Paul Thek ,1995 The Wonderful World that Almost Was Ann Wilson,Harald Szeemann,Richard Flood,Paul Thek,1995 WONDERFUL WORLD THAT ALMOST WAS ANDREW. DURBIN,2026 Paul Thek Paul Thek,Anke Bangma,Musées de Marseille. MAC, galeries contemporaines,1995 The Wonderful World That Almost Was Andrew Durbin,2026-04-14 The cinematic never before told story of two intimately entangled artists who redefined queer art When Paul Thek met Peter Hujar in the winter of 1956 in Coral Gables Florida a slow simmering connection began to burn Thek twenty three and living in Miami was handsome and itching to make it as a painter in the twenty two year old Hujar a shy sensual photographer he d found a kindred spirit By 1960 they were dating and living in New York beginning decades of sex love competition and reconciliation an entanglement that changed American art forever Surrounded by a robust creative scene populated by Susan Sontag Andy Warhol Fran Lebowitz John Waters and David Wojnarowicz Thek and Hujar s profoundly influential careers from the early 1960s through the late 1980s differed as much as the men themselves The unpredictable and often overlooked Thek crafted visceral installations and sculptures while Hujar celebrated and sociable took penetrating portraits of his world queer and otherwise Yet even at their most estranged and even after their deaths from AIDS both men were united by a pursuit of liberation from artistic and sexual limits from anything short of changing the world Andrew Durbin s The Wonderful World That Almost Was unravels for the first time the intertwined stories and work of two boundaryburning paradigm tilting never more relevant American artists Weaving together deft art criticism with moving portraits of both men s inner lives and assembled with exhaustive research Durbin s book is an ode to a lost but still living world and two men who defined it American Artists in Postwar Rome Peter Benson Miller,2025-01-09 Drawing on unpublished archival sources this book reconstitutes the experiences of a wide range of American artists critics and writers working in Rome in a charged environment of Cold War cosmopolitanism After the Second World War American artists flocked to Rome in record numbers even as the United States shored up Italy as a bulwark against the spread of Communism While the market for modern art in Rome was less vigorous as those in Paris and New York numerous galleries artist run spaces and other institutions acted as important catalysts making Rome an international artistic hub The city attracted now canonical figures Lee Bontecou Philip Guston Robert Rauschenberg Paul Thek and Cy Twombly along with less well known artists such as Eugene Berman Gene Charlton Carlyle Brown Peter Chinni William Congdon Claire Falkenstein Marcia Hafif John Heliker James Leong Beverly Pepper and Laura Ziegler among many others Rather than focusing on institutions and diplomatic relationships the book centres the experience of artists and also addresses Rome s gay subculture and the role of female artists during the period eschewing traditional narratives of the male cultural ambassador Through case study based investigation Peter Benson Miller explores the reciprocal relationships between American modernist artists and Italian artists in postwar Rome and reveals how these artists perceived Rome as less constrained by the demands of a national school and

as an alternative to New York This congenial creative atmosphere yielded new pictorial forms developed in tandem with or absorbed from like minded Italian artists engaging the city and its multiple layers of history from antiquity to the profound trauma inflicted by the recent conflict The book also establishes the entangled social networks galleries exhibitions and institutions sustaining their work and providing entrance into local artistic circles Focusing on a series of specific exchanges this study contributes to our understanding American modernism in an international context In the Archive of Longing Mena Mitrano, 2016-07-07 Reads modernism and theory through Susan Sontag's archive This adventurous critical inquiry into Sontag's archive illuminates the intimate link between modernism and theory while also providing a fascinating reintroduction to these two movements and concepts Mena Mitrano explores three core ideas in this study the confusion of terms between modernism and theory the concept of an unwritten theory suggested by Sontag's subterranean engagement with the foremost theorists of our time Derrida Foucault Deleuze Lacan Jameson and others in the rawness of her journals and notebooks and Sontag's identity as a non traditional philosopher through the extraordinary discipleship to Walter Benjamin The book is driven by new archival research and will have a multi layered impact changing our perception of Sontag as a post Cold War public intellectual as well as interrogating key concepts in the Humanities Key Features Original study of Susan Sontag's contribution to the development of critical thought Opens new avenues for research in the expanding field of new modernist studies and in the field of criticism Discusses Sontag's collaboration with Walter Benjamin which reopens the question of the author and encourages an understanding of this concept from a psychoanalytic perspective as a transgenerational phenomenon Includes a discussion of the role of the American avant garde in Sontag's abandonment of philosophy and in her turn to a pioneering more theoretical literary criticism Paul Thek Paul Thek, Anke Bangma, Musées de Marseille. MAC, galeries contemporaines, 1995 Sculpture and the Vitrine John C. Welchman, 2017-07-05 Vitrines and glass cabinets are familiar apparatuses that have in large part defined modern modes of display and visibility both within and beyond the museum They separate objects from their contexts group them with other objects both similar and dissimilar and often serve to reinforce their intrinsic or aesthetic values The vitrine has much in common with the picture frame the plinth and the gallery but it has not yet received the kind of detailed art historical and theoretical discussion that has been brought to these other modes of formal display The twelve contributions to this volume examine some of the points of origin of the vitrine and the various relations it brokers with sculpture first in the Wunderkammer and cabinet of curiosities and then in dialog with the development of glazed architecture beginning with Paxton's Crystal Palace 1851 The collection offers close discussions of the role of the vitrine and shop window in the rise of commodity culture and their apposition with Constructivist design in the work of Frederick Kiesler as well as original readings of the use of vitrines in Surrealism and Fluxus and in work by Joseph Beuys Paul Thek Claes Oldenburg and his collaborators Jeff Koons Mike Kelley Dan Graham Vito Acconci Damien Hirst and Josephine Meckseper among others Sculpture and the Vitrine also raises key questions about the nature and implications of vitrinous space including its fronts onto desire and the spectacle transparency and legibility and onto ideas and practices associated with the archive collecting preserving and ordering Modern Sculpture Douglas Dreishpoon, 2022-10-25 This tapestry of primary sources is an essential primer on sculpture and its makers Modern Sculpture presents a selection of manifestos documents statements articles and interviews from more than ninety sculptors including a diverse selection of contemporary sculptors With this book editor Douglas Dreishpoon defers to artists whose varied points of view illuminate sculpture's transformation from object to action concept to phenomenon over the course of more than a century Chapters arranged in chronological sequences highlight dominant stylistic philosophical and thematic threads uniting kindred groups The result is an artist centric history of sculpture as a medium of consequence and character
