Lost Secrets Of Flemish Painting Including The First Complete English:

Lost Secrets of Flemish Painting Sir Théodore Turquet de Mayerne, Donald C. Fels, 2001 Archival Afterlives, 2018-07-10 Archival Afterlives explores the posthumous fortunes of scientific and medical archives in early modern Britain. If early modern natural philosophers claimed all knowledge as their province, theirs was a paper empire. But how and why did naturalists engage with archives and in particular with the papers of their dead predecessors? This volume makes a firm case for expanding what counts as scientific labour: integrating scribes, archivist, library keepers, editors, and friends and family of deceased naturalists into the history of science. It shows how early modern natural philosophers pursued new natural knowledge in dialogue with their recent material past. Finally, it demonstrates the sustaining importance of archival institutions in the growth and development of the New Sciences. Contributors are Arnold Hunt, Michael Hunter, Vera Keller, Carol Pal, Anna Marie Roos, Richard Serjeantson, Victoria Sloyan, Alison Walker, and Elizabeth Yale.

The Materials and Craft of Early Iconographers Mihaela D. Leonida, 2014-03-25. This book describes in detail the materials and techniques used by medieval iconographers. It offers information about the natural sources, the raw materials, the tools, and the technologies involved in preparing them. The book allows entry into the secretive world of very knowledgeable and skilled artisans about which very little is known. Topics covered include raw materials, pigments, binders, solvents, adhesives, inks, and varnishes. Special chapters will be dedicated to the fresco technique as practiced by the early iconographers, grinding, painting on glass, and the training apprenticeship of these craftsmen.

Routledge Handbook of International Law and the Humanities Shane Chalmers, Sundhya Pahuja, 2021-05-19. This Handbook brings together 40 of the world's leading scholars and rising stars who study international law from disciplines in the humanities, from history to literature, philosophy to the visual arts, to showcase the distinctive contributions that this field has made to the study of international law over the past two decades. Including authors from Australia, Canada, Europe, India, South Africa, the UK, and the USA, all the contributors engage the question of what is distinctive and critical about the work that has been done and that continues to be done in the field of international law and the humanities. For many of these authors, answering this question involves reflecting on the work they themselves have been contributing to this path-breaking field since its inception at the end of the twentieth century. For others, it involves offering models of the new work they are carrying out or else reflecting on the future directions of a field that has now taken its place as one of the most important sites for the study of international legal practice and theory. Each of the book's six parts foregrounds a different element or cluster of elements of international law and the humanities, from an attention to the office conduct and training of the jurist and jurisprudent (Part 1) to scholarly craft and technique (Part 2), to questions of authority and responsibility (Part 3), history and historiography (Part 4), plurality and community (Part 5), as well as the challenge of thinking and rethinking international legal concepts for our times (Part 6). Outlining new ways of imagining and doing international law at a moment in time when original critical thought and practice is more necessary than ever this Handbook will be essential for scholars students and practitioners in international law international relations as well as in law and the humanities more generally
