Human Robots in Myth and science John Cohen,2025-05-30 First published in 1966 in Human Robots in Myth and Science the author traces the idea of the robot from antiquity until the present day 1960s and sketches the lines of its likely development in the future Modern science like science fiction is deeply concerned with the idea of a robot or self regulating artifact which operates without human aid Ultra rapid computers pilotless planes and automated factories straight away come to mind but there are numberless other automatic devices As John Cohen probes this exciting theme it becomes increasingly clear that the notion of a robot has had far reaching repercussions in the history of science philosophy and literature and in the growth of industry In his analysis of the motives of robot makers throughout the ages the author distinguishes the impulse which challenges the gods themselves from the merely utilitarian urge There is a vast difference between the age old quest for technical skill and the desire to wrest from the gods the secret of making a man The topic is treated historically beginning with Biblical Egyptian Greek and other antique robots and their significance and followed by a description of the man made men of medieval science alchemy and fiction The theory of robots come into its own in the seventeenth century and its application in craftsmanship in industry in the eighteenth century It is only in the recent past however that the world of robots has begun to flourish in an ever growing scale In the age of AI this historical reference work is a must read for scholars and researchers of history philosophy and literature

Gods and Robots Adrienne Mayor, 2018-11-27 The fascinating untold story of how the ancients imagined robots and other forms of artificial life and even invented real automated machines The first robot to walk the earth was a bronze giant called Talos This wondrous machine was created not by MIT Robotics Lab but by Hephaestus the Greek god of invention More than 2 500 years ago long before medieval automata and centuries before technology made self moving devices possible Greek mythology was exploring ideas about creating artificial life and grappling with still unresolved ethical concerns about biotechnical life through craft In this compelling richly illustrated book Adrienne Mayor tells the fascinating story of how ancient Greek Roman Indian and Chinese myths envisioned artificial life automata self moving devices and human enhancements and how these visions relate to and reflect the ancient invention of real animated machines As early as Homer Greeks were imagining robotic servants animated statues and even ancient versions of Artificial Intelligence while in Indian legend Buddha's precious relics were defended by robot warriors copied from Greco Roman designs for real automata Mythic automata appear in tales about Jason and the Argonauts Medea Daedalus Prometheus and Pandora and many of these machines are described as being built with the same materials and methods that human artisans used to make tools and statues And indeed many sophisticated animated devices were actually built in antiquity reaching a climax with the creation of a host of automata in the ancient city of learning Alexandria the original Silicon Valley A groundbreaking account of the earliest expressions of the timeless impulse to create artificial life Gods and Robots reveals how some of today's most advanced innovations in robotics and AI were foreshadowed in ancient myth and how science has always been driven by imagination This is mythology for the age of AI
