Making Men In Ghana:

Making Men in Ghana Stephan Miescher, 2005-11-24 By featuring the life histories of eight senior men Making Men in Ghana explores the changing meaning of becoming a man in modern Africa. Stephan F. Miescher concentrates on the ideals and expectations that formed around men who were prominent in their communities when Ghana became an independent nation. Miescher shows how they negotiated complex social and economic transformations and how they dealt with their mounting obligations and responsibilities as leaders in their kinship groups, churches, and schools. Not only were notions about men and masculinity shaped by community standards but they were strongly influenced by imported standards that came from missionaries and other colonial officials. As he recounts the life histories of these men, Miescher reveals that the passage to manhood and a position of power, seniority, authority, and leadership was not always welcome or easy. As an important foil for studies on women and femininity, this groundbreaking book not only explores masculinity and ideals of male behavior but offers a fresh perspective on African men in a century of change. centers around mid-level charismatic pastors in Ghana. Karen Lauterbach analyzes pastorship as a pathway to becoming small big men and achieving status, wealth, and power in the country. The volume investigates both the social processes of becoming a pastor and the spiritual dimensions of how power and wealth are conceptualized, achieved, and legitimized in the particular context of Asante in Ghana. Lauterbach integrates her analysis of charismatic Christianity with a historically informed examination of social mobility: how people in subordinate positions seek to join up with power. She explores how the ideas and experiences surrounding the achievement of wealth and performance of power are shaped and re-shaped. In this way, the book historicizes current expressions of charismatic Christianity in Ghana while also bringing the role of religion and belief to bear on our understanding of wealth and power as they function more broadly in African societies. Encounters in Quest of Christian Womanhood Ulrike Sill, 2010 This book offers a detailed study of how the practices and notions of big men in politics through in depth biography and rich social history Wale Adebani follows Adams and other major figures in Nigeria's Oodua People's Congress OPC over two decades of ethnographic study and visual representations Challenging existing models of African political mobility by leveraging his initial lack of formal education into a position of power Adams moved from a radical lumpen and area boy to a big man who continues to struggle and reflect over the significance of his role as a cultural subject Blurring the lines between tradition and modernity Adams and his group have used Yoruba rituals to simultaneously claim authenticity and champion new movements for democracy and self determination How to Become a Big Man in Africa encourages us to understand the full complexity of Adams's political trajectory and how it reflects the structural and personal realities of becoming a Big Man in the contemporary postcolony Dreamland Carly Goodman, 2023-03-13 In a world of border walls and obstacles to migration a lottery where winners can gain permanent residency in the United States sounds too good to be true Just as unlikely is the idea that the United States would make such visas available to foster diversity within a country where systemic racism endures But in 1990 the United States Diversity Visa Lottery was created to do just that Dreamland tells the surprising story of this unlikely government program and its role in American life as well as the global story of migration Historian Carly Goodman takes readers from Washington D C where proponents deployed a colorblind narrative about our nation of immigrants to secure visas for white immigrants to the African countries where it flourished and fostered dreams of going to America From the post office to the internet aspiring emigrants visa agents and others embraced the lottery and tried their luck in a time of austerity and limits Rising African immigration to the United States has enriched American life created opportunities for mobility and nourished imagined possibilities But the promise of the American dream has been threatened by the United States embrace of anti immigrant policies and persistent anti Black racism Modernization as Spectacle in Africa Peter J. Bloom, Stephan F. Miescher, Takyiwaa Manuh, 2014-05-09 For postcolonial Africa modernization was seen as a necessary outcome of the struggle for independence and as crucial to the success of its newly established states Since then the rhetoric of modernization has pervaded policy culture and development lending a kind of political theatricality to nationalist framings of modernization and Africans perceptions of their place in the global economy These 15 essays address governance production and social life the role of media and the discourse surrounding large scale development projects revealing modernization's deep effects on the expressive culture of Africa The King of Drinks Dmitri van den Bersselaar, 2007-10-30 Imported schnapps gin has a remarkable history in West Africa Gin was imported in great quantities between 1880 and World War I when its consumption showed access to the modern international world Subsequently schnapps was transformed into a good that signified traditional local culture Today imported schnapps has high status because of its importance for African ritual and as symbol of the status of chiefs and elders but actual consumption is limited This book explores this unexpected trajectory of commoditisation to investigate how imported goods acquire specific local meanings This analysis of consumption and marketing of gin contributes to our understanding of patterns of consumption rejection and appropriation within processes of identity formation elite formation and the redefinition of community in colonial and postcolonial West Africa

Respacing Africa Ulf Engel, Paul Nugent, 2010 Space has been reintroduced as an analytical category to the humanities and social sciences in the early 1990s African Studies is one of the fields of knowledge production where the so called spatial turn has proved to be extremely fruitful The continent provides ample evidence for complex processes of deterritorialisation migration globalisation sub nationalisms and reterritorialisation new regionalisms processes of bordering etc These dialectical processes are driven by a variety of actors political elites multinational companies warlords donor governments local traders international NGOs etc As a result substantial parts of Africa witness the emergence of new regimes of territoriality re ordered states transnational and sub national entities new localities and transborder formations This volume brings together contributions from anthropology history geography and political science

Emergent Masculinities

Ndubueze L. Mbah, 2019-10-29 In Emergent Masculinities Ndubueze L Mbah argues that the Bight of Biafra region's Atlanticization or the interaction between regional processes and Atlantic forces such as the slave trade colonialism and Christianization between 1750 and 1920 transformed gender into the primary mode of social differentiation in the region He incorporates over 250 oral narratives of men and women across a range of social roles and professions with material culture practices performance traditions slave ship data colonial records and more to reveal how Africans channeled the socioeconomic forces of the Atlantic world through their local ideologies and practices The gendered struggles over the means of social reproduction conditioned the Bight of Biafra region's participation in Atlantic systems of production and exchange and defined the demography of the region's forced diaspora By looking at male and female constructions of masculinity and sexuality as major indexes of social change Emergent Masculinities transforms our understanding of the role of gender in precolonial Africa and fills a major gap in our knowledge of a broader set of theoretical and comparative issues linked to the slave trade and the African diaspora

A Dam for Africa Stephan F. Miescher, 2022-07-12 Since its construction in the early 1960s the hydroelectric Akosombo Dam across the Volta River has exemplified the possibilities and challenges of development in Ghana Drawing upon a wealth of sources A Dam for Africa investigates contrasting stories about how this dam has transformed a West African nation while providing a model for other African countries The massive Akosombo Dam is the keystone of the Volta River Project that includes a large manmade lake 250 miles long the VALCO aluminum smelter new cities and towns a deep sea harbor and an electrical grid On the local level Akosombo has meant access to electricity for people in urban and industrial areas across southern Ghana For others Akosombo inflicted tremendous social and environmental costs The dam altered the ecology of the Lower Volta displaced 80 000 people in the Volta Basin and affected the livelihoods of hundreds of thousands of Ghanaians In A Dam for Africa Stephan Miescher explores four intersecting narratives Ghanaian debates and aspirations about modernization in the context of decolonization

Gender, Sexuality, and the Cold War Philip E. Muehlenbeck, 2021-04-30 As Marko Duman i writes in his introduction to Gender Sexuality and the Cold War despite the centrality of gender and sexuality in human relations their scholarly study has played a secondary role in the history of the Cold War It is not an exaggeration to say that few were left unaffected by Cold War gender politics even those who were in charge of producing disseminating and enforcing cultural norms were called on to live by the gender and sexuality models into which they breathed life This underscores the importance of this volume as here scholars tackle issues ranging from depictions of masculinity during the
