

Proud to be Canadian

With glowing hearts, we inspire.

We dream.

We say please, we say thank-you.

We are young.

We are ready.

We are strong.

We are civilized and gentile.

We are a nation that has variety,
that has grown from what it used to be.

We are free to use our voices,

To make our own choices.

We are full of surprises, waiting for the world to discover.

We are an idea in the process of being realized.

We don't just say, we do.

And we aren't just different from America,

We are our own country,

Different from

The world,

And we are Canadian.

Proud to be Canadian.

James Doyle,2006-01-01 Most critics and literary historians have ignored Marxist inspired creative literature in Canada or dismissed it as an ephemeral phenomenon of the 1930s Research reveals however that from the 1920s onward Canadian creative writers influenced by Marxist ideas have produced a quantitatively substantial and artistically significant body of poetry drama fiction and non fiction This book traces historically and evaluates critically this tradition with particular emphasis on writers who were associated with or sympathetic to the Communist Party of Canada After two chapters surveying the work of anti capitalist writers of the nineteenth and early twentieth centuries the book concentrates on the development of Marxist inspired writing from the 1920s to the end of the twentieth century Besides devoting attention to both social and theoretical backgrounds this study provides critical commentary on work by prominent writers who spent part of their literary careers as Communist Party members including Dorothy Livesay Patrick Anderson Milton Acorn and George Ryga as well as less well known but more fervent Communists such as Margaret Fairley Dyson Carter Joe Wallace Stanley Ryerson and Jean Jules Richard Although primarily concerned with the older generation of Marxists who flourished between the 1920s and the 1970s the book also includes a chapter on the post 1970s New Left Comrades and Critics
