On The Other Hand A Liife Story:

American Indian Autobiography, 2008-05-01 American Indian Autobiography is a kind of cultural kaleidoscope whose narratives come to us from a wide range of American Indians warriors farmers Christian converts rebels and assimilationists peyotists shamans hunters Sun Dancers artists and Hollywood Indians spiritualists visionaries mothers fathers and English professors Many of these narratives are as told to autobiographies and those who labored to set them down in writing are nearly as diverse as their subjects Black Elk had a poet for his amanuensis Maxidiwiac a Hidatsa farmer who worked her fields with a bone blade hoe had an anthropologist Two Leggings the man who led the last Crow war party speaks to us through a merchant from Bismarck North Dakota White Horse Eagle an aged Osage told his story to a Nazi historian By discussing these remarkable narratives from a historical perspective H David Brumble III reveals how the various editors assumptions and methods influenced the autobiographies as well as the autobiographers Brumble also and perhaps most importantly describes the various oral autobiographical traditions of the Indians themselves including those of N Scott Momaday and Leslie Marmon Silko American Indian Autobiography includes an extensive bibliography this Bison Books edition features a new introduction by the author

Autobiography and the Psychological Study of Religious Lives, 2008-01-01 This volume positions itself on the cutting edge of two fields in psychology that enjoy rapidly increasing attention both the study of human lives and some core domains of such lives as religion and spirituality are high on the agenda of current research and teaching Biographies and autobiographies are being approached in new ways and have become central to the study of human lives as an object of research and a preferred method for obtaining unique data about subjective human experiences Ever since the beginning of the psychology of religion autobiographies have also been pointed out as an important source of information about psychic processes involved in religiosity In this volume a number of leading theoreticians and researchers from Europe and the USA try to bring them back to this field by drawing on new insights and latest developments in psychological theory

Women, Identity and Private Life in Britain, 1900-50 Andrew Gamble, Gillian Peele, 1995-04-10 Women Identity and Private Life in Britain 1900 50 explores the meanings and experience of home and private life for women who grew up in England before 1950 It considers the extent to which class suburbanisation and historical moment as well as gender constructed women s understanding of domesticity and discusses the part played by conceptions of home and private life in the shaping of identities Oral narratives fiction autobiography and diaries are used in conjunction with psychoanalytic linguistic and historical explanations of women s lives to map a psychological as well as a social history of women s relationship to the home in the early part of this century

Handbook of Autobiography / Autofiction Martina Wagner-Egelhaaf, 2019-01-29 Autobiographical writings have been a major cultural genre from antiquity to the present time General questions of the literary as e g the relation between literature and reality truth and fiction the dependency of author narrator and figure or issues of individual and cultural styles etc can be studied preeminently in the autobiographical genre Yet the tradition of life writing has in the course of literary history developed manifold types and forms Especially in the globalized age where the media and other technological cultural factors contribute to a rapid transformation of lifestyles autobiographical writing has maintained even enhanced its popularity and importance By conceiving autobiography in a wide sense that includes memoirs diaries self portraits and autofiction as well as media transformations of the genre this three volume handbook offers a comprehensive survey of theoretical approaches systematic aspects and historical developments in an international and interdisciplinary perspective While autobiography is usually considered to be a European tradition special emphasis is placed on the modes of self representation in non Western cultures and on inter and transcultural perspectives of the genre The individual contributions are closely interconnected by a system of cross references The handbook addresses scholars of cultural and literary studies students as well as non academic readers

The Culture of Citizenship Thomas Bridges,1994-01-01 This book seeks to salvage liberalism as a form of political association and as a unique culture from the wreck of the Enlightenment Following the lead of John Rawls s work since 1980 Bridges seeks to rethink the fundamental concepts and moral ideas of liberalism in ways that support the recovery and affirmation of the particularistic cultural identity of the West

The Psychology of Personhood Jack Martin,Mark H. Bickhard,2012-11-29 A new examination of the psychology of personhood which views persons as irreducibly embodied and socially situated beings

Autobiographical Traditions in Egodocuments Sigurður Gylfi Magnússon,2023-12-14 Using the Icelandic context Sigur ur Gylfi Magn sson examines egodocuments as distinct and fascinating manifestations of microhistory reflecting on their nature the circumstances in which they originated and their strengths and weaknesses for scholarly research Autobiographical Traditions in Egodocuments successfully makes the case for egodocuments being an intriguing part of the material culture of their time with ample consideration given to the role of the book within individual households and the impact a source such as autobiography has had on people s daily lives Magn sson also provides an insightful historiographical account of how the egodocument has been used in historical works both in Iceland and elsewhere in the world since the 19th century

Love's Remedies Patricia Berrahou Phillippy,1995 Bakhtin are suitable tools for an examination of the Petrarchan lyric and its recantation while at the same time the nature and value of these critical concepts are interrogated

The Narrative Study of Lives Ruthellen Josselson,Amia Lieblich,1993-03-31 This volume is especially appealing in that it celebrates diversity and embraces disagreement The narrative scholar regardless of her his research tradition or field will most certainly benefit from the diversity and depth provided in The Narrative Study of Lives Editors Ruthellen Josselson and Amia Lieblich have admirably fulfilled their criteria of breadth coherence and aesthetic appeal for works included in this volume Moreover they have provided the necessary forum for the study of lives and life histories We can only hope to continue the conversation in future volumes Journal of Contemporary Ethnography Few questions have a longer deeper and livelier intellectual history than how we construct our lives and indeed how we create ourselves in the process But it is a question newly alive today for modern scholarship has brought challenging new perspectives to the study of life writing Literary theorists linguists legal scholars and even political activists are bringing new and powerful insights to bear The Narrative Study of Lives provides a needed forum for the debates now in progress and should attract a loyal and numerous band of readers Jerome Bruner New York University For those psychologists searching for new approaches to the study of lives this volume takes an important step toward the editors promise of filling this gaping hole in psychology The Journal of Nervous and Mental Disease How do we derive concepts from stories and then use these concepts to understand people What would have to be added to transform story material from the journalistic or literary to the academic and theoretically enriching Addressing these and other such issues as the interface between life as lived and the social times this group of distinguished contributors from six different countries and four different disciplines explores this emerging new field Beginning with the philosophical framework that underlies the study of narrative the book covers such questions as What makes people want to preserve the stories of their past What methods can be used to deconstruct a narrative text Can what we learn from people s narratives of their past be used to account for their current psychological functioning What happens if people lose their ability to narrate their story Can people s narrative accounts tell us something about identity and its development Useful to researchers and students of human development and behavior The Narrative Study of Lives provides rich stories and analysis of narrative approaches to life history

Apparitions of the Self Janet Gyatso, 2020-11-10 Apparitions of the Self is a groundbreaking investigation into what is known in Tibet as secret autobiography an exceptional rarely studied literary genre that presents a personal exploration of intimate religious experiences In this volume Janet Gyatso translates and studies the outstanding pair of secret autobiographies by the famed Tibetan Buddhist visionary Jigme Lingpa 1730-1798 whose poetic and self-conscious writings are as much about the nature of his own identity memory and the undecidabilities of autobiographical truth as they are narrations of the actual content of his experiences Their translation in this book marks the first time that works of this sort have been translated in a Western language Gyatso is among the first to consider Tibetan literature from a comparative perspective examining the surprising fit as well as the misfit of Western literary theory with Tibetan autobiography She examines the intriguing questions of why Tibetan Buddhists produced so many autobiographies far more than other Asian Buddhists and how autobiographical self-assertion is possible even while Buddhists believe that the self is ultimately an illusion Also explored are Jigme Lingpa s historical milieu his revelatory visions of the ancient Tibetan dynasty and his meditative practices of personal cultivation The book concludes with a study of the subversive female figure of the Dakini in Jigme Lingpa s writings and the implications of her gender her sexuality and her unsettling discourse for the autobiographical subject in Tibet

Facilitating Spiritual Reminiscence for People with Dementia Elizabeth MacKinlay, Corinne Trevitt, 2015-06-21 Putting research into practice this book presents a practical guide to spiritual reminiscence with older people living with dementia Clear step by step instructions for planning and hosting sessions are accompanied by important information on what spiritual care actually is and its importance in caring for older people with dementia

The Ageless Self Sharon R. Kaufman, 1986 Among the many studies of aging and the aged there is comparatively little material in which the aged speak for themselves In this compelling study Sharon Kaufman encourages just such expression recording and presenting the voices of a number of old Americans Her informants tell their life stories and relate their most personal feelings about becoming old Each story is unique and yet presented together they inevitably weave a clear pattern one that clashes sharply with much current gerontological thought With this book Sharon Kaufman allows us to understand the experience of the aging by listening to the aged themselves Kaufman while maintaining objectivity is able to draw an intimate portrait of her subjects We come to know these people as individuals and we become involved with their lives Through their words we find that the aging process is not merely a period of sensory functional economic and social decline Old people continue to participate in society and more important continue to interpret their participation in the social world Through themes constructed from these stories we can see how the old not only cope with losses but how they create new meaning as they reformulate and build viable selves Creating identity Kaufman stresses is a lifelong process Sharon Kaufman's book will be of interest and value not only to students of gerontology and life span development and to professionals in the field of aging but to everyone who is concerned with the aging process itself As Sharon Kaufman says If we can find the sources of meaning held by the elderly and see how individuals put it all together we will go a long way toward appreciating the complexity of human aging and the ultimate reality of coming to terms with one's whole life

Biography and Turning Points in Europe and America Karla B. Hackstaff, Feiwel Kupferberg, Catherine Négroni, 2012 This sociological collection advances the argument that the concept of a turning point expands our understanding of life experiences from a descriptive to a deeper and more abstract level of analysis It addresses the conceptual issue of what distinguishes turning points from life transitions in general and raises crucial questions about the application of turning points as a biographical research method Biography and turning points in Europe and America is all the more distinctive and significant due to its broad empirical database The anthology includes authors from ten different countries providing a number of contexts for thinking about how turning points relate to constructions of meaning shaped by globalization and by cultural and structural meanings unique to each country The book will be useful across a wide range of social sciences and particularly valuable for researchers needing a stronger theoretical base for biographical work
