You Aren't What You Eat Steven Poole,2012-09-28 We have become obsessed by food where it comes from where to buy it how to cook it and most absurdly of all how to eat it Our televisions and newspapers are filled with celebrity chefs latter day priests whose authority and ambition range from the small scale what we should have for supper to large scale public schemes designed to improve our communal eating habits When did the basic human imperative to feed ourselves mutate into such a multitude of anxieties about provenance ethics health lifestyle and class status And since when did the likes of Jamie Oliver and Nigella Lawson gain the power to transform our kitchens and dining tables into places where we expect to be spiritually sustained In this subtle and erudite polemic Steven Poole argues that we re trying to fill more than just our bellies when we pick up our knives and forks and that we might be a lot happier if we realised that sometimes we should throw away the colour supplements and open a tin of beans
