Pathology And The Postmodern Mental Illness As Discourse And Experience:

Pathology and the Postmodern Dwight Fee, 2000-02-11 This is a wonderful volume powerfully written timely insightful and filled with major pieces the passion intellectual rigor and sense of history found here promises to shape this field in the decades to come This volume sets the agenda for the future Norman K Denzin University of Illinois Pathology and the Postmodern explores the relationship between mental distress and social constructionism using new work from eminent scholars in the fields of sociology psychology and philosophy The authors address how specific cultural economic and historical forces converge in contemporary psychiatry and psychology how new syndromes subjectivities and identities are being constructed and

The Madness of Women Jane M. Ussher, Jane Ussher, 2011-03-28 Nominated for the 2012 Distinguished Publication Award of the Association for Women in Psychology Why are women more likely to be positioned or diagnosed as mad than men If madness is a social construction a gendered label as many feminist critics would argue how can we understand and explain women's prolonged misery and distress In turn can we prevent or treat women's distress in a non pathologising women centred way The Madness of Women addresses these questions through a rigorous exploration of the myths and realities of women's madness Drawing on academic and clinical experience including case studies and in depth interviews as well as on the now extensive critical literature in the field of mental health Jane Ussher presents a critical multifactorial analysis of women's madness that both addresses the notion that madness is a myth and yet acknowledges the reality and multiple causes of women's distress Topics include The genealogy of women's madness incarceration of difficult or deviant women Regulation through treatment Deconstructing depression PMS and borderline personality disorder Madness as a reasonable response to objectification and sexual violence Women's narratives of resistance This book will be of great interest to students and scholars of psychology gender studies sociology women's studies cultural studies counselling and nursing

A Poetics of Trauma Ilana Szobel, 2013 Astute analysis of the work of a great Israeli poet through the lens of psychoanalysis gender nationalism and trauma theory

Joint Action Tim Corcoran, John Cromby, 2016-06-10 Joint Action Essays in honour of John Shotter brings together a cross disciplinary group of fifteen respected international scholars to explain the relevance of John Shotter's work to emerging concerns in twenty first century social science Shotter's work extends over forty years and continues to challenge conventional scientific thinking across a range of topics The disciplines and practices that Shotter's work has informed are well established throughout the English speaking world This is the first publication to examine the importance of his influence in contemporary social sciences and it includes authoritative discussions on topics such as social constructionism democratic practice organisational change the affective turn and human relations The geographical diversity and disciplinary breadth of scholarly contributions imbues the book with international scope and reach Joint Action presents a contemporary reflection on Shotter's work that demonstrates its influence across a range of substantive topics and practical endeavours and within disciplines including management studies and philosophy as well as psychology As such it will appeal to researchers and postgraduate students of social sciences and related disciplines as well as to those who have heard of Shotter s work and want to know more about its utility and value in relation to their own research or practice Depression and Narrative Hilary Clark,2008-10-09

Depression and Narrative examines stories of depression in the context of recent scholarship on illness and narrative which up to this point has largely focused on physical illness and disability Contributors from a number of disciplinary perspectives address these narrative accounts of depression by both sufferers and those who treat them as they appear in memoirs diaries novels poems oral interviews fact sheets blogs films and television shows Together they explore the stories we tell about depression its contested causes its gendering the transformations in identity that it entails and the problems it presents for communication associated as it is with stigma and shame Unlike certain physical illnesses such as cancer depression is stigmatized sometimes as a nonproblem the sufferer should snap out of it and sometimes as the slippery slope to madness Thus depression narratives have their work cut out for them This book highlights the work these stories do including bringing meaning to sufferers explaining depression justifying therapies and treatments and reducing the burden of shame accounting for a suffering that is in the end unaccountable A Cultural Approach to Emotional Disorders E. Deidre

Pribram,2016-01-13 In her latest contribution to the growing field of emotion studies Deidre Pribram makes a compelling argument for why culturalist approaches to the study of emotional disorders continue to be eschewed even as the sociocultural and historical study of mental illness flourishes The author ties this phenomenon to a tension between two fundamentally different approaches to emotion an individualist approach which regards emotions as the property of the individual whether biologically or psychologically and a culturalist approach which regards emotions as collective social processes with distinctive histories and meanings that work to produce particularized subjects While she links a strong preference for the individualist construct in Western culture to the rise of the psychological and psychiatric disciplines at the turn of the twentieth century Pribram also engages with a diverse set of case studies tied to psychological and aesthetic discourses on emotions These range from Van Gogh s status as emotionally disordered to the public emotional aesthetics of 19th century melodrama to the diagnostic categories of the DSMs and the fear of globalizing emotional disorders in the 21st century This genuinely interdisciplinary approach makes for a text with potential application in a wide range of disciplines within cultural studies including sociocultural and historical analysis of psychiatry and psychology gender theory subject and identity theory popular culture studies and history and theory of the arts Making Sense of Place Ian Convery, Gerard

Corsane, Peter Davis, 2014 Essays dealing with the question of how sense of place is constructed in a variety of locations and media The term sense of place is an important multidisciplinary concept used to understand the complex processes through which individuals and groups define themselves and their relationship to their natural and cultural environments and which over the last twenty years or so has been increasingly defined theorized and used across diverse disciplines in different ways

Sense of place mediates our relationship with the world and with each other it provides a profoundly important foundation for individual and community identity. It can be an intimate, deeply personal experience yet also something which we share with others. It is at once recognizable but never constant rather it is embodied in the flux between familiarity and difference. Research in this area requires culturally and geographically nuanced analyses approaches that are sensitive to difference and specificity event and locale. The essays collected here drawn from a variety of disciplines including but not limited to sociology history geography outdoor education museum and heritage studies health and English literature offer an international perspective on the relationship between people and place via five interlinked sections: Histories Landscapes and Identities Rural Sense of Place Urban Sense of Place Cultural Landscapes Conservation Biodiversity and Tourism. Ian Convery is Reader in Conservation and Forestry National School of Forestry University of Cumbria. Gerard Corsane is Senior Lecturer in Heritage Museum and Gallery Studies International Centre for Cultural and Heritage Studies Newcastle University. Peter Davis is Professor of Museology International Centre for Cultural and Heritage Studies Newcastle University. This open access handbook the first of its kind provides a comprehensive and carefully curated multidisciplinary and genre spanning view of the state of the field of Critical Menstruation Studies opening up new directions in research and advocacy. It is animated by the central question what new lines of inquiry are possible when we center our attention on menstrual health and politics across the life course. The chapters diverse in content form and perspective establish Critical Menstruation Studies as a potent lens that reveals complicates and unpacks inequalities across biological social cultural and historical dimensions. This handbook is an unmatched resource for researchers policy makers practitioners and activists new to and already familiar with the field as it rapidly develops and expands.

Education, Parenting, and Mental Health Care in Europe Nicolas Marquis, 2024-02-28. This edited collection investigates from a sociological perspective what it means to create an autonomous individual through a novel exploration of three central fields of sociology education mental health care and parenting. By linking these three aspects through their contribution to the building of an autonomous child the volume analyses the intersecting roles of parent teacher and caregiver as well as the transformations in identities of child pupil and patient to understand the construction and repair of autonomy Using a comparison of various case studies across Scandinavian English speaking and French speaking countries chapters explore why personal autonomy is so important in many societies and demonstrate the conceptual and practical challenges the idea brings Ultimately the book provides an innovative contribution to the fields of educational sociology and the philosophy of education as well as parenting studies and the sociology of mental health by making the case for taking autonomy and its paradoxes seriously This cross disciplinary volume will be of interest to scholars researchers and postgraduate students working in sociology and the philosophy of education parenting mental health and child development more broadly Those with a focus on the study of individualistic societies will also find the volume of use The Open Access version of this book available at www.taylorfrancis.com has been made available under a Creative Commons Attribution CC BY 4.0 license

Family Therapy Lynn Hoffman, 2020-03-18 This book follows the journey of one highly curious and questing therapist from an instrumental causal approach to family therapy to a collaborative communal one Because Lynn Hoffman has been in the field for almost forty years and has worked with so many of its influential thinkers the book is also a history of family therapy's evolution Her knowledge of family therapy is intimate and deep her perspective is clear eyed and often wryly humorous Readers will be reminded that however big and impressive the theories family therapy is very much a human endeavor Hoffman revisits the experiences ideas and relationships that have informed her journey and presents them both as she perceived them at the time and as she perceives them now looking back Through this process of reflective conversation she creates not only a legacy out of the people and situations that acted on her most powerfully but also a countertradition to the strategic approach that influenced her so strongly early in her career But this is not just history Throughout her career Hoffman has been in the forefront of family therapy She has interacted with and sometimes worked closely with many of family therapy's influential thinkers and actors including Jay Haley Virginia Satir Dick Auerswald Harry Aponte Peggy Papp Olga Silverstein the Milan team Peggy Penn Harry Goolishian Harlene Anderson Tom Andersen and Michael White The evolution of her thinking has paralleled the major developments in the field As she braids together continuity and innovation she finds her own voice a different voice and her own style more open more inclusive and less controlling In the second half of the book Hoffman demonstrates the many possibilities inherent in not knowing in working with a reflecting team in looking for the presenting edge and in grabbing the emotional main chance
