Making A Living In Fine Arts:

The Fine Artist's Career Guide Daniel Grant,2004-04-01 This indispensable guide gives anyone with studio art training the vital tools and breadth of information they need to develop and succeed in the fine and applied arts It covers the full spectrum of career options available to artists today from being an independent artist to niches in the corporate world and from jobs that require special artistic skills to those calling for artistic improvisation Yes, You Can Make a Better Living As a Fine Artist Ann Elizabeth Rea,2025-03-11 The Difficulty of Practising Fine Artists in Making a Living Marco Thom,2017-10-18 This study identifies six key reasons explaining the social phenomenon that many practising fine artists find it so difficult to make a living in the arts Due to a marked paucity of research explaining this social phenomenon the study at hand investigates the internal factors related to artists personality motivation and skills as well as various external factors influencing artists working and business environment by applying two acknowledged analysis tools in strategic business management The literature findings highlight four external threat factors mainly responsible for a very challenging working and business environment affecting practising fine artists chances of professional success Consequently two internal factors notably artists motivation and ambition to conduct business and a living in the arts as well as their developed skills turn out to be key factors to successfully deal with these external threat factors In this context three research aims related to practising artists professional education and preparation arise the identification of crucial skills to successfully make a living in the arts as practising artists the status of their professional education at higher education institutions HEIs and the capability of arts incubators as alternative education programmes to prepare large numbers of practising fine artists for professional success The approach to investigation is exploratory and inductive with a cross sectional survey strategy To identify the crucial skills for professional success in the arts surveys of up to 219 fine art lecturers 168 fine art undergraduates and 149 commercial galleries are conducted To report on the status of fine artists educational preparation 87 undergraduate degree programmes 55 post graduate programmes and 46 extracurricular training offerings at HEIs are investigated The study focuses mainly on the UK and Germany These countries are selected due to their significantly different market sizes and reputation for the purpose of identifying differences in market challenges and professional preparations faced by fine artists To analyse arts incubators capability in preparing large numbers of practising fine artists for a professional career 92 arts incubation programmes around the globe are analysed and nine structured interviews with practising fine artists are conducted The investigation of the crucial skills for fine artists professional success highlights in particular the development of an entrepreneurial mindset as well as of seven skills Research on arts education shows evidence that fine art graduates are hardly equipped with this skillset and mindset due to HEIs lack of focus on the professional careers of practising artists The analysis of arts incubation programmes illustrates serious limitations in supporting larger numbers of practising fine artists in their professional endeavours The research findings stimulate the discussion in and contribute to knowledge in the fields of artists professional preparation arts entrepreneurship and the redesigning of fine art curriculum to purposefully prepare fine art graduates for an entrepreneurial and professional career as practising artists

Making Life a Masterpiece Orison Swett Marden, 1916

The Death of the Artist William Deresiewicz, 2020-07-28 A deeply researched warning about how the digital economy threatens artists lives and work the music writing and visual art that sustain our souls and societies from an award winning essayist and critic There are two stories you hear about earning a living as an artist in the digital age One comes from Silicon Valley There's never been a better time to be an artist it goes If you've got a laptop you've got a recording studio If you've got an iPhone you've got a movie camera And if production is cheap distribution is free it's called the Internet Everyone's an artist just tap your creativity and put your stuff out there The other comes from artists themselves Sure it goes

you can put your stuff out there but who's going to pay you for it Everyone is not an artist Making art takes years of dedication and that requires a means of support If things don't change a lot of art will cease to be sustainable So which account is true Since people are still making a living as artists today how are they managing to do it William Deresiewicz a leading critic of the arts and of contemporary culture set out to answer those questions Based on interviews with artists of all kinds The Death of the Artist argues that we are in the midst of an epochal transformation If artists were artisans in the Renaissance bohemians in the nineteenth century and professionals in the twentieth a new paradigm is emerging in the digital age one that is changing our fundamental ideas about the nature of art and the role of the artist in society

Macmillan's Magazine David Masson, George Grove, John Morley, Mowbray Walter Morris, 1905 The Sociology of Arts and Markets Andrea Glauser, Patricia Holder, Thomas Mazzurana, Olivier Moeschler, Valérie Rolle, Franz Schultheis, 2020-06-15 This edited collection offers an in depth analysis of the complex and changing relationship between the arts and their markets Highly relevant to almost any sociological exploration of the arts this interaction has long been approached and studied However rapid and far reaching economic changes have recently occurred Through a number of new empirical case studies across multiple artistic historic and geographical settings this volume illuminates the developments of various art markets and their sociological analyses The contributions include chapters on artistic recognition and exclusion integration and self representation in the art market sociocultural changes the role of the gallery owner and collectives rankings and constraints across the cultural industries Drawing on research from Japan Switzerland France Italy China the US UK and more this rich and global perspective challenges current debates surrounding art and markets and will be an important reference point for scholars and students across the sociology of arts cultural sociology and culture economy
