Sex Problems in Women Anthony John Copper Magian,1922 Analysing Language, Sex and Age in a Corpus of Patient Feedback Paul Baker,Gavin Brookes,2022-07-21 This Element explores approaches to locating and examining social identity in corpora with and without the aid of demographic metadata This is a key concern in corpus aided studies of language and identity and this Element sets out to explore the main challenges and affordances associated with either approach and to discern what either approach can and cannot show It describes two case studies which each compare two approaches to social identity variables sex and age in a corpus of 14 million words of patient comments about NHS cancer services in England The first approach utilises demographic tags to group comments according to patients sex age while the second involves categorising cases where patients disclose their sex age in their comments This Element compares the findings from either approach with the approaches themselves being critically discussed in terms of their implications for corpus aided studies of language and identity No Distinction Of Sex? Carol Dyhouse,2016-09-17 In 1939 women represented nearly one quarter of the student population in British universities Though tantamount to a social revolution in the eyes of many contemporaries the process has recieved scant attention from historians Whilst prejudice and hostility towards women lingered on in Oxford and Cambridge it has often been assumed that the female presence was welcomed elsewhere The younger civic universities commonly advertised themselves as making no distinction of sex in admissions appointments or in educational policy This work of social history based on extensive archival research examines the truth of these claims and explores the experiences of women teachers and students in this period Sin and Sex Briffault Robert,2019-06-03 Originally published in 1931 Sin and Sex including an introduction from Bertrand Russell constitutes an able and vigorous attempt on the part of Robert Briffault to induce his readers to base their ethical opinions upon something other than the prejudices of the average members of the last generation Dehumanizing Women Linda LeMoncheck,1985 The book is designed to be of interest to women s studies students wishing an introduction to a specifically philosophical analysis of the problem of sex objectification as well as to philosophers interested in the contemporary moral issues of sexism and sex stereotyping
