The Hope of the Poor Gordon Graham, 2023-04-03 Is economic development the best hope for the world s poor A great many individuals governments and organizations think the obvious answer is Yes the only issue being about how development can best be achieved In recent decades some powerful voices from economics and anthropology have taken issue with this widespread consensus and this book aims to add a philosophical dimension to the debate Just who are the poor and what should they hope for Is the best hope of having a worthwhile life any different for the poor than it is for the rich Drawing on Aristotle Bacon Hume Reid Marx and Nietzsche as well as contemporary authors such as Amartya Sen Martha Nussbaum and Tim Ingold Gordon Graham argues in favour of replacing quantitative assessments of wealth and poverty with a qualitative account of the ways in which human lives can be enriched or impoverished The final chapter explores the connection between economic and political development and religious ways of thinking

The Colonization Of Psychic Space Kelly Oliver, Eloquently arguing that we cannot explain the development of individuality or subjectivity apart from its social context Kelly Oliver makes a powerful case for recognizing the social aspects of alienation and the psychic aspects of oppression Oliver explores the ways in which the alienation unique to oppression leads to depression or violence and how these affects can be transformed into agency individuality solidarity and community Catholic Theology Frederick C. Bauerschmidt, James J. Buckley, 2016-03-28 Introduction to Catholic Theology is an accessible but in depth examination of the ways in which Catholic theology is rooted in and informs Catholic practice Weaves together discussion of the Bible historical texts reflections by important theologians and contemporary debates for a nuanced look at belief and practice within the Catholic faith Provides an overview of all major theological areas including scriptural historical philosophical systematic liturgical and moral theology Appropriate for students at all levels assuming no prior knowledge yet providing enough insight and substance to interest those more familiar with the topic Written in a dynamic engaging style by two professors with more than 50 years of classroom experience between them The Anthropology of the Future Rebecca Bryant, Daniel M. Knight, 2019-03-28 Study of the future is an important new field in anthropology Building on a philosophical tradition running from Aristotle through Heidegger to Schatzki this book presents the concept of orientations as a way to study everyday life It analyses six main orientations anticipation expectation speculation potentiality hope and destiny which represent different ways in which the future may affect our present While orientations entail planning towards and imagining the future they also often involve the collapse or exhaustion of those efforts moments where hope may turn to apathy frustrated planning to disillusion and imagination to fatigue By examining these orientations at different points the authors argue for an anthropology that takes fuller account of the teleologies of action Time and Power in Azraq Refugee Camp Melissa Gatter, 2023-03-07 WINNER OF THE 2023 ALIXA NAFF PRIZE IN MIGRATION STUDIES The politics and governance of Jordan's Azraq camp for Syrian refugees Azraq refugee camp built in 2014 and host to forty thousand refugees is one of two official humanitarian refugee camps for Syrian refugees in Jordan Time and Power in Azraq Refugee Camp investigates the relationship between time and power in Azraq asking how a politics of time shapes limits or enables everyday life for the displaced and for aid workers Based on ethnographic fieldwork carried out during 2017 2018 the book challenges the perceptions of Azraq as the ideal refugee camp Melissa Gatter argues that the camp operates as a nine to five emergency where mundane bureaucratic procedures serve to sustain a power system in which refugees are socialized to endure a cynical wait both for everyday services and for their return without expectations for a better outcome Time and Power in Azraq Refugee Camp also explores how refugees navigate this system both in the day to day and over years by evaluating various layers of waiting as they affect refugee perceptions of time in the camp not only in the present but the past near future and far future Far from an ideal camp Azraq and its politics of time constitute a cruel reality in which a power system meant to aid refugees is one that suppresses foreclosing futures that it is supposed to preserve The Psychic Hold of Slavery Soyica Diggs Colbert, Robert J. Patterson, Aida Levy-Hussen, 2016-07-20 What would it mean to get over slavery Is such a thing possible Is it even desirable Should we perceive the psychic hold of slavery as a set of mental manacles that hold us back from imagining a postracist

America Or could the psychic hold of slavery be understood as a tool helping us get a grip on the systemic racial inequalities and restricted liberties that persist in the present day Featuring original essays from an array of established and emerging scholars in the interdisciplinary field of African American studies The Psychic Hold of Slavery offers a nuanced dialogue upon these questions With a painful awareness that our understanding of the past informs our understanding of the present and vice versa the contributors place slavery's historical legacies in conversation with twenty first century manifestations of antiblack violence dehumanization and social death Through an exploration of film drama fiction performance art graphic novels and philosophical discourse this volume considers how artists grapple with questions of representation as they ask whether slavery can ever be accurately depicted trace the scars that slavery has left on a traumatized body politic or debate how to best convey that black lives matter The Psychic Hold of Slavery thus raises provocative questions about how we behold the historically distinct event of African diasporic enslavement and how we might hold off the transhistorical force of antiblack domination

Critical Social Theory Tim Dant, 2003 Critical theory has left an indelible mark on postwar social thought But what are the relations between critical theory and the cultural turn How did critical theory inform later French critical theorists such as Lefebvre Barthes and Baudrillard This accomplished and accessible book Demonstrates the origins of critical theory in the Marxian analysis of the capitalist mode of production and Freudian psychoanalysis Clearly explains the main achievements of critical theory Elucidates how critical theory defines culture as a system that constrains and alienates the individual Explores the potential for social change and personal emancipation in the critical heritage The author locates the importance of myth and reason the significance of sexuality the place of work the difference between art and entertainment the nature of everyday life and the relationship between knowledge and action The result is a lucid and informative text which will appeal to all students interested in the critical traditions of social thought

From Enlightenment to Receptivity Michael Slote, 2016-11 This new book by Michael Slote argues that Western philosophy on the whole has overemphasized rational control and autonomy at the expense of the important countervailing value and virtue of receptivity Recently the ideas of caring and empathy have received a great deal of philosophical and public attention but both these notions rest on the deeper and broader value of receptivity and in From Enlightenment to Receptivity Slote seeks to show that we need to focus more on receptivity if we are to attain a more balanced sense and understanding of what is important to us Beginning with a critique of Enlightenment thinking that calls into question its denial of any central role to considerations of emotion and empathy he goes on to show how a greater emphasis on these factors and on the receptivity that underlies them can give us a more realistic balanced and sensitive understanding of our core ethical and epistemological values This means rejecting post modernism's blanket rejection of reason and of compelling real values and recognizing rather that receptivity should play a major role in how we lead our lives as individuals in how we relate to nature in how we acquire knowledge about the world and in how we relate morally and politically with others

The State of the University

Stanley Hauerwas,2008-04-15 In this book controversial and world renowned theologian Stanley Hauerwas tackles the issue of theology being sidelined as a necessary discipline in the modern university It is an attempt to reclaim the knowledge of God as just that knowledge Questions why theology is no longer considered a necessary subject in the modern university and explores the role it should play in the development of our knowledge Considers how theology is often excluded from the knowledges of the modern university because these are constituted by an understanding of time necessary to make economic and state realities seem inevitable Argues that it is precisely this difference that makes Christian theology an essential resource for the university to achieve its task that is to form people who are able to imagine a different world through critical and disciplined reflection Challenges the domesticated character of much recent theology by suggesting how prayer and the love of the poor are essential practices that should shape the theological task Converses with figures as diverse as Luigi Giussani David Burrell Stanley Fish Wendell Berry Jeff Stout Rowan Williams and Sheldon Wolin Published in the new and prestigious Illuminations series
