Rhetorics Poetics And Cultures Refiguring College English Studies Refiguring English Studies:

Rhetorics, Poetics, and Cultures James A. Berlin, 2003-03-01 Rhetorics Poetics and Cultures is James Berlin's most comprehensive effort to refigure the field of English Studies. Here in his last book Berlin both historically situates and recovers for today the tools and insights of rhetoric displaced and marginalized; he argues by the allegedly disinterested study of aesthetic texts in the college English department Berlin sees rhetoric as offering a unique perspective on the current disciplinary crisis complementing the challenging perspectives offered by postmodern literary theory and cultural studies.

Rhetorics, Poetics, and Cultures James A. Berlin, Janice M. Lauer, 2003 Transforming English Studies Lori Ostergaard, Jeff Ludwig, 2009-02-23 Transforming English Studies provides a uniquely interdisciplinary view of English studies crises both real and imagined and works toward resolving the legitimate pathologies that threaten the sustainability of the discipline.

Refiguring the Ph.D. in English Studies Stephen M. North, Barbara Chepaitis, 2000 This wide-ranging analysis of doctoral education in English Studies challenges readers to reconsider their assumptions about how English Ph.D. programs came to be what purposes they serve and what they might become what they ought to become in the 21st century. Section I traces the first century of English doctoral education in the American university from its German origins to the crisis of disciplinary and professional identity that precipitated the 1987 Conference on Graduate Study and the Future of Doctoral Studies in English. Section II examines one programmatic response to that crisis: the State University of New York at Albany's Writing Teaching and Criticism with a particular emphasis on the program's determination to reintegrate the field's increasingly disparate specializations. Section III turns back to the broader professional and disciplinary scene to consider the implications of such a fusion-based curriculum to consider why this curricular model represents the best available option for both doctoral education and the entire enterprise of English Studies. Chapters in the book are: 1. Establishing the Tradition 1876-1950 2. Lehrfreiheit Lernfreiheit and the Magisterial Curriculum 3. Expansion Contraction and the Surprising Rise of Heterogeneity 1950-1990 4. The Crisis of Identity in English Studies and the Demise of the Magisterial Curriculum 5. Albany's Ph.D. in English Studies Writing Teaching and Criticism 6. Writing to Get Situated Learning to Stage a Reading 7. Charting Courses 1. Extended Work in a Preferred Mode 8. Charting Courses 2. Re-combinatory Writings 9. Writing beyond Coursework The Qualifying Examination and the Dissertation and 10. The Fusion-Based Curriculum for an English Studies in Transition. Contains 120 references. Worlds Apart Patrick Dias, Aviva Freedman, Peter Medway, Anthony Par, 2013-06-17 Worlds Apart: Acting and Writing in Academic and Workplace Contexts offers a unique examination of writing as it is applied and used in academic and workplace settings. Based on a 7-year multi-site comparative study of writing in different university courses and matched workplaces, this volume presents new perspectives on how writing functions within the activities of various disciplines: law and public administration courses and government institutions; management courses and financial institutions; social work courses and social work agencies; and architecture courses and architecture practice. Using detailed ethnography the authors make comparisons between the two types of settings through an understanding of how writing is operative within the particularities of these settings Although the research was initially established to further understanding of the relationships between writing in academic and workplace settings it has evolved to examining writing as it is embedded in both types of settings where social relationships available tools and historical cultural temporal and physical location are all implicated in complex ways in the decisions people make as writers Readers of this volume will discover that the uniqueness of each setting makes salient different aspects of writers and writing resulting in complex and potentially unsettling implications for writing theory and the teaching of writing Rhetoric, Uncertainty, and the University as Text Andrew Stubbs, 2007

Rhetor Response Peter H. Khost, 2018-09-10 Bridging the disciplinary divide between writing and literature Rhetor Response introduces the concept and pedagogical applications of literary affordances the ways in which readers use and integrate literature into their own writing or lives Unconcerned with authorial intent interpretive meaning or critical reception affordance signifies a shift in focus from what literary texts mean and do to what one can do with them This book presents both opportunities and challenges to writing studies a field whose burgeoning disciplinary independence ironically relies on a sizable underclass of specialists in literature rather than writing Incorporating elements of rhetorical theory literary criticism pedagogical methodology political critique and psychological and philosophical memoir Peter H Khost complicates and revives the relevance of literature from belles lettres to fanfiction by turning from interpretation to affordance in order to identify readers applications of literary textual features to unrelated lived situations Rhetor Response theorizes and exemplifies literary affordance as a constructive step toward professional reconciliation as well as an entry into greater textual power and pleasure for students and readers It is a one of a kind resource for college writing program administrators faculty and scholars in English and writing studies and graduate and advanced undergraduate students across both disciplines

Participatory Composition Sarah J. Arroyo, 2013-07-25 Like Share Comment Subscribe Embed Upload Check in The commands of the modern online world relentlessly prompt participation and encourage collaboration connecting people in ways not possible even five years ago This connectedness no doubt influences college writing courses in both form and content creating possibilities for investigating new forms of writing and student participation In this innovative volume Sarah J Arroyo argues for a participatory composition inspired by the culture of online video sharing and framed by theorist Gregory Ulmer s concept of electracy Electracy according to Ulmer is to digital media what literacy is to alphabetic writing Although electracy can be compared to digital literacy it is not something shut on and off with the power buttons on computers or mobile devices Rather electracy encompasses the cultural institutional pedagogical and ideological implications inherent in the transition from a culture of print literacy to a culture saturated with electronic media regardless of the presence of actual machines Arroyo explores the apparatus of electracy in many of its manifestations while focusing on the participatory practices found in online video culture particularly on YouTube Chapters are devoted to questions of subjectivity definition authorship and pedagogy Utilizing theory and incorporating practical examples from YouTube classrooms and other social sites Arroyo presents accessible and practical approaches for writing instruction Additionally she outlines the concept of participatory composition by highlighting how it manifests in online video culture offers student examples of engagement with the concept and advocates participatory approaches throughout the book Arroyo presents accessible and practical possibilities for teaching and learning that will benefit scholars of rhetoric and composition media studies and anyone interested in the cultural and instructional implications of the digital age Engaging Curriculum Bill Green,2017-09-18 Explicitly linking curriculum inquiry to English education via recurring themes of representation democracy and knowledge this book is a call for both researchers and practitioners to engage with curriculum explicitly and deliberatively as both a concept and a question The approach is broadly conceptual and constitutes an exercise in theoretical and philosophical inquiry While deeply informed by North American debates and developments this book offers a distinctive counterpoint and a strategically ex centric perspective being equally informed by the curriculum scene in Australia as well as the UK and elsewhere Divided into two sections this book first addresses matters of general curriculum inquiry while the second turns more specifically to English teaching and to associated questions of language literacy and literature in L1 education Green brings the two together through a critical examination of the Australian national curriculum especially in its implications and challenges for English teaching and with due regard for the project of transnational curriculum inquiry

A Conflict of Paradigms Rebecca K. Webb,2008-08-21 In this combined examination of the history theories and practices in the teaching of English the author presents compelling insight and practical solutions to the crisis in English education and the conflict among critical theories radical pedagogy classroom practice epistemics the pressure to vocationalize the curriculum and the corporatization of institutes of learning Antebellum American Women's Poetry Wendy Dasler

Johnson,2016-08-10 This book explores sentimental poetry an often overlooked yet significant and persuasive pre Civil War American discourse At a time when a woman speaking before a mixed gender audience might be labeled promiscuous many women presented their views through sentimental poetry a blend of affect with intellect Re Visioning Composition

Weisser,2012-02-01 The first full length book to address the relationships between environment and discourse Natural Discourse explains why and how ecocomposition has become such a critical part of composition studies Beginning by exploring the roots of ecocomposition including a history of the use of the term ecocomposition the book then examines ecological aspects of composition studies and looks at how ecocomposition is informed by ecocriticism cultural studies

ecofeminism environmental rhetoric and composition studies The authors draw on their own experiences as teachers of writing and outdoor enthusiasts to describe how ecocomposition can address issues of language and nature public intellectualism and pedagogy Readings in Writing Courses Richard C. Raymond,2010-12-01 As the title suggests this six chapter book responds to a question which in Western culture goes back to Plato Aristotle Cicero and Quintilian namely What should rhetoric teachers ask their students to read Primarily historical the first two chapters trace conflicting answers to the question above focusing on two constructive results of the debate the re invention of rhetoric and writing as a discipline a coherent and growing body of knowledge and as a result the emergence of independent departments of writing free from departments of English free therefore to develop their own curriculum and to manage their own budgets Additionally the second chapter examines two destructive consequences of this debate the ban of literature from writing courses where students might profitably study both and as a result the often painful departmental splits which not only separate former colleagues but also cramp the pedagogy of those trained to teach both writing and literature More than a survey of key publications this chapter encourages readers to honor the discipline of rhetoric but to make a place for literature on their composition syllabi The next four chapters provide pedagogical support for these chief claims that literature can and should be taught in writing courses and that such readings need not distract students from the primary text their own writing On the contrary these readings motivate serious writing when students feel invited into a conversation on issues that touch their lives These pedagogical chapters then move entering professionals from the theoretical debate to the application of theory therefore the book would serve well professors of courses in composition theory particularly those who enjoy teaching the conflicts and preparing their graduate students to design assignments and courses that apply theories of learning reading and composing Contingency, Immanence, and the Subject of Rhetoric Timothy Richardson,2013-08-14 Contingency Immanence and the Subject of Rhetoric considers rhetoric as the historical counterpoint of philosophical and religious discourses via its correspondences with antique rabbinic exegetical practices and contemporary psychoanalytic insights into causation Timothy Richardson takes up the rabbinic position to demonstrate how traditional Greco Christian rhetoric might be insufficient to account for what we now mean by rhetoric as a discipline Producing Good Citizens Amy J. Wan,2014-03-30 Recent global security threats economic instability and political uncertainty have placed great scrutiny on the requirements for U S citizenship The stipulation of literacy has long been one of these criteria In Producing Good Citizens Amy J Wan examines the historic roots of this phenomenon looking specifically to the period just before World War I up until the Great Depression During this time the United States witnessed a similar anxiety over the influx of immigrants economic uncertainty and global political tensions Early on educators bore the brunt of literacy training while also being charged with producing the right kind of citizens by imparting civic responsibility and a moral code for the workplace and society Literacy quickly became the credential to gain legal economic and cultural status In her study Wan defines three distinct pedagogical spaces for literacy training during the 1910s and 1920s Americanization and citizenship programs sponsored by the federal government union sponsored programs and first year university writing programs Wan also demonstrates how each literacy program had its own motivation the federal government desired productive citizens unions needed educated members to fight for labor reform and university educators looked to aid social mobility Citing numerous literacy theorists Wan analyzes the correlation of reading and writing skills to larger currents within American society She shows how early literacy training coincided with the demand for laborers during the rise of mass manufacturing while also providing an avenue to economic opportunity for immigrants This fostered a rhetorical link between citizenship productivity and patriotism Wan supplements her analysis with an examination of citizen training books labor newspapers factory manuals policy documents public deliberations on citizenship and literacy and other materials from the period to reveal the goal and rationale behind each program Wan relates the enduring bond of literacy and citizenship to current times by demonstrating the use of literacy to mitigate economic inequality and its lasting value to a productivity based society Today as in the past educators continue to serve as an integral part of the literacy training and citizen making process

Aristotle and Confucius on Rhetoric and Truth Haixia Lan, 2016-11-10 Readings of Aristotle's and Confucius teachings reveal that both philosophers rhetorical thinking contain vital similarities which can help us understand cultural differences today Much has been said about Aristotle's definition of rhetoric as the faculty of observing in any given case the available means of persuasion but few studies have focused on his depiction of rhetoric as partly like dialectic and partly like sophistical reasoning Yet this Aristotelian conception of rhetoric sheds light on a similarity with Confucius teaching both Confucius and Aristotle see the human understanding of the truths of things as necessarily having a dimension that is open ended and discursive

Rhetoric's Earthly Realm Bernard Alan Miller, 2011-05-07 Plato privileges the realm of absolute reality and truth above and beyond the world of language discourse and rhetoric For Plato earth harbors the facade of mere appearances and the evils of the bewitching powers of language In RHETORIC'S EARTHLY REALM HEIDEGGER SOPHISTRY AND THE GORGIAN KAIROS Bernard Alan Miller counters this intellectual legacy with an innovative and thoroughly conceived theory of rhetoric one concerned with earth in its Heideggerian aspect complex and multifaceted at the root of a phenomenology placing the focus on earth as the power of Being itself whereby it is manifest purely as language
