Paradise Reforged James Belich, 2002-02-28 Paradise Reforged picks up where Making Peoples left off taking the story of the New Zealanders from the 1880s to the end of the twentieth century It begins with the search for

Better Britain and ends by analyzing the modern Maori resurgence the new Pakeha consciousness and the implications of a reinterpreted past for New Zealand's future Along the way the book deals with subjects ranging from sport and sex to childhood and popular culture Critics hailed Making Peoples as brilliant and the most ambitious book yet written on New Zealand's past Paradise Reforged its successor adopts a similarly incisive original sweep across the New Zealand historical landscape in confronting the myths of the past That some of its themes are uncomfortably close to the present makes the result all the more fascinating

Sport, War and Society in Australia and New Zealand Martin Crotty, Robert Hess, 2018-02-02 Sport and war have been closely linked in Australian and New Zealand society since the nineteenth century Sport has variously been advocated as appropriate training for war lambasted as a distraction from the war effort and resorted to as an escape from wartime trials and tribulations War has limited the fortunes of some sporting codes and some individuals while others have blossomed in the changed circumstances The chapters in this book range widely over the broad subject of Australian and New Zealand sport and their relation to the cataclysmic world wars of the first half of the twentieth century They examine the mythology of the links between sport and war sporting codes groups of sporting individuals and individual sportspeople Revealing complex and often unpredictable effects of total wars upon individuals and social groups which as always created chaos and the sporting field offered no exception This book was originally published as a special issue of the International Journal of the History of Sport
