Order your copy today      International Guide to Privacy Jody R. Westby, 2004 A compendium of information to assist organizations in meeting privacy responsibilities and developing a privacy program      Global Survey on Internet Privacy and Freedom of Expression Toby Mendel, Andrew Puddephatt, Ben Wagner, Dixie Hawtin, Natalia Torres, 2012-01-01 This publication seeks to identify the relationship between freedom of expression and Internet privacy, assessing where they support or compete with each other in different circumstances. The book maps out the issues in the current regulatory landscape of Internet privacy from the viewpoint of freedom of expression. It provides an overview of legal protection, self-regulatory guidelines, normative challenges, and case studies relating to the topic. With this publication, UNESCO aims to provide its Member States and other stakeholders, national and international, with a useful reference tool containing up-to-date and sharp information on emerging issues relevant to both developed and developing countries. Multiple stakeholders preferably in dialogue can use it in their own spheres of operation, adapting where appropriate from the range of experiences as recorded in these pages. The publication also supplies additional sources of reference for interested readers to use to further investigate each of the subjects highlighted. The publication explores a range of issues such as: 1. threats to privacy that have developed through the Internet; 2. international legal standards on privacy and responses to these emerging issues; 3. complex intersections between the rights to privacy and freedom of expression; 4. UNESCO recommendations to states and corporations for better practice; 5. overview of literature, background material, and tools on international and national policy and practice on privacy and freedom of expression on the Internet. In the coming years, UNESCO will specifically seek to disseminate information about good practices and international collaboration concerning the points of intersection between freedom of expression and privacy. Research on safeguarding the principle of freedom of expression in Internet policy across a range of issues will continue to be part of UNESCO's normative mandate and technical advice to stakeholders. Publisher's description      The Governance of Privacy Colin J. Bennett, Charles Raab, 2006-05-11 Analyzes privacy policy instruments available to contemporary industrial states from government regulations and transnational regimes to self-regulation and privacy-enhancing technologies. Privacy protection, according to Colin Bennett and Charles Raab, involves politics and public policy as much as it does law and technology. Moreover, the protection of our personal information in a globalized borderless world means that privacy-related policies are inextricably interdependent In this updated paperback edition of The Governance of Privacy Bennett and Raab analyze a broad range of privacy policy instruments available to contemporary advanced industrial states from government regulations and transnational regimes to self regulation and privacy enhancing technologies They consider two possible dynamics of privacy regulation a race to the bottom with competitive deregulation by countries eager to attract global investment in information technology versus a race to the top with the progressive establishment of global privacy standards Bennett and Raab begin by discussing the goals of privacy protection the liberal and individualist assumptions behind it and the neglected relationship between privacy and social equity They describe and evaluate different policy instruments including the important 1995 Directive on Data Protection from the European Union as well as the general efficacy of the top down statutory approach and self regulatory and technological alternatives to it They evaluate the interrelationships of these policy instruments and their position in a global framework of regulation and policy by state and non state actors And finally they consider whether all of this policy activity at international national and corporate levels necessarily means higher levels of privacy protection
