

Dear Reader,

The poems in this book are divided into three categories: Life Reflections, Family Time, and The Life and Death of Love. Inspiration occurred in the form of poetry from poems as reflection, while others are humorous.

I was married for over twenty years before I divorced, dated again, and eventually remarried. I learned so much about myself I became aware of the many levels of love. I learned about friendship, the importance of family, and friendship.

Before I was forty-five years old, my poems passed me within five years of each other. I learned about disappointment.

And from my children, I learned about unconditional love.

I have become very insightful along my journey through life, and I've shared many of the wisdom I've gained to you, the reader. I'm certain that you will find love and pieces of yourself within the pages of Pausing to Catch My Breath: Poetry on One Woman's Journey through Life.

Debra A. Warren

Debra A. Warren has enjoyed writing poetry since her teenage years. Her poetry is based on her own life, meditation of good memories and learning experiences. Debra is a grandmother and mother of two grown children. She and her husband reside in central Massachusetts. She can be reached by email at debra@pubblibrary.com.
