

THE MEN THAT DON'T GET ON
There's a race of men that don't get on,
A race that never gets on,
If they break the hearts of both men and kin,
And they roam the world as men,
They range the field and they see the flame,
And they stand the mountain's crest,
There's a curse of the glory trail,
And they don't know how to rest.

If they just went straight they might go far,
They are strong and brave and true,
But they're always tired of the things that are,
And they want the strange and new,
They say, "Gee! I'd like to go some more,
What a deep work, I could make,
So they chop and change and each turn out
Is only a fresh mistake.

And each forgets as he trips and runs,
Such a brilliant, fabled past,
And each forgets as he trips and runs,
Such a brilliant, fabled past.

Who ran the losing race

And each forgets that his path has led,
Forgets that his path has led,
Till he stands one day with a bitter end,
In the glare of the truth as he

He has failed,
He has failed, he has missed his chance,
He has done things by half,
Life's been a jolly good joke on him,
And now is the time to laugh,
He, ha! He is one of the Legion Lost,
He was never meant to run,
He's a rolling stone, and he's lost in the mud,
He's a man who never got on.
