Bringing the Neuroscience of Learning to Online Teaching Tracey Tokuhama-Espinosa, 2021 This practical resource draws on the best of neuroscience to inform decision making about digital learning We live in unprecedented times that have pushed schools to make many decisions that have been postponed for years For the first time since the inception of public education teachers have been invited to redesign the learning landscape by integrating an intelligent selection of digital educational resources and changing pedagogical approaches based on information from the learning sciences This handbook will help teachers make the most of this opportunity by showing them how to use digital tools to differentiate learning employ alternative options to standardized testing personalize learning prioritize social emotional skills and inspire students to think more critically The author identifies some gems in quality teaching that are amplified in online contexts including 40 evidence informed pedagogies from the learning sciences This book will help all educators move online teaching and learning to new levels of confidence and success Book Features Provides quick references to key planning tools like decision trees graphics app recommendations and step by step directions to help teachers create their own online learning courses Guides teachers through a 12 step model for instructional design that meets both national and international standards Shows educators how to use an all new Digital Resource Taxonomy to select resources and how to research and keep them up to date Explains why good instructional design and educational technology are complementary with best practices in learning sciences like Mind Brain and Education Science Shares ways teachers can leverage technology to create more time for the personalized aspects of learning Shows educators how to design online courses with tools that let all students begin at their own starting points and how to differentiate homework Offers evidence informed pedagogies to make online intimate and authentic for students National Union Catalog ,1979 Includes entries for maps and atlases

Resources in Education ,1996-10 Place-Based Spaces for Networked Learning Lucila Carvalho, Peter Goodyear, Maarten de Laat, 2016-07-01 With the boundaries of place softened and extended by digital communications technologies learning in a networked society necessitates new distributions of activity across time space media and people and this development is no longer exclusive to formally designated spaces such as school classrooms lecture halls or research laboratories Place based Spaces for Networked Learning explores how qualities of physical places make both formal and informal education in a networked society possible Through a series of investigations and case studies it illuminates the structural composition and functioning of complex learning environments This book offers a wealth of key design elements and attributes for productive learning that educational designers can reuse in multiple contexts The chapters examine how places are modified expanded or supplemented by networking technologies and practices in order to create spaces in which learners can collaboratively develop new understandings connections and capabilities Utilizing a range of diverse but complementary perspectives from anthropology archaeology architecture geography psychology sociology and urban studies Place based Spaces for Networked Learning addresses how material places and digital spaces are understood how sense can be made of new assemblages and configurations of tasks tools and people how the real time analysis of new flows of data can inform and entertain users of a space and how access to the digital realm changes our experiences with both places and other people
