Holding Their Ground Alain Durand-Lasserve, Lauren Royston, 2012-05-23 Security of land tenure for the urban poor is now a major problem for developing cities in Africa Asia and Latin America This book presents and analyzes the main conclusions of a comparative research programme on land tenure issues It looks at how solutions can be found and implemented to respond to the demands and needs of the majority of squatters and informal settlements and analyzes how urban stakeholders with different social legal and economic constraints find innovative and flexible solutions The book is intended to fill a gap in the literature on comparative research on tenure policies and should be useful to researchers and professionals involved in defining and instigating tenure upgrading policies and programmes

Urban Informality Ananya Roy, Nezar AlSayyad, 2004-01-01 The turn of the century has been a moment of rapid urbanization Much of this urban growth is taking place in the cities of the developing world and much of it in informal settlements This book presents cutting edge research from various world regions to demonstrate these trends The contributions reveal that informal housing is no longer the domain of the urban poor rather it is a significant zone of transactions for the middle class and even transnational elites Indeed the book presents a rich view of urban informality as a system of regulations and norms that governs the use of space and makes possible new forms of social and political power The book is organized as a transnational endeavor It brings together three regional domains of research the Middle East Latin America and South Asia that are rarely in conversation with one another It also unsettles the hierarchy of development and underdevelopment by looking at some First World processes of informality through a Third World research lens

Cities in a Globalizing World Un-Habitat,2012-06-25 The world has entered the urban millennium Nearly half the world s people are now city dwellers and the rapid increase in urban population is expected to continue mainly in developing countries This historic transition is being further propelled by the powerful forces of globalization The central challenge for the international community is clear to make both urbanization and globalization work for all people instead of leaving billions behind or on the margins Cities in a Globalizing World Global Report on Human Settlements is a comprehensive review of conditions in the world s cities and the prospects for making them better safer places to live in an age of globalization I hope that it will provide all stakeholders foremost among them the urban poor themselves with reliable and timely information with which to set our policies right and get the machinery of urban life moving in a constructive direction From the Foreword by Kofi Annan Secretary General United Nations Cities in a Globalizing World presents a comprehensive review of the world s cities and analyses the positive and negative impacts on human settlements of the global trends towards social and economic integration and the rapid changes in information and communication technologies In this Global Report the United Nations Centre for Human Settlements Habitat draws on specially commissioned and contributed background papers from more than 80 leading international specialists The report focuses on recent trends in human settlements and their implications for poverty inequity and social polarization It develops advance knowledge for urban planning and management policies in support and promotion of inclusive cities and good urban governance This major and influential report is the most authoritative and up to date assessment of human settlements conditions and trends Written in clear non technical language and supported by informative graphics case studies and extensive statistical data it should be an essential tool and reference for academics researchers planners public authorities and civil society organizations around the world

Sustainable Urbanisation Adriana Allen,Nicholas You,2002      A Possible Way Out Ahmed Soliman,2004 A Possible Way Out brings together the research and experience gained in the last two decades on the issue of informal housing in Egypt This work sheds light on the process of housing informality in three Egyptian cities Greater Cairo Alexandria and Tanta and focuses on the different paths followed to informality The diversity of case study materials and the specific policy focus make this book an important contribution to the formulation of future urban strategies in the South

Urban Informality Ahmed M. Soliman, 2021-04-26 This professional book introduces an analytical framework of urban informality perspectives in the Middle East that is aligned with the Global South. The context of Egypt, Lebanon, and Jordan in the Middle East is the transregional focus of this book. In these contexts, the book opens a new arena of academic discussion on the theory and practice of urban informality. Urban Informality Experiences and Urban Sustainability Transitions in Middle East Cities questions urban informality as a site of transitions interrelated and interlinked with urban sustainability transitions in speedy changes in a given environment. The book presents urban informality sustainability transitions regarding resilience and adaptability that require shifts in urban systems. Shifts from a static process to a dynamic process that eradicates the fragmentation between the tensions, anxieties, and pressures of four modes of production, reproduction, consumptions, and distribution of goods and services in the city and its practices. Finally, through eleven chapters, the concluding remarks explore to what extent and how can urban informality transitions be sustainable.

Planning in a Global Era Andy Thornley, 2017-03-02 Globalization was the buzzword of the last decade. Advances in communication technology, computing, and air travel have all contributed to the establishment of what has been referred to as a network society that encompasses the globe. Such arguments clearly have a significance on planning an activity which has been concerned with controlling and shaping the use of space. This volume brings together contributions from across the world in order to address some of the questions that arise from such global changes. The opening section addresses the globalization debate directly, raising some theoretical issues and exploring the planning implications across a range of world cities. This is followed by an exploration of the way the theoretical debate about planning may need to advance to encompass contemporary forces. A number of more specific accounts addressing the need for adaptation are offered. The final section focuses on two aspects: housing and sustainability, which persist as wicked problems and are likely to remain at the top of the agenda in the third millennium.

Squatters as Developers? Vinit Mukhija, 2017-03-02 In the mid 1990s, the state government of Maharashtra introduced an innovative strategy of slum redevelopment in its capital city Mumbai (Bombay). Based on demolishing existing slums and rebuilding on the same sites at a higher density, it is very distinct from the two prevalent conventional strategies with respect to slums in developing countries: slum clearance and slum upgrading. So why did the slum redevelopment strategy originate in Mumbai and how did it do so? What were the key issues in the implementation of such a project? This critical volume responds to these questions by closely examining one particular redevelopment project over a period of twelve years: the Markandeya Cooperative Housing Society (MCHS). It analyzes the problems faced and the solutions innovated, identifies non-traditional issues often overlooked in housing improvement strategies, reveals the complexities involved in housing production for low-income groups, and combines in-depth empirical research with historical, institutional, spatial, and financial perspectives to improve our understanding of complex urban development processes.

Political Economy of Development and Business Bhabani Shankar Nayak, 2022-09-30 This book presents an alternative critical perspective on the political economy of development and business The everyday issues experienced by those on the margins are examined to highlight the Eurocentric bias at the centre of development theory public policy and business practices Ruling class projects within these areas are critically evaluated in order to present a vision of development that recognises pluralistic traditions and people s everyday experiences Eurocentric liberal myopia and its praxis are outlined in development theory public policy and business practices Particular focus is given to tribal planning needs based development public private partnerships modes of capital accumulation conscious capitalism and creative business education This book stands in defense of critical inquiry and pluriversal knowledge against the monolithic knowledge traditions and use of ruling class projects in development public policy and business ethics It aims to explore new forms of economic transformation that are inclusive and worker led It will be relevant to students and researchers interested in the political economy development economics and international business

Affordable Housing in the Urban Global South Jan Bredenoord,Paul Van Lindert,Peer Smets,2014-06-05 The global increase in the number of slums calls for policies which improve the conditions of the urban poor sustainably This volume provides an extensive overview of current housing policies in Asia Africa and Latin America and presents the facts and trends of recent housing policies The chapters provide ideas and tools for pro poor interventions with respect to the provision of land for housing building materials labour participation and finance The book looks at the role of the various stakeholders involved in such interventions including national and local governments private sector organisations NGOs and Community based Organisations

Water and Sanitation David Satterthwaite,2003

Suburban Land Question Richard Harris,Ute Lehrer,2018-01-01 The purpose of The Suburban Land Question is to identify the common elements of land development in suburban regions around the world

Innovations for Land Management, Governance, and Land Rights for Sustainable Urban Transitions Ahmed M. Soliman,Ramin Keivani,2024-07-27 The transformation of the built environment during the last few decades has placed enormous demands for land About 7.7 billion people live on the planet which is expected to increase by 2.5-3.0 billion in just 30 years with the highest growth projected to be in less developed regions The spreading of urban informality in cities of the Global South leads to chaotic informal economies and an inability to capitalize on urban rural economies of scale and exchange The combination of socioeconomic and climate change vulnerability in urban centres is having a double impact on already poverty stricken and marginalized groups especially women racialized and ethnic minority groups leading to what has come to be known as climate injustice Land constitutes a main component of urban development and is the main asset for informal urban communities in the Middle East region The State and urban planners can aim to regulate the growth of informal land markets or represent the interests of the citizens However in reality the increasing retreat or absence of the public authorities the crisis of confidence between the governed and governing and the deficit of urban policies to address the multitude of generated challenges cannot be concealed This volume examines three main themes land management and governance in the era of sustainability Legal informal and illegal land tenures and the broader socioeconomic changes impacting land and housing delivery It investigates the correlations transitions and interactions between the various forces and multi stakeholders that control and adjust the land delivery system for low income groups and the urban poor This includes exploring mechanisms for correcting urban inequalities between central and peripheral quarters and the modes of shared governance Finally the volume also discusses developing national land policies based on legal instruments that connect the implementation of the SDGs land and tenure security as critical drivers for more sustainable land delivery realization

Planning and Decentralization Victoria A. Beard,Faranak Miraftab,Christopher Silver,2008-06-04 The first in depth study of the impact of economic and political decentralization on planning practice in developing economies this innovative volume using original case study research by leading experts drawn from diverse fields of inquiry from planning to urban studies geography and economics explores the dramatic transformation that decentralization implies in responsibilities of the local planning and governance structures It examines a range of key issues including public and private finance local leadership and electoral issues planning in post conflict societies Offering unique insights into how planning has changed in specific countries paying particular attention to South East Asian economies India and South Africa this excellent volume is an invaluable resource for researchers graduate students and planners interested in urban planning in its international political and economic context

Market Economy and Urban Change Mohamed Hamza,Roger Zetter,2013-06-17 This book explores and evaluates urban sector and development policies in the context of market enablement By articulating the linkages between this neo liberal development paradigm and the way different actors in the urban sector enact policy responses the book provides an understanding of both the factors driving this policy framework and the impacts of these policies on urban sector policies and programmes In particular the book focuses on the implications of the shift from welfare to market economies on different aspects of urban development policies and practices particularly with regard to land shelter and related sectoral policies for poverty alleviation By linking policy to practice the book seeks to inform governments donor and implementing agencies of the impact of shifts in the development debate on urban sector strategies
