The Geographic Pathology of Atherosclerosis Henry C. McGill, 1968 Overview Public trust in corporations plummeted in the wake of the 2008 financial crisis when Lehman Brothers and General Motors became dirty words for many Americans In Corporate Dreams James Hoopes argues that Americans still place too much faith in corporations and especially in the idea of values based leadership favored by most CEOs The danger of corporations he suggests lies not just in their economic power but also in how their confused and undemocratic values are infecting Americans visions of good governance Corporate Dreams proposes that Americans need to radically rethink their relationships with big business and the government Rather than buying into the corporate notion of values based leadership we should view corporate leaders with the same healthy suspicion that our democratic political tradition teaches us to view our political leaders Unfortunately the trend is moving the other way Corporate notions of leadership are invading our democratic political culture when it should be the reverse To diagnose the cause and find a cure for our toxic attachment to corporate models of leadership Hoopes goes back to the root of the problem offering a comprehensive history of corporate culture in America from the Great Depression to today s Great Recession Combining a historian s careful eye with an insider s perspective on the business world this provocative volume tracks changes in government economic policy changes in public attitudes toward big business and changes in how corporate executives view themselves Whether examining the rise of Leadership Development programs or recounting JFK s Pyrrhic victory over U S Steel Hoopes tells a compelling story of how America lost its way ceding authority to the policies and values of corporate culture But he also shows us how it s not too late to return to our democratic ideals and that it s not too late to restore the American dream

Atherosclerosis Sergey Fedoroff, Gary D. Burkholder, Avrum I. Gotlieb, B. Lowell Langille, 2012-12-06 This volume contains the papers which were presented at the First Altschul Symposium Atherosclerosis Cellular and Molecular Interactions in the Artery Wall The symposium was held in Saskatoon at the University of Saskatchewan in May 1990 in memory of Dr Rudolph Altschul a pioneer in the field of vascular biology and the prevention of atherosclerosis Dr Altschul was Professor and Head of the Department of Anatomy at the University of Saskatchewan from 1955 to 1963 The challenge for biomedical scientists is to unravel the multifactorial etiology of atherosclerosis For the last hundred and sixty years anatomical pathologists have carefully studied the morphological changes of the human vascular wall during the initiation and evolution of the fibrofatty atherosclerotic plaque Based on these elegant morphological observations theories on atherogenesis were put forth by pathologists in the 1840 s Rudolf Virchow suggested that the movement of substances from the blood into the vessel wall was important for atherogenesis while Carl von Rokitansky felt that the deposition of substances on the luminal surface of the artery resulted in the formation of atherosclerotic plaque Since these original theories it has become apparent that the pathogenesis of atherosclerosis is multifactorial and the disease evolves in stages It is also likely that not all plaques arise through the same sequence of events and that many steps are involved in the development of each plaque Today our understanding of the complicated processes of atherogenesis is still incomplete Atherosclerosis Gotthard Schettler, George Scott Boyd, 1969
