Matter Of Time Inscribed:

Matters of Inscription Christina A. León, 2024-08-13 A compelling exploration of materiality and semiotics in Latinx inscriptions Writers and artists from Cuba Puerto Rico and Latinx New York operate under the pressures of inscription the material and semiotic entanglement of making a mark as a marked artist By employing layered material tropes and figures such as stone dust viscera and animality their works do not represent a singular Latinx experience and instead must be read at the margin of language and matter Matters of Inscription explores feminist and queer inscriptions of Latinidad encompassing the intersections of materiality and semiotics in art performance poetry plays and fiction By delving into these figural matters Christina A León highlights how writers and artists such as Zilia Sánchez Ana Mendieta Manuel Ramos Otero María Irene Fornés Justin Torres and Roque Salas Rivera forge material inscriptions that transcend individual lives and call for a broader analytical perspective unmoored from biographical anchors The book urges readers to reevaluate the notion of difference which has momentarily sought solace in identitarian terminology León engages in rhetorical analysis that reassesses how the terms of Latinx studies have been challenged and how they are failing Rather than categorizing texts based on predetermined taxonomic terms or individual subjects lives the book tracks figures situated at the edges of materiality and semiosis This approach addresses the continuous marginalization and dispossession that shape the phenomenon of Latinx identity latinidad by recentering conceptual questions of origin diaspora pedagogy and belonging The book contends that losses and deprivations should be rendered incommensurate to avoid collapsing the richness of different experiences or scales of ontological debasement By focusing on the interplay of materiality and semiotics Matters of Inscription challenges conventional approaches that seek to homogenize and anticipate what Latinx might mean and instead calls for a more capacious and nuanced analysis that goes beyond individual biographies

Writing Matters Ruth Whitehouse, 2024-09-05 The epigraphy of 1st millennium BCE Italy has been studied for many years but these studies have largely concentrated on the languages encoded in the inscriptions and their semantic meanings This book takes a more holistic approach that looks not only at content but also the archaeological contexts of the inscriptions and the materiality of their supports the artefacts and monuments on which the inscriptions occur The first writing in Italy was not a local invention but was introduced by the Phoenicians and Greeks in the 9th 8th centuries BCE It was taken up by number of indigenous communities over the subsequent centuries to write their own languages before these were eventually submerged by the spread of Latin In a series of theoretical methodological and interpretative essays Ruth Whitehouse explores what can be learned about how writing was used by these communities and what it meant to them The bodies of data considered relate to Venetic and Raetic the northeast Lepontic the northwest Messapic the southeast and Etruscan west central Italy extending also into Campania in the south and the Po plain in the north While not a comprehensive survey there are enough different groups to allow a comparative approach to be adopted Analysis of the datasets is able to reveal the similarities and differences between them as well as identify features that were widespread in 1st millennium BCE Italy and others that were more idiosyncratic and specific to particular cultural groups Placing materiality at the centre of study allows a reconsideration of the roles writing played in the lives of the individuals and groups who occupied Italy in the 1st millennium BCE The Alien

Graphicacy Wolff-Michael Roth, Lilian Pozzer-Ardenghi, Jae Young Han, 2005-11-10 School science is dominated by textbook oriented approaches to teaching and learning Some surveys reveal that students have to read depending on academic level between ten and thirty six pages per week from their textbook One therefore has to ask To what degree do textbooks introduce students to the literary practices of their domain Few studies have addressed the quality of science curriculum materials particularly textbooks from a critical perspective In this light we are concerned in this book with better understanding the reading and interpretation practices related to visual materials here referred to as inscriptions that accompany texts Our overarching questions included What practices are required for reading inscriptions and Do textbooks allow students to develop levels of graphicacy required to critically read scientific texts Some of the more specific questions included What are the practices of relating inscriptions captions and main text and What practices are required to read inscriptions in school textbooks That is we are interested not only in understanding what it takes to interpret read and understand visual materials i e inscriptions but also in understanding what it takes to engage inscriptions in a critical way It is only when citizens can critically engage with language texts speech and inscriptions that they become knowledgeable users of television newspapers and magazines who can choose or leave aside particular expressions as part of the particular politics that they participate in
