Elsen, Rosalyn Frankel Jamison, 2003-03-13 The late Albert Elsen was the first American scholar to study seriously the work of the French sculptor Auguste Rodin and the person most responsible for a revival of interest in the artist as a modern innovator after years during which the sculpture had been dismissed as so much Victorian bathos After a fortuitous meeting with the financier philanthropist and art collector B. Gerald Cantor Elsen helped Cantor to build up a major collection of Rodin's work A large part of this collection consisting of more than 200 pieces was donated to the Stanford Museum by Mr Cantor who died recently In size it is surpassed only by the Musée Rodin in Paris and rivaled only by the collection in Philadelphia In scope the collection is unique in having been carefully selected to present a balanced view of Rodin's work throughout his life Rodin's Art encompasses a lifetime's thoughts on Rodin's career surveying the artist's accomplishments through the detailed discussion of each object in the collection It will begin with essays on the formation of the collection the reception of Rodin's work and his casting techniques The entries that follow are arranged topically and include extensive discussions of Rodin's

major projects Auguste Rodin: 101 Drawings Narim Bender, 2015-02-15 Rodin Judith Cladel, 1917 Auguste Rodin Nelly S. Benedek, Auguste Rodin, 2000 Art Auguste Rodin, 1912 Auguste Rodin Auguste Rodin, Jérôme Le Blay, 2005 Auguste Rodin Camille Mauclair, 1909 Auguste Rodin, Drawings and Watercolors Auguste Rodin, 1985 This exceptional publication includes nearly 200 works the majority of which come from the Musée Rodin in Paris Well produced and meticulously documented the catalogue entries are further illuminated by scores of photographs of Rodin's celebrated sculptures including such masterworks as the Balzac in Steichen's celebrated photograph the headless Striding Man and the disturbingly powerful Gates of Hell of the sculptor himself throughout his career and many of the important personalities with whom he was intimate such as Rainer Maria Rilke and Count Harry Kessler Of special interest are comparative photographs of the actual structures that accompany the famous drawings of the French cathedrals The catalogue entries of impeccable scholarship are here interwoven with the illustrations to create a stimulating biography of a master sculptor and an unique human being From publisher's description Rodin Judith Cladel, 2013-11 Of Auguste Rodin one thing may be said without fear of contradiction among his contemporaries to day he is preminently the master Born at Paris 1840 the natal year of his friends Claude Monet and Zola in humble circumstances without a liberal education the young Rodin had to fight from the beginning fight for bread as well as an art schooling He was not even sure of his vocation An accident determined it He became a workman in the atelier of the sculptor Carrier Belleuse though not until he had failed at the Beaux Arts a stroke of luck for his genius and after he had enjoyed some tentative instruction under the animal sculptor Barye he was not a steady pupil of Barye nor did he care to remain with him he went to Belgium and ghosted for other sculptors it was his privilege or misfortune to have been the anonymous assistant of a half dozen sculptors He mastered the technique of his art by the sweat of his brow before he began to make music upon his own instrument How his first work The Man with the Broken Nose was refused by the Salon jury is history He designed for the Sèvres porcelain works He executed portrait busts architectural ornaments caryatids all styles that were huddled in the studios and yards of sculptors he essayed No man knew his trade better although it is said that with the chisel of the praticien Rodin was never proficient he could not or would not work at the marble en bloc His sculptures to day are in the museums of the world and he is admitted to possess talent by academic men Rivals he has none His production is too personal Like Richard Wagner he has proved a upas tree for lesser artists he has deflected or else absorbed them His friend Eugene Carrière warned young sculptors not to study Rodin too curiously Carrière was wise yet his art of portraiture was influenced by Rodin swimming in shadow his enigmatic heads have more the quality of Rodin's than the mortuary art of academic sculpture
