Making Peace With The Planet:

Making Peace with the Planet Barry Commoner, 1990 Reviews past efforts to repair environmental damage and documents the shortcomings of the eco revolution Making Peace with the Earth Jérôme Bindé, 2007 Without immediate action to combat global warming we face losing 5 to 20 per cent of the world's Gross Domestic Product GDP Our biosphere is in jeopardy increased desertification deforestation air and soil pollution dwindling biodiversity water crises and the degradation of the oceans A new approach to our economy is needed one that fosters less material forms of production reduces superfluous consumption and wastes less raw material We have to create and implement new styles of development that without halting growth spare the planet and preserve biodiversity It is time as this volume proposes for humanity to make a new pact a natural contract of co development with the planet UNESCO is actively involved in this debate as reflected in its 21st Century Talks series which open a forum for discussion on key issues of the future Publisher's description

Making Peace with the Earth Vandana Shiva, 2013-03-06 One of the world's most prominent radical scientists Vandana Shiva demolishes the myths propagated by corporate globalisation in its pursuit of profit and power revealing the devastating environmental impact of corporate capitalism Shiva argues that consumerism lubricates the war against the earth and that corporate control violates all ethical and ecological limits She takes the reader on a journey through the world's devastated eco landscape one of genetic engineering industrial development and land grabs in Africa Asia and South America She concludes that exploitation of this order is incurring an ecological and economic debt that is unsustainable Making Peace with the Earth outlines how a paradigm shift to earth centred politics and economics is our only chance of survival and how collective resistance to corporate exploitation can open the way to a new environmentalism Making Peace In and With the World Heon Kim, John Raines, 2011-12-08 Making Peace In and With the World The Glen Movement and Eco Justice is a representative study and working analysis of contemporary Islamic thought on eco justice It cuts through problems facing humanity today ranging from inequality and violence in the smaller globalized world to the end death of nature as signaled by various environmental and ecological crises Addressing these problems this volume sheds light on two dimensions of peace in the earth community making peace between differing human communities and making peace between humanity and nature The phrase Eco Justice in this volume signifies this dual reality thereby offering a unique and insightful view that justice in the world must go hand in hand with ecological justice if peace is to be made With its dual foci of peace this volume contributes to multi disciplinary academic areas It adds to a burgeoning field of religious ecology by exploring the dynamics at play in the interaction between religion human communities and nature and by providing natural scientific works with considerable theoretical philosophical and ethical implications This volume also corresponds to studies in the interdisciplinary field of war and peace Since it deals centrally with the question of religion and eco justice this volume challenges assumptions of exclusivist religion religion oriented violence and the religion based Clash of Civilizations The Routledge History of World Peace since 1750 Christian Philip Peterson, William M. Knoblauch, Michael Loadenthal, 2018-10-10. The Routledge History of World Peace since 1750 examines the varied and multifaceted scholarship surrounding the topic of peace and engages in a fruitful dialogue about the global history of peace since 1750. Interdisciplinary in nature, the book includes contributions from authors working in fields as diverse as history, philosophy, literature, art, sociology, and Peace Studies. The book crosses the divide between historical inquiry and Peace Studies scholarship with traditional aspects of peace promotion sitting alongside expansive analyses of peace through other lenses, including specific regional investigations of the Middle East, Africa, Latin America, and other parts of the world. Divided thematically into six parts that are loosely chronological in structure, the book offers a broad overview of peace issues such as peacebuilding, state building, and/or conflict resolution in individual countries or regions and indicates the unique challenges of achieving peace from a range of perspectives. Global in scope and supported by regional and temporal case studies, the volume is an essential resource for educators, activists, and policymakers involved in promoting peace and curbing violence, as well as students and scholars of Peace Studies, history, and their related fields. Barry Commoner and the Science of Survival Michael Egan, 2009-01-23. Chronicles the activist career of Barry Commoner, one of the most influential American environmental thinkers, and his role in recasting the environmental movement after World War II. For over half a century, the biologist Barry Commoner has been one of the most prominent and charismatic defenders of the American environment, appearing on the cover of Time magazine in 1970 as the standard bearer of the emerging science of survival. In Barry Commoner and the Science of Survival, Michael Egan examines Commoner's social and scientific activism and charts an important shift in American environmental values since World War II. Throughout his career, Commoner believed that scientists had a social responsibility and that one of their most important obligations was to provide citizens with accessible scientific information so they could be included in public debates that concerned them. Egan shows how Commoner moved naturally from calling attention to the hazards of nuclear fallout to raising public awareness of the environmental dangers posed by the petrochemical industry. He argues that Commoner's belief in the importance of dissent, the dissemination of scientific information, and the need for citizen empowerment were critical planks in the remaking of American environmentalism. Commoner's activist career can be defined as an attempt to weave together a larger vision of social justice.

Since the 1960s he has called attention to parallels between the environmental civil rights labor and peace movements and connected environmental decline with poverty injustice exploitation and war arguing that the root cause of environmental problems was the American economic system and its manifestations He was instrumental in pointing out that there was a direct association between socioeconomic standing and exposure to environmental pollutants and that economics not social responsibility was guiding technological decision making Egan argues that careful study of Commoner s career could help reinvigorate the contemporary environmental movement at a point when the environmental stakes have never been so high

The Politicized Concert Mass (1967-2007) Stephanie Roche,2022-07-29 Since the transformative 1960s concert masses have incorporated a range of political and religious views that mirror their socio cultural context Those of the long 1960s c1958 1975 reflect non conformism and social activism those of the 1980s environmentalism those of the 1990s universalism and those of the 2000s cultural pluralism Despite utilizing a format with its roots in the Roman Catholic liturgy many of these politicized concert masses also reflect the increasing religious diversification of Western societies By introducing non Catholic and often non Christian beliefs into masses that also remain respectful of Christian tradition composers in the later twentieth century have employed the genre to promote a conciliatory way of being that promotes the value of heterogeneity and reinforces the need to protect the diversity of musics species and spiritualities that enrich life In combining the political with the religious the case studies presented pose challenges for both supporters and detractors of the secularization paradigm Overarchingly they demonstrate that any binary division that separates life into either the religious or the secular and promotes one over the other denies the complexity of lived experience and constitutes a diminution of what it is to be human

Peace and Discipleship Sermons by EMCers (2014) Chris Hughes,Garry Koop,Dwight Plett,Terry M. Smith,Arley Loewen,David Funk,David Kruse,Doris Penner,Eric Isaac,Harvey Plett,2014-12-01 Why publish a booklet on peace and discipleship sermons Discipleship is a major emphasis in Scripture within that peace appears to be a key but sometimes neglected teaching in pulpit ministry

Opening the Door to the Worlds Annie Paxton,2009 Gathered in my Name William T. Cavanaugh,2020-12-28 This volume differs from many quincennial discussions of the Protestant Reformation and ecumenical scholarship more generally in that it shifts the focus from Europe and the West to the global South where ecumenism s promises and challenges are quite different In postcolonial and post missionary Africa the churches continue to expand competition among denominations is lively and Christian rivalry with Islam is often a reality In Latin America Protestants have severely eroded the Catholic Church s hegemony originally forged in the zeal of the Counter Reformation to combat the perceived errors of Luther and Calvin In India the Christian churches are a tiny beleaguered minority facing an increasingly militant Hindu nationalism These essays pay close attention to the different contexts of intra Christian relationships worldwide the actual situation on the ground If ecumenism will succeed it cannot be simply a matter of experts at a conference attempting to agree about doctrines abstracted from the contexts in which they were forged the contexts in which doctrinal disagreements caused ecclesial ruptures or the contexts in which Christians continue to live out our divided existence This volume attempts to be sensitive to the lived experience of divided Christians in whatever part of the world they find themselves Making Peace with Nature Eleana J. Kim, 2022-07-18 The Korean Demilitarized Zone DMZ has been off limits to human habitation for nearly seventy years and in that time biodiverse forms of life have flourished in and around the DMZ as beneficiaries of an unresolved war In Making Peace with Nature Eleana J Kim shows how a closer examination of the DMZ in South Korea reveals that the area s biodiversity is inseparable from scientific practices and geopolitical capitalist and ecological dynamics Drawing on ethnographic fieldwork with ecologists scientists and local residents Kim focuses on irrigation ponds migratory bird flyways and land mines in the South Korean DMZ area demonstrating how human and nonhuman ecologies interact and transform in spaces defined by war and militarization In so doing Kim reframes peace away from a human oriented political or economic peace and toward a more than human biological peace Such a peace recognizes the reality of war while pointing to potential forms of human and nonhuman relations Things that Make for Peace Anthony Rees, 2020-09-30 In a world that increasingly sees religion as a source of violence this book explores resources from within religious traditions that might help build peace Drawing from the rich textual histories of Christianity and Islam the contributors mine their faith traditions for ways of thinking and ways of being that help shift perceptions about religion and actively contribute to the growth of peace in our troubled times Not content with retreat into religious exclusivism these essays are an act of sharing something held dear In sharing the thing offered no longer remains the possession of the one who offers and so these essays are an act of vulnerability and trust building In sharing precious things together in giving and receiving peace becomes not only a matter of dialogue but also shared commitments to ways of being Peace Education in a Postmodern World Ian M. Harris, 2013-12-16 This special issue of the Peabody Journal of Education provides a comprehensive overview of the latest developments in peace education reform School reforms based upon principles of peace education have in common a belief in the power of peace to create a positive learning climate in schools and to address the problems of violence in the broader culture A peace education strategy for improving school productivity rests upon three main assumptions 1 Violence contributes to the poor performance of many students 2 Adults in school settings need to address problems created by violence in order for schools to improve 3 Anxieties that make it hard for students to master traditional subject matter can best be addressed by a comprehensive peace education strategy that makes school a safe place to learn and provides students with knowledge about alternative nonviolent ways to resolve conflicts Peace building reforms go beyond responding to immediate forms of violence that may be overwhelming students and teachers to promoting positive images of peace through the study of nonviolence Written by established experts in the field of peace education from six different countries this collection of articles not only represents a wide variety of peace education practices from different corners of the globe but it also represents varying academic perspectives Educators can play a key role in helping human societies progress toward more sustainable ways of living by implementing peacemaking peacekeeping and peace building strategies in school programs Peace education reforms point to a new way of thinking about schools as vehicles for promoting a peace culture through insights offered by nonviolent theory
