McDougal, 2024-03-29 This title was originally published in 1998 Play It Again Sam is a timely investigation of a topic that until now has received almost no critical attention in film and cultural studies the cinematic remake As cinema enters its second century more remakes are appearing than ever before and these writers consider the full range Hollywood films that have been recycled by Hollywood such as The Jazz Singer Cape Fear and Robin Hood foreign films including Breathless and Three Men and a Cradle which Hollywood has reworked for American audiences and foreign films based on American works among them Yugoslav director Emir Kusturica's Time of the Gypsies which is a makeover of Coppola's Godfather films As these essays demonstrate films are remade by other films Alfred Hitchcock went so far as to remake his own The Man Who Knew Too Much and by other media as well The editors and contributors draw upon narrative film and cultural theories and consider gender genre and psychological issues presenting the remake as a special artistic form of repetition with a difference and as a commercial product aimed at profits in the marketplace The remake flourishes at the crossroads of the old and the new the known and the unknown Play It Again Sam takes the reader on an eye opening tour of this hitherto unexplored territory This title is part of UC Press's Voices Revived program which commemorates University of California Press's mission to seek out and cultivate the brightest minds and give them voice reach and impact Drawing on a backlist dating to 1893 Voices Revived makes high quality peer reviewed scholarship accessible once again using print on demand technology This title was originally published in 1998 Remakes and Remaking Rüdiger Heinze, Lucia Krämer, 2015-02-15 From Avatar to danced versions of Romeo and Juliet from Bollywood films to Star Wars Uncut This book investigates film remakes as well as forms of remaking in other media such as ballet and internet fan art The case studies introduce readers to a variety of texts and remaking practices from different cultural spheres The essays also discuss forms of remaking in relation to neighbouring phenomena like the sequel prequel and re adaptation Remakes and Remaking thus provides a necessary and topical addition to the recent conceptual scholarship on intermediality transmediality and adaptation Film Remakes NA NA, 2016-10-03 This is the first book to provide a comprehensive and systematic account of the phenomenon of cinematic remaking Drawing upon recent theories of genre and intertextuality Film Remakes describes remaking as both an elastic concept and a complex situation one enabled and limited by the interrelated roles and practices of industry critics and audiences This approach to remaking is developed across three broad sections the first deals with issues of production including commerce and authors the second considers genre plots and structures and the third investigates issues of reception including audiences and institutions Film Sequels Carolyn Jess-Cooke, 2012-02-20 A study of sequel production within recent Hollywood and beyond in terms of its industrial cultural and global implications Dead Ringers Jennifer Forrest, Leonard R. Koos, 2012-02-01 While the popular press has criticized movie remakes as signs of Hollywood's collective lack of imagination the essays in Dead Ringers reveal the centrality and staying power of remakes as a formative genre in filmmaking The contributors show that the practice of remaking films dates back to the origins of cinema and the evolution of film markets In fact remakes were never so prevalent as during the Classic Hollywood period when filmmaking had achieved its greatest degree of industrialization and they continue to play a crucial role in the development of film genres generally Offering a variety of historical commercial theoretical and cultural perspectives on the remake Dead Ringers is a valuable resource for students of film history and theory as well as those interested in the cultural politics of the late twentieth century

East Asian Cinemas Leon Hunt, Leung Wing-Fai, 2010-10-18 Cinemas from East Asia are among the most exciting and influential in the world. They are attracting popular and critical attention on a global scale with films from the region circulating as art house cult blockbuster and extreme cinema or as Hollywood remakes. This book explores developments in the global popularity of East Asian cinema from Chinese martial arts through Japanese horror to the burgeoning new Korean cinema with particular emphasis on crossovers, remakes, hybrids and co-productions. It examines changing cinematic traditions in Asia alongside the Asianisation of western cinema. It explores the dialogue not only between East and West but between different cinemas in the Asia Pacific. What do these trends mean for global cinema? How are co-productions and crossover films changing the nature of Hollywood and East Asian cinemas? The book includes in-depth studies of Park Chan-wook's Infernal Affairs, Seven Samurai and Princess Mononoke. Who's Afraid of ...? Marion Gymnich, 2012 Fear in its many facets appears to constitute an intriguing and compelling subject matter for writers and screenwriters alike. The contributions address fictional representations and explorations of fear in different genres and different periods of literary and cultural history. The topics include representations of political violence and political fear in English Renaissance culture and literature; dramatic representations of fear and anxiety in English Romanticism; the dramatic monologue as an expression of fears in Victorian society; cultural constructions of fear and empathy in George Eliot's Daniel Deronda (1876) and Jonathan Safran Foer's Fear Itself (2003); facets of children's fears in twentieth and twenty-first century stream-of-consciousness fiction; the representation of fear in war movies; the cultural function of horror film remakes; the expulsion of fear in Kazuo Ishiguro's novel Never Let Me Go; and fear and nostalgia in Mohsin Hamid's post-9/11 novel The Reluctant Fundamentalist.

American Smart Cinema Claire Perkins, 2013-01-14 American Smart Cinema examines a contemporary type of US filmmaking that exists at the intersection of mainstream art and independent cinema and often gives rise to absurd, darkly comic and nihilistic effects. The Art and Craft of Motion Pictures Vincent LoBrutto, 2019-08-02 This volume can rightfully be called a film school in a single book. Investigating and analyzing the elements and concepts of motion picture creation, this book looks closely at 25 films that represent a wide range of styles and subjects. Although most motion picture viewers have seen numerous movies in their lifetime, few in the general public have a firm and deep understanding of how motion pictures are created or a grasp of the intricacies of cinematic storytelling and content. By presenting 25 films, American and international, Hollywood and independent, this book educates and enlightens readers about the details of the motion picture creation process. Some readers will have viewed certain films in the volume, but many will be introduced to major cinematic works within the canon of great and essential films for the very first time. Topics explored include animation, period films, editing, directorial style, and non-linear cinematic structure. Readers will learn about the origin of the jump cut in Breathless, time and space in Hiroshima Mon Amour, and the editing in Orson Welles's essay film F is for Fake. The Art and
