Making People Friendly Towns Improving The Public Environment In Towns And Cities:

Making People-friendly Towns Francis Tibbalds,1992 Considers the design maintenance and management of towns and cities particularly the central areas with a view to establishing what makes a successful and enjoyable public environment The author blends practical guidelines with text and original drawings

Making People-Friendly Towns Francis Tibbalds,2012-09-10 Making People Friendly Towns explores the way our towns and cities particularly their central areas look and feel to all their users and discusses their design maintenance and management Francis Tibbalds provides a new philosophical approach to the problem suggesting that places as a whole matter much more than the individual components that make up the urban environment such as buildings roads and parks This informative book suggests the way forward for professionals decision makers and all those who care about the future of our urban environment and points the reader in the direction of a wealth of living examples of successful town planning

Developing Age-Friendly Communities in the UK Stephen J. Page,Joanne Connell,2022-12-23 The ageing population is a global societal issue Policymakers planners and the public third and private sectors must rethink how the built environment and services are delivered to meet the needs of a changing demographic This is the first book to systematically review the evolution development and progress of age friendly thinking in the UK with a primary focus on the real world experiences of the people leading place based initiatives The book presents the findings of the first in depth national study of age friendly programme leaders in the UK completed in 2021 and provides insights into the development of age friendly communities the formative influences from a social policy perspective the management challenges and the progress towards achieving age friendly goals Using primary interview data and narrative analysis the experiences of working with age friendly programmes in different organisational forms are explored The book promotes a greater understanding of what it means to become an age friendly community in practice how the programmes have different development pathways and what influences different outcomes Embellished with detailed narratives from practitioners informative tables and diagrams and figures throughout the book carefully gathers the voices of a diverse range of decision makers and leaders associated with the age friendly movement and provides unique insights on the drivers of change in specific localities This is a must read for anyone involved in ageing research or ageing policy and practice as it provides an insightful look into the real world of embedding this community development model in different localities to make a difference to the lives of older people Topical themes include how these agendas connect with other issues such as dementia friendly programmes and the work of the third sector as well as the growing challenge of what it means to be friendly as a community and place and whether friendly is becoming an over used term in relation to place identity The book has national and global interest for all communities engaged in age friendly activity offering exemplars of best practice achievements in transforming local communities and views on the meaning of ageing as well as the age friendly lens as an approach that champions the world through the eyes of older people It offers a thought provoking read for anyone with an interest in this expanding area of ageing irrespective of disciplinary focus

Sustainable Urban Neighbourhood David Rudlin, Nicholas Falk, 2010-05-14 This successful title previously known as Building the 21st Century Home and now in its second edition explores and explains the trends and issues that underlie the renaissance of UK towns and cities and describes the sustainable urban neighbourhood as a model for rebuilding urban areas The book reviews the way that planning policies architectural trends and economic forces have undermined the viability of urban areas in Britain since the Industrial Revolution Now that much post war planning philosophy is being discredited we are left with few urban models other than garden city inspired suburbia Are these appropriate in the 21st century given environmental concerns demographic change social and economic pressures The authors suggest that these trends point to a very different urban future The authors argue that we must reform our towns and cities so that they become attractive humane places where people will choose to live The Sustainable Urban Neighbourhood is a model for such reform and the book describes what this would look like and how it might be brought about

Explorations in Urban Design Matthew Carmona, 2017-05-15 Whilst recognising that distinctly different traditions exist within the study and practice of urban design this book advances an interdisciplinary and innovative approach which is of direct importance to understanding the urban forms conditions practices and processes It enthuses and inspires users who are grappling with urban design research problems but who need inspiration to move from idea to methodological approach Through the work of 32 urban researchers from the arts sciences and social sciences it demonstrates a wide range of problems and approaches and shows how the diverse range of complementary approaches can come together to provide a holistic understanding to the design of cities While each of the contributors presents a particular approach to researching the field sometimes focusing centrally on particular research methodologies others cutting across methods or focusing on theory all include discussion of actual research projects to illustrate their application to real world problems This book will be valuable to everyone from the informed undergraduate student about to embark on their first dissertation to PhD students and seasoned researchers immersed in methodological and conceptual complexity and wishing to compare available and appropriate methodological paths

Place Identity, Participation and Planning Cliff Hague, Paul Jenkins, 2005 Can regional identities create a more sustainable alternative to the increasingly standardised environments in which we live Is bottom up rather than top down planning possible

Revitalising Historic Urban Quarters Tim Heath, Taner Oc, Steve Tiesdell, 2013-09-13 This book synthesizes urban design and urban regeneration by examining the revitalization of a number of historic urban quarters Its focus is on quarters or areas where there is a significant number of historic buildings concentrated in a small area with places and area based approaches Many cities have such quarters that confer on them a sense of place and identity through their historic continuity and cultural associations The quarters are often an integral element of the city's image and identity The lessons and observations from the experience of the revitalization of such historic urban quarters forms the core of this book with a number of case study examples from North America and Europe showing a variety of approaches to and outcomes of revitalization      By Design Great Britain. Department of the Environment, Transport and the Regions,2000 This guide is intended as a companion to Planning Policy Guidance PPGs and subsequent Planning Policy Statements PPSs and aims to encourage better design and to stimulate thinking about urban design The guide is relevant to all aspects of the built environment from the design of buildings and spaces landscapes to transport systems and for planning and development at every scale from streets and their neighbourhoods villages and cities to regional planning strategies      Social Exclusion in European Cities Judith Allen,Goran Cars,Ali Madanipour,2012-08-21 Across Europe concern is rising over the disintegration of social relations and the growing number of people who are being socially excluded social Exclusion in European Cities the first major study of this topic provides a definition of social exclusion and looks at both the processes which cause it and the dimensions of the problem throughout Europe The experiences of people living in areas or neighbourhoods with low rates of social integration are considered illuminating the human impact of exclusion where it is most visible Finally the contributors evaluate the various policy and community initiatives which are currently confronting the problem in a wide sample of European Cities on a variety of levels from individual actions to supra national European Union policy and suggest new ways in which social exclusion could be tackled With most large cities experiencing some degree of social exclusion this is an important volume for all those working in the areas of regional policy town planning housing management social work community development sociology political science and urban studies      Urban Design Reader Matthew Carmona,Steven Tiesdell,2007 Essential reading for architects planners and anyone else involved in urban design      Public Space Design and Social Cohesion Patricia Aelbrecht,Quentin Stevens,2019-01-22 Social cohesion is often perceived as being under threat from the increasing cultural and economic differences in contemporary cities and the increasing intensity of urban life Public space in its role as the main stage for social interactions between strangers clearly plays a role in facilitating or limiting opportunities for social cohesion But what exactly is social cohesion how is it experienced in the public realm and what role can the design of city spaces have in supporting or promoting it There are significant knowledge gaps between the social sciences and design disciplines and between academia and practice and thus a dispersed knowledge base that currently lacks nuanced insight into how urban design contributes to social integration or segregation This book brings together scholarly knowledge at the intersection of public space design and social cohesion It is based on original scholarly research and a depth of urban design practice and analyses case studies from a variety of cities and cultures across the Global North and Global South Its interdisciplinary cross cultural analysis will be of interest to academics students policymakers and practitioners engaged with a range of subject areas including urban design urban planning architecture landscape cultural studies human geography social policy sociology and anthropology It will also have significant appeal to a wider non academic readership given its topical subject matter      On Asian Streets and Public Space Hee Limin,Low Boon Liang,Heng

Chye Kiang,2010-01-01 The rapid urbanization of the Asian continent and transformation of its cityscapes have incited many professionals and scholars to pay urgent attention to the study of Asian streets and public spaces in the hope of recording them learning from their complex nature and even applying distilled principles in new environments before they disappear under the assault of rapid urban transformation This volume presents articles focusing on four prevalent themes namely transformation and modernity the culture of streets experiencing the street and finally design and quality of streets However these themes inevitably overlap pointing out again the complexity of what we call the street and the necessity for interdisciplinary research Finally adding Asian to street opens up the discussion about spaces in the Asian city and even concepts of Asian ness if indeed such a concept can be defined Believing in the importance of understanding Asian streets and streets in general for future design and planning of our cities this collection of essays encourages greater interest in this subject and therefore more interdisciplinary research Accordingly this book should interest not only urban planners architects and other design and building professionals but also environmentalists sociologists anthropologists geographers and historians as well as the general public Managing Environments for Leisure and Recreation Richard Broadhurst,2002-09-26 This book seeks to bring together the different strands of thought that inform the management of settings for leisure and recreation It is highly illustrated with over 50 line drawings and includes many case studies from around the world Experiential Landscape Kevin Thwaites,Ian Simkins,2006-12-05 Experiential Landscape offers new ways of looking at the relationship between people and the outdoor open spaces they use in their everyday lives The book takes a holistic view of the relationship between humans and their environment integrating experiential and spatial dimensions of the outdoors and exploring the theory and application of environmental design disciplines most notably landscape architecture and urban design The book explores specific settings in which an experiential approach has been applied setting out a vocabulary and methods of application and offers new readings of experiential characteristics in site analysis and design Offering readers a range of accessible mapping tools and details of what participative approaches mean in practice this is a new innovative and practical methodology The book provides an invaluable resource for students academics and practitioners and anyone seeking reflective but practical guidance on how to approach outdoor place making or the analysis and design of everyday outdoor places Transformation of Cities in Central and Eastern Europe F. E.

Ian Hamilton,Kaliopa Dimitrovska Andrews,Nataša Pichler-Milanović,2005 Annotation This volume is one in a series initiated by the United Nations University Institute of Advanced Studies on the inter relationship between globalisation and urban transformation It identifies and describes the inter and intra urban transformations of Central and Eastern European cities and considers their pre 1945 historic legacies the socialist period and their contemporary transition towards market oriented and democratic systems The dramatic changes since 1989 including the collapse of Communist ideology the break up of the Soviet Union Czechoslovakia and Yugoslavia the end of the Cold War and the impact of globalisation and European integration have reconfigured this region and affected their re integration into European and global networks This book first examines the similarities and differences between significant Central and Eastern European cities comparing the differing patterns of historical context and socialist legacies before 1990 and the impacts of internal and external forces on re shaping these cities and their paths of transformation since 1990 It also examines the role of contemporary planning within the overall development of Central and Eastern European cities The conclusion demonstrates the similarities and differences between Central and Eastern European cities and their re integration into global networks      Research Handbook on

Urban Sociology Miguel A. Martínez, 2024-04-12 Emphasising the social critical and situated dimensions of the urban this comprehensive Research Handbook presents a unique collection of theoretical and empirical perspectives on urban sociology Bringing together expert contributors from across the world it provides a rich overview and research agenda for contemporary urban sociological scholarship      Proceedings of the 6th International Conference of Arte-Polis

Christopher Silver, Lénia Marques, Himasari Hanan, Indah Widiastuti, 2017-10-12 This book includes papers presented at the 6th Arte Polis International Conference The theme of the conference was Imagining Experiences Creative Tourism and the Making of Place and the book brings together studies based on lessons learned research and critical reviews related to creative tourism and reflections on placemaking Covering a broad range of topics including cultural and experiential perceptions of landscape sustainable design urban and rural planning traditional and vernacular environment public realm thematic tourism as well as heritage preservation and management it discusses how issues of tourism shape our understanding of and discourse on architecture and landscapes The book serves as an invitation to more participatory and polyphonic dialogues in the field of architecture art and planning      Urban Design: Street and Square Cliff

Moughtin, 2007-06-07 This book part of a series of four offers a detailed analysis of urban design covering the streets squares and buildings that make up the public face of towns and cities It outlines the theory of the principal features of urban design from which method is developed and provides a better understanding of the main elements of urban design This includes the arrangement design and details of the streets and squares and the roles they play in city planning This third edition includes chapters on Sustainable Urban Design and Visual Analysis introducing the latest theories and influences in the field and bringing greater practical significance to the book Cliff Moughtin explores the street and square in terms of function structure and symbolism and examines fine examples in their historical context These are set against the background of the laws of urban design composition culled from Renaissance and modern writers      Housing Design Quality Matthew

Carmona, 2002-01-04 This book directly addresses the major planning debate of our time the delivery and quality of new housing development As pressure for new housing development in England increases a widespread desire to improve the design of the resulting residential environments becomes evermore apparent with increasing condemnation of the standard products of the volume housebuilders In recent years central government has come to accept the need to deliver higher quality living environments and the important role of the planning system in helping to raise design standards Housing Design Quality focuses on this role and in particular on how the various policy instruments available to public authorities can be used in a positive manner to deliver higher quality residential developments Humanizing Cities Through Car-Free City Development and Transformation Doheim, Rahma M.,Farag, Alshimaa Aboelmakarem,Kamel, Ehab,2020-06-05 The heavy dependency on private cars has shaped the design of cities While offering fast comfortable and convenient commutes cars have become the most popular method of transportation but are also a health crisis due to the toxic emissions they release into the atmosphere as well as the high death toll from traffic accidents For these reasons there is a need to minimize the use of cars within cities in favor of greener and humanized urban design that would improve the quality of life and reduce the global threat of climate change Humanizing Cities Through Car Free City Development and Transformation is an essential publication that explores the concepts of car free cities and city humanization as possible solutions to reduce the deteriorating effect on the environment and the community The publication discusses the urban initiative to implement pedestrianization and humanization of cities and public spaces to promote the concept of car free living Featuring coverage on a wide range of topics including city humanization smart mobility and urban policies this book is ideally designed for urban planners environmentalists government officials policymakers architects transportation authorities researchers academicians and students
