Care at the End of the World Jina B. Kim, 2025-03-21 In Care at the End of the World Jina B. Kim develops what she calls crip of color critique bringing a disability lens to bear on feminist and queer of color literature in the aftermath of 1996 US welfare reform and the subsequent evisceration of social safety nets She examines literature by contemporary feminist queer and disabled writers of color such as Jesmyn Ward Octavia Butler Karen Tei Yamashita Samuel Delany and Aurora Levins Morales who each bring disability and dependency to the forefront of their literary freedom dreaming Kim shows that in their writing liberation does not take the shape of the unfettered individual or hinge on achieving independence Instead liberation emerges by recuperating dependency cultivating radical interdependency and recognizing the numerous support systems upon which survival depends At the same time Kim demonstrates how theories and narratives of disability can intervene into state authored myths of resource parasitism such as the welfare queen In so doing she highlights the alternate structures of care these writers envision and their dreams of life organized around reciprocity and mutual support
