Role Of State Departments Of Education In Complex School Reform

Lauren Morando Rhim, Sam Redding

Role Of State Departments Of Education In Complex School Reform:

The Role of State Departments of Education in Complex School Reform Susan Follett Lusi, 1997 The Role of State Departments of Education in Complex School Reform uses in depth case studies of two models of statewide school reform Kentucky and Vermont to examine the role of state departments in the reform process Susan Follett Lusi's nearly 200 interviews and multiple site visits detail how these departments of education implemented their reform plans and describe the effects of their choices on both the internal dynamics of the departments as well as on the external ability of schools and districts to implement reform The efforts of these two departments are measured against the challenging demands of systemic reform and data from the case studies provide a powerful basis for analysis and discussion This well researched study will be valuable reading for graduate courses in educational policy administration foundations and school reform and will be of interest to researchers and professors involved in those areas as well as to state level policy makers

The Role of Public Policy in K-12 Science Education George E. DeBoer, 2011-01-01 The goal of this volume of Research in Science Education is to examine the relationship between science education policy and practice and the special role that science education researchers play in influencing policy It has been suggested that the science education research community is isolated from the political process pays little attention to policy matters and has little influence on policy But to influence policy it is important to understand how policy is made and how it is implemented This volume sheds light on the intersection between policy and practice through both theoretical discussions and practical examples This book was written primarily about science education policy development in the context of the highly decentralized educational system of the United States But because policy development is fundamentally a social activity involving knowledge values and personal and community interests there are similarities in how education policy gets enacted and implemented around the world This volume is meant to be useful to science education researchers and to practitioners such as teachers and administrators because it provides information about which aspects of the science education enterprise are affected by state local and national policies It also provides helpful information for researchers and practitioners who wonder how they might influence policy In particular it points out how the values of people who are affected by policy initiatives are critical to the implementation of those policies

International Handbook of Educational Policy Nina Bascia, Alister Cumming, Amanda Datnow, Kenneth Leithwood, David Livingstone, 2008-05-14
 Nina Bascia Alister Cumming Amanda Datnow Kenneth Leithwood and David Livingstone This Handbook presents contemporary and emergent trends in educational policy research in over fifty chapters written by nearly ninety leading researchers from a number of countries It is organized into five broad sections which capture many of the current dominant educational policy foci and at the same time situate current understandings historically in terms of both how they are conceptualized and in terms of past policy practice The chapters themselves are empirically grounded providing illustrations of the conceptual implications contained within them as well as allowing for comparisons across them The serendipity within chapters with respect to jurisdictional particularities and contexts allows readers to consider not only a range of approaches to policy analysis but also the ways in which policies and policy ideas play out in different times and places The sections move from a focus on prevailing policy tendencies through increasingly critical and outsider perspectives on policy They address in turn the contemporary strategic emphasis on large scale reform substantive emphases at several levels on leadership and governance improving teacher quality and conceptualizing learning in various domains around the notion of literacies and concluding finally with a contrasting topic workplace learning which has had less policy attention and thus allows readers to consider both the advantages and disadvantages of learning and teaching under the bright gaze of policy

Wong, Stacey Rutledge, 2006-03-01 Strong system wide support is increasingly being identified as laying an important role in policy efforts aimed at increasing student achievement Hightower Knapp March and McLaughlin 2002 Yet current research often views district and other system wide support as largely governance changes without substantive linkage to school improvement outcomes Cuban and

Usdan 2003 In this volume we seek to deepen our understanding of the role of school districts and system wide initiatives through a series of case studies that focus on how school districts and system wide actors facilitate policy innovation and reform initiatives that are designed to improve student achievement Through both quantitative and qualitative studies from diverse settings across the country chapters in this volume examine the role of instructional technology alternative accountability practices management and partnership reforms and school improvement efforts through new incentive and support practices While challenges remain these case studies demonstrate how districts support and facilitate school change aimed at improving student achievement

It's the Classroom, Stupid Kalman R. Hettelman, 2010-01-16 This book presents a bold unconventional plan to rescue our nation's schoolchildren from a failing public education system The plan reflects the author's rare fusion of on the ground experience as school board member public administrator and political activist and exhaustive policy research The causes of failure Hettelman shows lie in obsolete ideas and false certainties that are ingrained in a trinity of dominant misbeliefs First that educators can be entrusted on their own to do what it takes to reform our schools Second that we need to retreat from the landmark federal No Child Left Behind Act and restore more local control And third that politics must be kept out of public education
