Deconstructing Martial Arts Paul Bowman, 2019-06-24 What is the essence of martial arts What is their place in or relationship with culture and society Deconstructing Martial Arts analyses familiar issues and debates that arise in scholarly practitioner and popular cultural discussions and treatments of martial arts and argues that martial arts are dynamic and variable constructs whose meanings and values regularly shift mutate and transform depending on the context It argues that deconstructing martial arts is an invaluable approach to both the scholarly study of martial arts in culture and society and also to wider understandings of what and why martial arts are Placing martial arts in relation to core questions and concerns of media and cultural studies around identity value orientalism and embodiment Deconstructing Martial Arts introduces and elaborates deconstruction as a rewarding method of cultural studies Bombay in the Making Behramji Merwanji Malabari, 1910 Martial's Rome Victoria Rimell, 2008 Explores Martial's radical vision of the relationship between art and reality and his role in formulating modern perceptions of Rome Film in Contemporary China George S. Semsel, Xia Hong, Chen Xihe, 1993-02-28 Since 1986 Chinese film circles have turned from their study of Chinese film in terms of aesthetics and have begun to explore film in terms of ideological political and cultural concerns In particular this concern has centered on matters of the marketplace with much debate between film scholars and filmmakers over the qualities of entertainment Film In Contemporary China draws together the first English translations of recent articles written by the most respected critics theorists and filmmakers in China who discuss this significant new direction Parts One and Two discuss the ideological problems now facing Chinese film scholars and filmmakers focusing on the Fifth Generation filmmakers whose works brought Chinese filmmaking to international prominence Part Three is a critical study of the relationship of traditional culture to contemporary aesthetics The fourth part follows the theoretical and critical debate over the entertainment film which forms the basis for the Third Movement of Chinese film during the New Era The fifth part concerns the ongoing debate over the values of film theory in relationship to filmmaking and the final section summarizes developments in film scholarship following the events in Tiananmen Square in 1989 Film In COntemporary China is designed primarily for film scholars especially those concerned with China with international film more generally and with the relationship between film and society
