teachers decide what they need to target and address and what they need to change to meet the needs of the children - Modification of the curriculum and fit maths into other areas (eg. Longitudinal Study, Daily Mile Challenge) - Use maths meetings/starters to focus on specific areas of weakness - Key questioning that sparks curiosity (eg. How would you solve this? Is there another way?) - Pupil interviews to check on wellbeing and support that is in place (pupil voice and engagement) - Use of P0L assessments to help guide planning - Audit of maths across the curriculum with staff to be carried out.	Success Criteria: - Children increase their learning by being encouraged to select the correct challenges - Children feel comfortable, but challenged about their work - Children feel supported - The renewed Maths Long Term plan aligned with White Rose Maths and mastery approaches will ensure consistent and systematic maths teaching across the school. - Teaching observations in Maths and around the curriculum demonstrate ALL teaching to be at least good or better - Teachers pitch lessons and sequences of lessons and engage children to effectively to meet the needs of every child, taking into account lost learning - Teaching staff are deployed effectively where they are required - Any interventions have a clear target and connect to previous learning

	Y2 to assess how much 'additional' maths is taking place.	- Input of data each half term so that improvement can be measured - Pupil voice to see what children think about maths and its validity in other areas of the curriculum and life. 3 termly checks with staff. Check timetables to see when 'extra maths' takes place.
Priority Three: How will Wresenham ensure that the knowledge learnt from their curriculum is retained and remembered? Knowledge and skills are mapped out in our detailed curriculum progression for maths and are connected and developed through our Knowledge Organisers. However the process of previewing, learning, retrieving and building on knowledge need considering further. How vocab plays a role in this and how both develop cultural capital of our children also needs monitoring and adjusting. When using the block planning idea, how can we ensure that the knowledge learnt is remembered in 2 weeks/4 weeks/ next term	- Working walls kept up to date (Y2 to monitor this and take photos) - Teachers can share good practice across the federation - Check with staff in each school that they have the resources they need to teach - P0L Assessments - Vocabulary boards for maths on display in every classroom for the children to refer to - Curriculum monitoring is in place	- All classrooms to have a maths working wall with up-to-date material linked to the area being studied. Children can refer to this so that they know how to do a particular calculation - Examples of pupils' work to demonstrate evidence of fluency, reasoning and problem solving - Regular P0L Assessments show progress through data analysis - Maths vocabulary boards show the vocabulary used in the lessons and children are able to refer to this and use confidently. - Teachers ensure learning is multi-disciplinary and connected across subjects, across topics and beyond their year groups. - Staff are applying high standards of AFL, leading to a good level of challenge for all through challenges - Pupils retain knowledge and understanding and progress is demonstrated – increasing cultural capital - Floorbooks capture any maths learning across maths (including in other subjects)
Priority Four: How can Wresenham's vision come through in the curriculum? The vision that the academy holds must be at the heart of what our whole curriculum. The children must be able verbalise the vision and	- Staff to include signage on all displays - Staff to encourage children to form their own opinions of how to solve a problem and to develop	Pupils are more confident in their learning behaviours, are able to actively listen, debate and appreciate a wider range of viewpoints.
