Make it Sing & Other Poems Marjorie Oludhe Macgoye, 1998      The Poem She Didn't Write and Other Poems Olena Kalytiak Davis, 2015-07-01 Honored as one of Nine Great Poetry Books of 2014 The New Yorker The Poem She Didn't Write is a breakup book full of the kinds of invective and taunts honed by a person who has spent as all of us have now spent infinite hours online Its complex tones arise from the poet's wanting equally to seduce and to repel a lover whose deepening silence only provokes rhetorical escalation The effect can be like reading e-mails in someone's drafts folder but who wouldn't want to read Davis's drafts Dan Chaisson The New Yorker Davis first full collection in a decade should be stamped with the warning Buckle up because entering this writer's mind is one wild ride of digression mutation and syntactical and typographical experimentation Davis has clearly put the poetic rule book through a shredder and there's much to appreciate about that Booklist There is an eerie precision to her work like the delicate discernment of a brain surgeon's scalpel that renders each moment in both its absolute clarity and ultimate transitory fragility Rita Dove In her first full collection in a decade Olena Kalytiak Davis revivifies language and makes love offerings to her beloved reader With a heightened post-confessional directness she addresses lost love sexual violence and the confrontations of aging In her characteristic syntactical play sly slips of meaning and all-out feminism Davis hyperconsciously erases the rulebook in this memorable collection From The Poem She Didn't Write began when she stopped began in winter and like everything else at first just waited for spring in spring noticed there were lilac branches but no desire no need to talk to any angel to say sky dooryard _____ when summer arrived there was more but not much nothing really worth noting and then it was winter again nothing had changed sky dooryard _____ white frozen was the lake and the lagoon some froze the ocean now you erase that you cross that out and so on and so forth Olena Kalytiak Davis is a first-generation Ukrainian American who was born and raised in Detroit Michigan Educated at Wayne State University the University of Michigan Law School and Vermont College she is the author of three books of poetry She currently works as a lawyer in Anchorage Alaska      An Earth Poem, and Other Poems Gerda Dalliba, 1908      Singing Poets Dimitris Papanikolaou, Dēmētrēs Papanikolaou, 2007 This book shows how the model of singing poets becomes then an organizing principle for a system of national popular music It responds to the growing call for the teaching of the textual networks of popular music within the domains of literary and cultural studies      The Columbia Guide to East African Literature in English Since 1945 Simon Gikandi, Evan Mwangi, 2007 The Columbia Guide to East African Literature in English Since 1945 challenges the conventional belief that the English language literary traditions of East Africa are restricted to the former British colonies of Kenya Uganda and Tanzania Instead these traditions stretch far into such neighboring countries as Somalia and Ethiopia Simon Gikandi and Evan Mwangi assemble a truly inclusive list of major writers and trends They begin with a chronology of key historical events and an overview of the emergence and transformation of literary culture in the region Then they provide an alphabetical list of major writers and brief descriptions of their concerns and achievements Some of the writers discussed include the Kenyan novelists Grace Ogot and Ngugi wa Thiong'o Ugandan poet and essayist Taban Lo Liyong Ethiopian playwright and poet Tsegaye Gabre Medhin Tanzanian novelist and diplomat Peter Palangyo Ethiopian novelist Berhane Mariam Sahle Sellassie and the novelist M G Vassanji who portrays the Indian diaspora in Africa Europe and North America Separate entries within this list describe thematic concerns such as colonialism decolonization the black aesthetic and the language question the growth of genres like autobiography and popular literature important movements like cultural nationalism and feminism and the impact of major forces such as AIDS HIV Christian missions and urbanization Comprehensive and richly detailed this guide offers a fresh perspective on the role of East Africa in the development of African and world literature in English and a new understanding of the historical cultural and geopolitical boundaries of the region
