Paul Revere's Boston 1735-1818 Exhibition April 18-October 12 1975:

Paul Revere's Boston Museum of Fine Arts, Boston. Department of American Decorative Arts and Sculpture, 1975

The Museum Michael S. Shapiro, 1990-07-24 This critical bibliography of museum studies comprises an organized collection of essays on the various types of museums: art, natural history, history, science, and technology, and folk, and on general aspects: collections, education, exhibitions, etc. that cut across the media. Most of the essays are cogent, substantial, if not comprehensive, and clear. The editor has taken care to see that they follow a similar format: historical essay followed by a full bibliography of items discussed. Library Journal. As the number of museums in the United States has grown to more than 6500 in this century, the museum profession has experienced similar growth. In addition to academic training and accreditation programs in the field, an expanding body of literature on museum history, philosophy, and functions has evolved, little of which has received the critical attention it deserves. This reference volume serves as an up-to-date guide to this wealth of literature, identifying and evaluating works that introduce the general reader, the museum studies student, and the beginning professional to the history, philosophy, and functions of museums. The volume presents a series of informative historical outlines and critical bibliographic essays on all aspects of museum history, philosophy, and functions. Contributors treat such subjects as art museums, natural history museums, science and technology museums, history museums, collections, exhibition, education, and interpretation, and the public and museums. Each chapter consists of an introductory historical narrative, a survey of sources, and a bibliographic checklist that contains cited and additional sources. A set of appendices include a geographically organized bibliography of museum directories, a guide to archives and special collections, and a selective list of museum-related periodicals. The book concludes with a comprehensive general subject index. This work will be an important reference tool for museum professionals and cultural historians, as well as for courses in museum studies. It will also be a valuable addition to both academic and public libraries. Metalworking through History Ana M.

Lopez, 2009-04-30 Metalworking Through History provides a comprehensive historic overview of the subject of metalworking while exploring it within its cultural context. It is written from the perspective that the crafting of objects in metal is a unique way of understanding a particular time and culture. As a broad encyclopedia of metalworking, it allows the reader to view the different societies and periods that produced work in this medium as part of a global interrelated practice. Comprised of over sixty entries on relevant time periods, cultures, makers, and processes, the book is a much-needed general reference text in the survey of this craft. The subjects span all the major metalworking periods and peoples, from the rituals of African iron smelting to the twentieth-century studio movement. Outstanding individual makers are highlighted to give additional insight into the times at which they were active. Furthermore, the materials and techniques used in the act of metalworking are clearly explained in terms that are easily understood by a practitioner with tacit knowledge of the medium. Suggested further readings and cross references allow for the expansion of research and additional study. It is an excellent first resource for
