Intellectuals at a Crossroads Zhidong Hao, 2012-02-01 Zhidong Hao's fascinating book Intellectuals at a Crossroads examines groups of contemporary Chinese intellectuals their successes failures identity contradictions and ethical dilemmas Three categories of intellectuals are studied organic intellectuals who serve specific interests from government and business to working class movements critical intellectuals who defy authority with continued social criticism and unattached intellectuals who are fast being professionalized Using a historical comparative approach enhanced with demographic and rare interview data the book bridges the traditional with the modern and the Chinese with the foreign by exploring how these intellectuals are adapting to their roles and influencing political economic and social change in the new China

Natural Resource Policymaking in Developing Countries William Ascher, Robert G. Healy, 1990 Drawing on case studies developed over a two year period 1987-1989 by Fellows in the Program in International Development Policy at Duke University including experienced representatives from developing countries the World Bank and scholars the authors integrate the growing interest in environmental protection and resource conservation into the existing body of knowledge about the political economy of developing countries This book is about the links that tie resource use environmental quality and economic development and the way in which those links are affected by the distribution of income and resource ownership The links may be relatively simple as in the case of peasant farmers too poor to conserve resources for the future and with nothing to gain from sound environmental practices Or they may be very complex as the authors find when they demonstrate how achievement of higher incomes by the rich can increase environmentally destructive behavior by the poor. Many of the links in some way involve rural land use whether for agriculture or forestry. Natural Resource Policymaking in Developing Countries argues that the policies that matter are not merely those dealing with resources and the environment but a much broader set that includes income distribution and asset ownership. Handbook of Win-win Policy Analysis: Basic concepts of win-win analysis Stuart S. Sanderson, 2013-10-31. This reissue of the now classic Sociological Worlds originally published in 1995 attempts to present a comprehensive picture of human social life from the perspective of the comparative historical revolution in sociology and presents some of the best theoretical and empirical work that is now being done by comparative historical sociologists as well as work by their close cousins socio cultural anthropologists. From this perspective readers gain a picture of the major ways in which human societies differ. For this new library edition Professor Sanderson has provided both a new preface and three contributions that did not appear in the original edition. Encyclopedia of Policy Studies, Second Edition Stuart Nagel, 2020-08-18. This entirely updated and enlarged Second Edition of a landmark reference text continues to provide comprehensive coverage of every important aspect of policy studies discussing concepts methods utilization formation and implementation both internationally and across each level of government. The Failure of Leadership in Africa's Development Ike Okonta, 2020-02-13. The Failure of Leadership in Africa's Development examines the dominant scholarly theories about the cause of Africa's underdevelopment and argues that none of the traditionally invoked causes an alleged black racial inferiority the colonial and neo colonial expropriation of Africa purported natural defects in Africa's geography is plausible as the explanation of the main cause of the continent's underdevelopment. Rather the book argues that the chief cause of the continent's lag is the failure of leadership of Africa's ruling classes. This failure of leadership the book shows is most evident in the historically traceable indifference of a long succession of Africa's ruling classes to the scientific and technological advances that were emerging from Europe and Asia during the most critical periods of Africa's history. It was this indifference the book argues that set the stage for the subsequent conquest expropriation and technological stagnation of Africa. The book recommends a blueprint for the continent's future development. The New World of Politics Neal Riemer, Douglas Simon, Douglas W. Simon, 1997-03. In this fourth edition Neal Riemer and Douglas W. Simon again seek to introduce students to the challenging discipline of political science by highlighting six cardinal features. The editors strongly believe that their unique and comprehensive approach employing those six features can best equip students of political science to stay abreast of the ever changing and ever challenging world of politics. Simon affirm the importance of addressing the three main concerns of political science political and philosophy and ethics empirical behavioral political science and public policy Second the authors reaffirm their normative preference for politics as a civilizing enterprise one that enables people in the political community live better to grow robustly in mind and spirit and to find creative fulfillment The fourth cardinal feature requires to recognize realistically the ever changing nature of politics and the tasks of assessing and responding to changing values The sixth cardinal feature of The New World of Politics is understanding the importance of keeping the future in mind not only the immediate future but the long range future This book seeks to introduce students to political science as a discipline intimately involved with ethics empirical social scientific inquiry and public policy Neal Riemer and Douglas W Simon are endeavoring to help students respond to those future problems with understanding and wisdom A Collegiate Press book
