King Albert Francis Bebey, 1981 Take This Hammer Paul Rekret, 2024-08-27 A study of contemporary music in light of transformations to work and social life The emergence of the popular music industry in the early twentieth century not only drove a wedge between music production and consumption it also underscored a wider separation of labor from leisure and of the workplace from the domestic sphere These were changes characteristic of an industrial society where pleasure was to be sought outside of work but these categories have grown increasingly porous today As the working day extends into the home or becomes indistinguishable from leisure time so the role and meaning of music in everyday life changes too In arguing that the experience of popular music is partly conditioned by its segregation from work and its restriction to the time and space of leisure the evening the weekend the dancehall Take This Hammer shows how changes to work as it grows increasingly precarious part time and temporary in recent decades are related to transformations in popular music Connecting contemporary changes in work and the economy to tendencies in popular music Take This Hammer shows how song form has both reflected developments in contemporary capitalism while also intimating a horizon beyond it From online streaming and the extension of the working day to gentrification unemployment and the emergence of trap rap from ecological crisis and field recording to automation and trends in dance music by exploring the intersections of work and song in the current era not only do we gain a new understanding of contemporary musical culture we also see how music might gesture towards a horizon beyond the alienating experience of work in capitalism itself The Ashanti Doll Francis Bebey, 1978 Relates the progress of a love affair between an Ashanti girl who runs a stand in the Accra market with her grandmother and a government worker African Music Francis Bebey, 1999-08-01 Engaging and enlightening this guide explores African music s forms musicians instruments and place in the life of the people A discography classified by country theme group and instrument is also included Francis Bebey Dominique Hoyet, Francis Bebey, 1979 Agatha Moudio's Son Francis Bebey, 1973 Mbenda a young fisherman is in love with a modern young woman from a neighboring village By tradition a man marries the woman his father choses for him Mbenda decides to marry both which is allowable in his village but that means his modern wife and his traditional wife must live together and Mbenda will be in the middle Strings Attached William Starling, 2012-10-15 Strings Attached is the much anticipated authorised biography of John Williams one of the most accomplished and celebrated musicians of his generation From his childhood in Australia to his stellar career in London and around the world John Williams has lived an extraordinary life Master of the classical repertoire he took the guitar to a wider audience with the band SKY and by his championing of the music of South America and Africa William Starling came to know John Williams through their mutual friend jazz guitarist John Etheridge As their friendship developed he put it to the maestro that it was time for a biography To his lasting amazement the famously private Williams agreed Strings Attached is the product of extensive research and uniquely privileged access to John Williams his family friends and place at the University of Buea in 1994. The Buea conference was motivated by a determination to look at Cameroon literature straight into its face and criticize it using literary criteria of the strictest kind. Gone were the times when the criticism was complacent because it was believed that a nascent literature could easily be stifled by application of rather strict canons of literary criticism. Both writers and critics had a lot to say. Subjects dealt with ranged from general topics on literature, survival and national identity through specialized articles on prose, poetry, drama, translation, language, folklore, children's literature, journalism and politics. It is the hope of the volume editors that the publication of these papers will instigate the kind of actions that were recommended and that the prolific nature of Cameroon literature will equally give rise to a prolific and robust criticism.
