Jewish Literacy in Roman Palestine Catherine Hezser, 2001 Since Judaism has always been seen as the quintessential religion of the book a high literacy rate amongst ancient Jews has usually been taken for granted Catherine

Hezser presents the first critical analysis of the various aspects of ancient Jewish literacy on the basis of all of the literary epigraphic and papyrological material published so far. Thereby she takes into consideration the analogies in Graeco Roman culture and models and theories developed in the social sciences. Rather than trying to determine the exact literacy rate amongst ancient Jews she examines the various types, social contexts and functions of writing and the relationship between writing and oral forms of discourse. Following recent social anthropological approaches to literacy the guiding question is who used what type of writing for which purpose. First Catherine Hezser examines the conditions which would enable or prevent the spread of literacy such as education and schools, the availability and costs of writing materials, religious interest in writing and books, the existence of archives and libraries and the question of multilingualism. Afterwards she looks at the different types of writing such as letters, documents, miscellaneous notes, inscriptions and graffiti and literary and magical texts until she finally draws conclusions about the ways in which the various sectors of the populace were able to participate in a literate society.

The Temple of Ramesses II in Abydos Ogden Goelet, Sameh Iskander, 2022-04-12. Of all the enormous monuments throughout Egypt and Nubia that Ramesses II the Great ca 1279-1212 BCE left behind, his temple at Abydos built early in his reign stands as one of his most elegant with its simple architectural layout and dramatic and graceful painted relief scenes. Though best known for its dramatic reliefs depicting the battle of Kadesh, the temple also offers a wealth of information about religious and social life in ancient Egypt. It reflects, for example, the strenuous efforts of the early Ramessides to reestablish the Osiris cult in Egypt and particularly at Abydos in the aftermath of the Amarna period. Building on the comprehensive photographic and epigraphic documentation of the temple presented in The Temple of Ramesses II at Abydos volumes 1 Wall Scenes and 2 Pillars, Niches and Miscellanea, volume 3 Architectural and Inscriptional Features offers a detailed analysis of the overall architectural layout and decorative program of the temple and its symbolism. This discussion approaches the religious history of the site through its archaeology, its inscriptions, both planned and secondary graffiti, and its situation in the complex religious landscape of Abydos. Of particular interest are the temple's role as a staging point for the great Osiris Festival and its procession among the most important of all ritual events in the Egyptian religious calendar during the Ramesside period, the promotion of an active, unbound form of Osiris, and the evidence for important cult activities that took place on the rooftop of the temple, the presence of which is documented today by the staircase that accessed it from Court B.

Armenian studies Theban Desert Road Survey II John Coleman Darnell, 2013-12-31 The second monograph devoted to the work of the Theban Desert Road Survey presents the major rock inscriptions of the northwestern Theban Desert and the western hinterlands of Qamula. The material includes six larger sites and several smaller collections and individual inscriptions and images of sites discovered by the Theban Desert Road Survey over the course of approximately twelve field seasons. The major groupings of inscriptions from south to north are the rock shrine of Pahu and the inscriptions of Gebel Akhenaton sites in the vicinity of the Wadi Himdaniya, a small but interesting collection of inscriptions near the Wadi Arqub Baghla with two smaller outlying sites, inscriptions of the Wadi Magar to the north including the site of the great Predynastic tableau with its plethora of crocodiles, the associated vignette of Elephant on the Gebel along with the nearby Gebel Sutekh site and smaller concentrations beyond and finally the inscriptions of the area of the Matna el Barqa. Highlights of the epigraphic material include new prayers to Amun and Hathor, one a genuine New Kingdom de profundis recording an appeal to Amun during a storm on the Nile, several important Predynastic and Protodynastic tableaux and the only rock art depictions of Akhenaton in a true Amarna style.

Ancient Egypt, New Technology Rita Lucarelli, Joshua A. Roberson, Steve Vinson, 2023-02-27 This volume of collected studies takes stock of most recent developments in Egyptology and the Digital Humanities considering future directions for the application of new technologies in Egyptology. The book presents the results of an international conference held in 2019 at Indiana University Bloomington in which Egyptologists and digital humanists with interest in Egyptology gathered in 2019 to present current projects in 3D modeling, virtual and augmented reality, game technology, digital pedagogy, database projects, computational and corpus linguistics and E-publications. Those projects along with a selection of others that were not presented in Bloomington are now described and discussed in this volume.

Hebrew Studies, 1994 Proceedings of the Ninth International Dakhleh Oasis Project Conference Colin A. Hope, Gillian E. Bowen, 2020-01-19 This new volume in the Oasis Papers series marks the 40th anniversary of archaeological fieldwork in the Dakhleh Oasis in Egypt's Western Desert under the leadership of Anthony J. Mills and presents a synthesis of the current state of our knowledge of the oasis and its interconnections with surrounding regions, especially the Nile Valley. The papers are by distinguished authorities in the field and postgraduate students who specialise in different aspects of Dakhleh and presents an almost complete survey of the archaeology of Dakhleh including much unpublished original material. It will be one of the few to document a specific part of modern Egypt in such detail and thus should have a broad and lasting appeal. The content of some of the papers is unlikely to be published in any other form elsewhere. Dakhleh is possibly the most intensively examined wider geographic region within Egypt.
