Nations Are Built Of Babies:

Nations Are Built of Babies Cynthia R. Comacchio, 1993 Nations Are Built of Babies documents a national campaign by Ontario physicians to reduce infant and maternal mortality in the early twentieth century. Armed with a secure faith in science and aided by the increasingly important position of experts in Canadian society, the medical profession tackled the national tragedy of infant and maternal mortality by advocating scientific motherhood. Canadian mothers were believed to be handicapped by an ignorance that could be remedied only through expert tutoring and supervision of child rearing duties. Working within a Marxist feminist framework, Cynthia Comacchio demonstrates that the campaign was part of a conscious plan to modernize Canadian families to meet the ideological imperatives of industrial capitalism. Doctors reasoned that if infants could be saved and their physical, mental, and moral health regulated, the benefits in socio-economic terms would more than offset any individual or state investment.

Babies for the Nation Denyse Baillargeon, 2009-07-08 Described by some as a necropolis for babies, the province of Quebec in the early twentieth century recorded infant mortality rates particularly among French-speaking Catholics that were among the highest in the Western world. This bleeding of the nation gave birth to a vast movement for child welfare that paved the way for a medicalization of childbearing. In Babies for the Nation, basing her analysis on extensive documentary research and more than fifty interviews with mothers, Denyse Baillargeon sets out to understand how doctors were able to convince women to consult them and why mothers chose to follow their advice. Her analysis considers the medical discourse of the time, the development of free services made available to mothers between 1910 and 1970, and how mothers used these services. Showing the variety of social actors involved in this process—doctors, nurses, women's groups, members of the clergy, private enterprise, the state, and the mothers themselves—this study delineates the alliances and the conflicts that arose between them in a complex phenomenon that profoundly changed the nature of childbearing in Quebec. Un Québec en mal d'enfants: La médicalisation de la maternité 1910-1970 was awarded the Clio Québec Prize, the Lionel Groulx-Yves Saint Germain Prize, and the Jean Charles Falardeau Prize. This translation by W. Donald Wilson brings this important book to a new readership.

Children's Health, the Nation's Wealth Institute of Medicine, National Research Council, Division of Behavioral and Social Sciences and Education, Board on Children, Youth, and Families, Committee on Evaluation of Children's Health, 2004-11-18 Children's health has clearly improved over the past several decades. Significant and positive gains have been made in lowering rates of infant mortality and morbidity from infectious diseases and accidental causes, improved access to health care, and reduction in the effects of environmental contaminants such as lead. Yet major questions still remain about how to assess the status of children's health, what factors should be monitored, and the appropriate measurement tools that should be used. Children's Health, the Nation's Wealth: Assessing and Improving Child Health provides a detailed examination of the information about children's health that is needed to help policy makers and program providers at the federal, state, and local levels. In order to improve children's health and thus the health of future generations it is critical to have data that can be used to assess both current conditions and possible future threats to children's health This compelling book describes what is known about the health of children and what is needed to expand the knowledge By strategically improving the health of children we ensure healthier future generations to come

Child, nation, race and empire Margot Hillel, Shurlee Swain, 2017-03-01 Child nation race and empire is an innovative inter disciplinary cross cultural study that contributes to understandings of both contemporary child welfare practices and the complex dynamics of empire It analyses the construction and transmission of nineteenth century British child rescue ideology Locating the origins of contemporary practice in the publications of the prominent English Child rescuers Dr Barnardo Thomas Bowman Stephenson Benjamin Waugh Edward de Montjoie Rudolf and their colonial disciples and literature written for children it shows how the vulnerable body of the child at risk came to be reconstituted as central to the survival of nation race and empire Yet as the shocking testimony before the many official enquiries into the past treatment of children in out of home care held in Britain Ireland Australia and Canada make clear there was no guarantee that the rescued child would be protected from further harm

Self, Nation, Text in Salman Rushdie's "Midnight's Children" Neil ten Kortenaar, 2004-01-21 Many non Indian readers find the historical and cultural references in Salman Rushdie's Midnight's Children demanding In his close reading of the novel Neil ten Kortenaar offers post colonial literary strategies for understanding Midnight's Children that also challenge some of the prevailing interpretations of the novel Using hybridity mimicry national allegory and cosmopolitanism all key critical concepts of postcolonial theory ten Kortenaar reads Midnight's Children as an allegory of history as a Bildungsroman and psychological study of a burgeoning national consciousness and as a representation of the nation He shows that the hybridity of Rushdie's fictional India is not created by different elements forming a whole but by the relationship among them Self Nation Text in Salman Rushdie's Midnight's Children also makes an original argument about how nation states are imagined and how national consciousness is formed in the citizen The protagonist Saleem Sinai heroically identifies himself with the state but this identification is beaten out of him until in the end he sees himself as the Common Man at the mercy of the state Ten Kortenaar reveals Rushdie's India to be more self conscious than many communal identities based on language it is an India haunted by a dark twin called Pakistan a nation in the way England is a nation but imagined against England Mistrusting the openness of Tagore's Hindu India it is both cosmopolitan and a specific subjective location

The Nation and the Child Yael Darr, 2018-05-23 The Nation and the Child Nation Building in Hebrew Children's Literature 1930-1970 is the first comprehensive study to investigate the active role of children's literature in the intensive cultural project of building a Hebrew nation Which social actors and institutions participated in creating a Hebrew children's literature How did they envision their young readership and what new cultural roles did they prescribe for them through literary texts How tolerant was the children's literary field to alternative or even subversive national options and how did the perceptions of the national child change in the transition from the pre-state Jewish settlement in Palestine to a sovereign state This book seeks to provide answers to such questions by focusing on the literary activities of leading taste setters and writers for children from the most intense period of Israeli nation building the 1930s and 1940s the two last decades of the pre-state era and the 1950s the first decade following the establishment of the State of Israel in 1948 through the 1960s when the nation building fervor gradually waned Child Labour in South Asia Kishor Sharma, 2016-04-15 Child labour is a serious and contentious issue throughout the developing world and it continues to be a problem whose form and very meaning shifts with social geographical economic and cultural context While the debate about child labour practice in developing countries appears to be motivated by growing competition in labour intensive products brought about by globalization studies on this issue are both sparse and lopsided This important book aims to shed light on this debate by documenting the experience of South Asian developing countries which have experienced rapid income and export growth Based on evidence from Bangladesh India Nepal Pakistan and Sri Lanka this volume aims to improve our understanding about the link between trade growth and child labour practices as well as management of child labour in developing countries The Child Gaze Amanda M. Greenwell, 2024-11-20 The Child Gaze Narrating Resistance in American Literature theorizes the child gaze as a narrative strategy for social critique in twentieth and twenty-first century US literature for children and adults Through a range of texts including James Baldwin's Little Man Mildred D Taylor's Roll of Thunder Hear My Cry Toni Morrison's The Bluest Eye Gene Luen Yang's American Born Chinese and more Amanda M Greenwell focuses on children and their literal acts of looking Detailing how these acts of looking direct the reader she posits that the sightlines of children serve as signals to renegotiate hegemonic ideologies of race ethnicity creed class and gender In her analysis Greenwell shows how acts of looking constitute a flexible and effective narrative strategy capable of operating across multiple points of view focalizations audiences and forms Weaving together scholarship on the US child visual culture studies narrative theory and other critical traditions The Child Gaze explores the ways in which child acts of looking compel readers to look at and with a child character whose gaze encourages critiques of privileged visions of national identity Chapters investigate how child acts of looking allow texts to redraw circles of inclusion around the locus of the child gaze and mobilize childhood as a site of resistance The powerful child gaze can thus disrupt dominant scripts of power widening the lens through which belonging in the US can be understood Digest, 1923 The Outlook Lyman Abbott, Hamilton Wright Mabie, Ernest Hamlin Abbott, Francis Rufus Bellamy, 1923 Postcolonial Approaches to Latin American Children's Literature Ann González, 2018-01-31 In this volume González explores how the effects of a traumatic colonial experience are re-presented to Latin American children today almost two centuries after the dismantling of colonialism proper Central to this study is the argument that the historical constraints of colonialism neocolonialism and postcolonialism have generated certain repeating themes and literary strategies in children's literature throughout the Spanish speaking Americas. From the outset of Spanish domination fundamental tensions emerged between the colonizers and native groups that still exist to this day. Rather than a felicitous mixing of these two opposing groups the mestizo is caught between contrasting worldviews, contending explanations of reality and different values, beliefs and epistemologies that is different ways of seeing and knowing. Postcolonial subjects experience these contending cultural beliefs and practices as a double bind, a no-win situation in which they feel pressured by mutually exclusive expectations and imperatives. Latin American mestizos therefore are inevitably conflicted. Despite the vastness of the geography in question and the innumerable variations in regional histories, oral traditions and natural settings, these contradictory demands create a pervasive dynamic that penetrates the very fabric of society, showing up intentionally or not in the stories passed from generation to generation as well as in new stories written or adapted for Spanish speaking children. The goal of this study therefore is to examine a variety of children's texts from the region to determine how national and hemispheric perceptions of reality, identity and values are passed to the next generation. This book will appeal to scholars in the fields of Latin American literary and cultural studies, children's literature, postcolonial studies and comparative literature.

Re-defining Children's Participation in the Countries of the South Graciela Tonon, 2022-05-08. The focus of this book is centered on the participation of children in countries of the South. In this sense it will review the possibilities of children's participation as well as their forms of participation in different contexts of daily life. There has been a tendency to underestimate children's role as active constructors of their surrounding social space as well as of the internalized interpretations of the way social life operates. Today it is necessary to recognize that children are agents actively involved in the construction of their own lives and the life of the societies they live in and in this sense it is important to consider and re-signify the participation of boys and girls as a fundamental pillar in the process of building societies in the 21st century. The book contains chapters that re-signify children's participation in different countries from South America and South Africa in relation with different topics well-being, methods, citizenship, poverty, education, rurality, ethics and human rights.

Child Survival, 1993. Parental Child Abduction to Islamic Law Countries Nazia Yaqub, 2022-10-20. As the world becomes smaller, family law is becoming truly global, giving rise to more and more questions for private international law. This book looks at the sensitive and complex question of child abduction with a unique child rights perspective. Taking Islamic law as its case study, it delves into child abduction in key jurisdictions from Iran to Saudi Arabia and Libya to Pakistan. Rigorous doctrinal analysis is enhanced by empirical insights, namely interviews with abductees, parents and professionals. It is an excellent guide to a complicated field.

Explaining Child Malnutrition in Developing Countries Lisa C. Smith, Lawrence James Haddad, 2000. One in three preschool children in developing countries is undernourished. Consequently they are likely to have impaired immune systems, poor cognitive development, low productivity as adults and susceptibility to diet-related chronic diseases such as hypertension.

and coronary heart disease later in life Undernourished female preschoolers are likely to grow into undernourished young women who are more likely to give birth to babies who are undernourished even before they are born thus perpetuating the intergenerational transmission of deprivation This report sheds light on some of the main causes of child malnutrition projects how many children are likely to be malnourished in the year 2020 given current trends and identifies priority actions for reducing malnutrition most quickly in the coming decades Report of the Commissioner of Education Made to the Secretary of the Interior for the Year ... with Accompanying Papers United States.
