Making Knowledge Count Advocacy And Social Science:

Making Knowledge Count Peter Harries-Jones, 1991-04-01 The essays in this collection use case studies to address four vital issues of modern social advocacy The first is the new social framework which has legitimized advocacy and recognized the immense importance of human rights legislation The second issue explored is the adoption of various strategies by advocates in empowering social groups to achieve better self management A third issue is the link between the process of advocacy and social movements In the past the sociological study of collective conflict focused on the confrontation between capital and labour but in recent years social movements have shifted the focus to quality of life or programmed society conflicts Fourth the essays examine the role of academic social science in the new process of advocacy Harries Jones and the other contributors propose that outdated notions of objectivity in the social sciences be replaced by reflexivity social commitment and interested knowledge The case studies of advocacy in this collection include those concerning human rights in Chile race relations refugees community and labour advocacy alternative work training and advocacy in the women s movement The contributors to this volume are Howard Adelman Jinny Arancibia Marcelo Charlin John Cleveland Stewart Crysedale Harry Diaz Don Dippo Jacques Doyer Peter Harries Jones Elspeth Heyworth Peter Landstreet Ronnie Leah Stan Marshall Gareth Morgan Tim Rees Metta Spencer and Carol Tator

The Future of Anthropological Knowledge Henrietta Moore, 2003-12-16 The Future of Anthropological Knowledge the chapters explore the question of the nature of social knowledge from a variety of perspectives and locations such as China Africa the USA and elsewhere By examining the changing nature of anthropological knowledge and of the production of that knowledge this book challenges the notion that only western societies have produced social theories of modernity and of global scope Knowledge of society can no longer be restricted to a knowledge of face to face social relations but must encompass the effect of technology global consumption patterns and changing geo political configurations The Future of Anthropological Knowledge will be of interest to anthropologists and students of culture and society

Introduction to Conflict Resolution Sara Cobb, Sarah Federman, Alison Castel, 2019-07-02 The field of conflict resolution has evolved dramatically during the relatively short duration of the discipline s existence Each generation of scholars has struggled with the major puzzles of their era providing theories and solutions that meet the needs of the time only to be pushed forward by new insights and at times totally upended by a changing world This introductory course text explores the genealogy of the field of conflict resolution by examining three different epochs of the field each one tied to the historical context and events of the day In each of these epochs scholars and practitioners worked to understand and address the conflicts that the world was facing at that time This book provides a framework that students will carry with them far into their careers enriching their contributions and strengthening their voices Rather than a didactic approach to the field students will develop their critical analytical skills through an inductive inquiry Students will broaden their vocabulary grapple with argumentation and develop critical reading skills Environmentalism and Cultural Theory Kay Milton, 2002-09-11 The last decade has seen a dramatic increase in the attention paid by social scientists to environmental issues and a gradual acknowledgement in the wider community of the role of social science in the public debate on sustainability At the same time the concept of culture once the property of anthropologists has gained wide currency among social scientists These trends have taken place against a growing perception among specialist and public of the global nature of contemporary issues This book shows how an understanding of culture can throw light on the way environmental issues are perceived and interpreted both by local communities and within the contemporary global arena Taking an anthropological approach the book examines the relationship between human culture and human ecology and considers how a cultural approach to the study of environmental issues differs from other established approaches in social science This book adds significantly to our understanding of environmentalism as a contemporary phenomenon by demonstrating the distinctive contribution of social and cultural anthropology to the environmental debate It will be of particular interest to students and researchers in the fields of social science and the environment The Making of the Mosaic Ninette Kelley, Michael J. Trebilcock, 2010-01-01 A coherent and lively tale that traces in considerable detail the evolution of Canadian immigration policy Christopher G Anderson Journal of Canadian Studies A thorough account of Canada's immigration policies Any reader interested in immigration to Canada now has a one stop source for its history Douglas Fisher Ottawa Sun A closely textured well conceived narrative an ambitious work that is tremendously reader friendly Barbara Lorenzkowski Social History Masterful and meticulously documented J D Blackwell Choice A rich resource for scholars of Canadian immigration John Harles Canadian Journal of Political Science Social and Cultural Anthropology: The Key Concepts Nigel Rapport, Joanna Overing, 2002-09-11 Social and Cultural Anthropology The Key Concepts is the ideal introduction to this discipline defining and discussing the central terms of the subject with clarity and authority

Environmentalism Kay Milton, 2003-12-16 Located in a wide spectrum of current research and practice from analyses of green ideology and imagery environmental law and policy and local environmental activism in the West to ethnographic studies of relationships between humans and their environments in hunter gatherer societies Environmentalism The View from Anthropology offers an original perspective on what is probably the best known issue of the late twentieth century It will be particularly useful to all social scientists interested in environmentalism and human ecology to environmental policy makers and to undergraduates lecturers and researchers in social anthropology development studies and sociology environment related dimensions Extensive maps diagrams and tables accompany the discussions and facilitate understanding This is an indispensable reference and serves the interest of students and scholars of human geography economics demography sociology anthropology social work and philosophy It is particularly useful for those engaged in further research on quality of life issues

Education Feminism Barbara J. Thayer-Bacon, Lynda Stone, Katharine M. Sprecher, 2013-11-18 Winner of the 2015 Critics Choice Book Award presented by the American Educational Studies Association Winner of the 2015 Critics Choice Book Award presented by the American Educational Studies Association Education Feminism is a revised and updated version of Lynda Stone's out of print anthology The Education Feminism Reader The text is intended as a course text and provides students a foundational base in feminist theories in education The classics section is comprised of the readings that students have most responded to in classes The contemporary readings section demonstrates how the third wave feminist criticism of the 1990s has an impact on today's feminist work Both of these sections address critical multicultural educational issues and have an inclusive diverse selection of feminist scholars who bring race class sexual orientation religious practices and colonial postcolonial perspectives to bear on their work The individual essays are concise and well written and arranged in such a way that it is easy for instructors to assign them around themes of their own choosing

Applied Anthropology in Canada Edward J. Hedican, 2008-01-01 Anthropologists are often reluctant to present their work relating to matters of a broad social context to the wider public even though many have much to say about a range of contemporary issues In this second edition of a classic work in the field Edward J Hedican takes stock of Anthropology's research on current indigenous affairs and offers an up to date assessment of Aboriginal issues in Canada from the perspective of applied Anthropology In his central thesis Hedican underlines Anthropology's opportunity to make a significant impact on the way Aboriginal issues are studied perceived and interpreted in Canada He contends that anthropologists must quit lingering on the periphery of debates concerning land claims and race relations and become more actively committed to the public good His study ranges over such challenging topics as advocacy roles in Aboriginal studies the ethics of applied research policy issues in community development the political context of the self government debate and the dilemma of Aboriginal status and identity in Canada Applied Anthropology in Canada is an impassioned call for a revitalized Anthropology one more directly attuned to the practical problems faced by First Nations peoples Hedican's focus on Aboriginal issues gives his work a strong contemporary relevance that bridges the gap between scholarly and public spheres

Teaching Against the Grain Roger Simon, 1992-04-20 Conceiving of pedagogy as a form of cultural politics and teachers therefore as cultural workers Simon offers a fresh vision of the notion of pedagogy Grounded in an ethical and political stance devoted to the advancement of human dignity Simon reflexively considers the basis on which teachers form their own dispositions and feelings and urges them to consider not only what they might do as teachers but what social visions are supported by their practices In this in depth discussion of the requirements for a pedagogy of possibility Simon highlights the significance of his theoretical commitment as applied to educational practice To illustrate the ways that pedagogy is implicated in the construction of a social imaginary Simon explores how the substance of schooling might be recast in a way that involves the work of teaching in reconstituting a progressive moral project for education that can constitute part of a broadly based social transformation He subsequently offers a social vision on which a pedagogy of possibility might be founded and shows how schools along with other sites of cultural production may be understood as integral to the struggle to establish such a vision In addition he discusses in detail how a practice of pedagogy might be conceptualized that would help establish concrete forms of hopeful practice

Anthropology, Public Policy, and Native Peoples in Canada Noel Dyck, James B. Waldram, 1993-03-02 The essays in Anthropology Public Policy and Native Peoples in Canada provide a comprehensive evaluation of past present and future forms of anthropological involvement in public policy issues that affect Native peoples in Canada The contributing authors who include social scientists and politicians from both Native and non Native backgrounds use their experience to assess the theory and practice of anthropological participation in and observation of relations between aboriginal peoples and governments in Canada They trace the strengths and weaknesses of traditional forms of anthropological fieldwork and writing as well as offering innovative solutions to some of the challenges confronting anthropologists working in this domain In addition to Noel Dyck and James Waldram the contributing authors are Peggy Martin Brizinski Julie Cruikshank Peter Douglas Elias Julia D Harrison Ron Ignace Joseph M Kaufert Patricia Leyland Kaufert William W Koolage John O Neil Joe Sawchuk Colin H Scott Derek G Smith George Speck Renee Taylor Peter J Usher and Sally M Weaver

Confronting Cruelty Lyle Munro, 2005-03-01 Why and how do people campaign on behalf of a species that is not their own Responses to this question provide important insights into the much misunderstood animal rights movement and the people in it who challenge the moral orthodoxy that underpins our attitudes towards nonhuman animals The norm of moderate concern for animals that animals matter albeit less than humans permits the abuse of animals in vivisection factory farming bloodsports and other contexts where animals suffer Social movement theory is used to show how animal rights activists are engaged in the social construction of cruelty as a social problem which they seek to prevent by their intellectual practical and emotion work in seminal campaigns against cruelty in the United States England and Australia

The Early Origins of the Social Sciences Lynn McDonald, 1996 This study traces the methodological foundations research techniques and basic concepts of the social sciences from their earliest origins to the beginning of 20th century It discusses the French Enlightenment British moral philosophy and includes figures from the 19th century such as Marx

Encyclopedia of Human Rights Edward H. Lawson, 1996 Preface to the first edition Atlantis, 1996

Strong Hearts, Native Lands Anna J. Willow, 2012-05-10 In December 2002 members of the Grassy Narrows First Nation blocked a logging road to impede the movement of timber industry trucks and equipment within their 2 500 square mile traditional territory The Grassy Narrows blockade went on to become the longest standing protest of its type in

Canadian history The story of the blockade is a story of convergences It takes place where cultural political and environmental dimensions of indigenous activism intersect where history combines with current challenges and future aspirations to inspire direct action When members of this semiremote northwestern Ontario Anishinaabe Ojibwe community took action to protect their land they did so with the recognition that the fate of the earth and the fate of much more are tightly interwoven Anna J Willow demonstrates that indigenous people s decisions to take environmentally protective action cannot be understood apart from motives that Western observers have most often considered political or cultural rather than purely environmental By recounting how and why one Anishinaabe community was able to take a stand against the industrial logging that threatened their land based subsistence and way of life Willow offers a more complex and more constructive understanding of human environment relationships

Future Multilateralism Michael G. Schechter, 2016-07-27 The aim of this volume is to discuss the kinds of multilateralism that would be required to pursue some of the alternative projects of society namely those which agree with some of the key normative commitments of the MUNS programme non violent means for dealing with conflict social equity protection of the biosphere diffusion of power among social groups and societies The strategies identified here are both top down ie relying on conventional international institutions and bottom up ie involving a new multilateralism grounded in civil society

The Politics of Knowledge in Inclusive Development and Innovation David Ludwig, Birgit Boogaard, Phil Macnaghten, Cees Leeuwis, 2021-10-14 This book develops an integrated perspective on the practices and politics of making knowledge work in inclusive development and innovation While debates about development and innovation commonly appeal to the authority of academic researchers many current approaches emphasise the plurality of actors with relevant expertise for addressing livelihood challenges Adopting an action oriented and reflexive approach this volume explores the variety of ways in which knowledge works paying particular attention to dilemmas and controversies The six parts of the book address the complex interplay of knowledge and politics starting with the need for knowledge integration in the first part and decolonial perspectives on the politics of knowledge integration in the second part The following three parts focus on the practices of inclusive development and innovation through three major themes of learning for transformative change evidence and digitisation The final part of the book addresses the governance of knowledge and innovation in the light of political struggles about inclusivity Exploring conceptual and practical themes through case studies from the Global North and South this book will be of great interest to students scholars and practitioners researching and working in development studies epistemology innovation studies science and technology studies and sustainability studies more broadly

Crossing Law's Border Shauna Labman, 2019-11-01 The UN Refugee Agency considers resettlement the selection and transfer of refugees from the state where they seek asylum to another state that volunteers to take them a tool of refugee protection and an expression of international burden sharing In this account of Canada s resettlement program from the Indochinese crisis of the 1970s to the Syrian crisis of the 2010s Shauna Labman explores how rights responsibilities and obligations intersect in the absence of a legal scheme for refugee resettlement In particular she examines the role of the law on the voluntary act of resettlement and the effect of resettlement on asylum policies This pathbreaking book looks at the interplay between resettlement and asylum in one of the world s most successful refugee protection programs and shows how resettlement can either complement or complicate in country asylum claims at a time when refugee crises and fear of outsiders are causing countries to close their borders to asylum seekers around the world
