The Saturday Review of Politics, Literature, Science and Art ,1881 Europe: A Philosophical History, Part 1 Simon Glendinning,2021-07-14 Europe is inseparable from its history That history has been extensively studied in terms of its political history its economic history its religious history its literary and cultural history and so on Could there be a distinctively philosophical history of Europe Not a history of philosophy in Europe but a history of Europe that focuses on what in its history and identity ties it to philosophy In the two volumes of Europe A Philosophical History The Promise of Modernity and Beyond Modernity Simon Glendinning takes up this question telling the story of Europe s history as a philosophical history In Part 1 The Promise of Modernity Glendinning examines the conception of Europe that links it to ideas of rational Enlightenment and modernity Tracking this self understanding as it unfolds in the writings of Kant Hegel and Marx Glendinning explores the transition in Europe from a conception of its modernity that was philosophical and religious to one which was philosophical and scientific While this transition profoundly altered Europe s own history Glendinning shows how its self confident core remained intact in this development But not for long This volume ends with an examination of the abrupt shattering of this confidence brought on by the first world wide war of European origin and the imminence of a second The promise of modernity was in ruins Nothing for Europe would ever be the same again Part 2 Beyond Modernity is available now from Routledge ISBN 9781032015828 The Dairymen's League News, 1927 Human Ecology Markus Nauser, Dieter Steiner, 2002-11-01 We face an environmental catastrophe of global proportions The ecological rationality of modern society and of science in particular is in question Science still responds to crises at the level of technocratic expertise and still treats society as an adaptive system By bringing together a number of integrative approaches to the human environment problem Human Ecology shapes a more radical fundamental agenda for change The book creates a framework for a cohesive discourse for a new human ecology From the notion that the individual person is an agent mediating between society and environment the individual contributors recognize that the environmental crisis is really a crisis of society manifesting itself in an increasing fragmentation of lives in general and knowledge in particular Arguing for environmentally sustainable lifestyles the book envisages a new kind of consciousness and a new environment
