Signifying and Understanding Susan Petrilli,Lady Victoria Welby,2009 This book introduces and provides commentary on a selection of published and unpublished works by Victoria Welby and exponents of the Signific Movement in the Netherlands Beyond offering an important contribution to the reconstruction of a neglected phase in the history of ideas it evidences the theoretical topicality of signifiics in particular the focus on the relation of signs to value meaning and understanding on verbal and nonverbal behavior and on language and communication The Philosophy of Susanne Langer

Adrienne Dengerink Chaplin,2019-10-17 This book is a comprehensive study of one of the most insightful and fertile but also most neglected philosophers of the twentieth century Susanne Langer Failure to recognise Langer s seminal philosophical sources has led to frequent misinterpretations and misunderstandings of her unique philosophical thought Beginning with an overview of Langer s life and education this study provides a much needed explanation of how Langer s thinking was shaped by four seminal sources her mentors Henry Sheffer and Alfred North Whitehead and the European philosophers Ernst Cassirer and Ludwig Wittgenstein Langer s ability to unite seemingly disparate fields such logic art and embodied cognition around the notion of symbolic form places aesthetics not at the margins of philosophy but at its very centre By locating Langer s work in the broader context of major developments in twentieth century European and American philosophy Dengerink Chaplin shows how she was often ahead of her time Shedding new light on Langer as an American philosopher whose innovative thought crosses the customary boundaries between analytic and continental philosophy this book confirms why she continues to have relevance today

Modern Literary Theory and the Ancient Novel Marília Futre Pinheiro,Massimo Fusillo,Stephen A. Nimis,2023-05-04 In the Greek world under the Roman Empire the tradition of rhetorical learning reached its heyday in the second century A D with the cultural movement named as Second Sophistic Despite the emphasis on rhetoric literary culture lato senso was was also part of it granting a special place to poetics and literary criticism In the wake of this hermeneutical and interdisciplinary approach the papers assembled in this volume explore signi cant issues which are linked to the narrative structure of the ancient novel and to the tradition of rhetorical training both envisaged as a web of well constructed narrative devices The Best of the Independent Journals in

Rhetoric and Composition 2012 Julia Voss,Beverly Moss,2014-11-15 The Best of the Independent Rhetoric and Composition Journals 2012 represents the result of a nationwide conversation beginning with journal editors but expanding to teachers scholars and workers across the discipline of Rhetoric and Composition to select essays that showcase the innovative and transformative work now being published in the field's independent journals. Representing both print and digital journals in the field, the essays featured here explore issues ranging from classroom practice to writing in global and digital contexts, from writing workshops to community activism. Together, the essays provide readers with a rich understanding of the present and future direction of the field. In addition to the introduction by Julia Voss and Beverly Moss, the anthology features work by the following authors and represents these journals: Jamie White, Farnham Community Literacy Journal; Noah R. Roderick, Composition Forum; Kate Pantelides and Mariaelena Bartesaghi, Composition Studies; Heidi A. McKee, Computers and Composition; Rex Veeder, Enculturation; Matthew Pavesich, Journal of Basic Writing; Kelly S. Bradbury, The Journal of Teaching Writing; Derek N. Mueller, Kairos; Richard H. Thames, KB Journal; Jeanne Marie Rose, Pedagogy and Melvete; Melvin Davis, Reflections.

Non-discursive Rhetoric Joddy Murray, 2009-01-14. Technological advances have the potential to create new languages unlike printed or spoken words. The increased textual complexity generated by sophisticated graphics, photos, hypermedia, film, typography, and other modes of expression requires a theory of language and symbolization that accommodates emotion, ambiguity, simultaneity, and layers of dynamic meaning. In Non-discursive Rhetoric, Joddy Murray uses concepts from philosophy, rhetorical theory, and recent advances in neuroscience to develop a model of composing that connects contemporary writing practices, technology, and image functions within the mind. The theory and classroom practices presented here provide tools for writing teachers to help students compose various hybridized, multimodal texts. Murray highlights the significance for student composition of the relationships among emotions, images, and argumentation and demonstrates the importance of considering the rhetorical dimensions of design choices in multimodal composition.

Transnational Writing Education Xiaoye You, 2018-06-13. Arguing that writing teachers need to enable students to recognize, negotiate, deconstruct, and transcend national, racial, ethnic, and linguistic boundaries, this volume proposes a transnational framework as an alternative approach to literacy education and as a vital component to cultivating students as global citizens. In a field of evolving literacy practices, this volume builds off the three pillars of transnational writing education: translingualism, transculturalism, and cosmopolitanism, and offers both conceptual and practice-based support for scholars, students, and educators in order to address current issues of inclusion, multilingual learning, and diversity.

Victoria Welby and the Science of Signs Susan Petrilli, 2017-09-08. Victoria Welby (1837-1912) dedicated her research to the relationship between signs and values. She exchanged ideas with important exponents of the language and sign sciences, such as Charles S. Peirce and Charles S. Ogden. She examined themes she believed crucially important both in the use of signs and in reflection on signs. But Welby's research can also be understood in ideal dialogue with authors she could never have met in real life, such as Mikhail Bakhtin, Susanne Langer, and Genevieve Vaughan. Welby contends that signifying cannot be constrained to any one system, type of sign language, field of discourse, or area of experience. On the contrary, it is ever more developed, enhanced, and rigorous the more it develops across different fields, disciplines, and areas of experience. For example, to understand meaning Welby evidences the advantage of translating it into another word even from the same language or resorting to metaphor to express what would otherwise be difficult to conceive Welby aims for full awareness of the expressive potential of signifying resources Her reflections make an important contribution to problems connected with communication expression interpretation translation and creativity
