linguistics by taking the past three decades of developments in sociolinguistics and relating them to contemporaneous developments in received linguistics Sociolinguistic Metatheory takes the reader through the basic philosophical questions which drive linguistic research It looks in detail at three models of sociolinguistics Dell Hymes and the Ethnography of Communication William Labov and Sociolinguistic Realism and John Gumperz and Interactional Sociolinguistics and focuses on such questions as Where is language located How is an utterance based approach to linguistics different from a sentence based approach How do metatheoretical paradigm assumptions such as realism or relativism affect the development of linguistic theory What interesting developments in linguistic theory and analysis have sociolinguistics provided

Language, Interaction and National Identity Stephen Hester, William Housley, 2017-05-15 Contemporary political and public discourse has come alive with the issues and conflicts surrounding questions of national identity Despite the widespread sociological attention it has drawn as a result most studies of national identity have been conducted at considerable analytical distance from the lived reality of national identity talk This collection brings together the work of contemporary researchers situating the talk and interaction in which national identities are actually expressed and used The book presents detailed investigations of how persons actually use national identity in their talk the interactional uses to which such expressions are put and the interactional consequences of such identity talk The studies are based on transcribed tape recordings of naturally occurring talk across a variety of different countries and settings illuminating not only situated national identity talk as a phenomenon in its own right but also providing empirically grounded research for traditional sociological theorising about issues of integration devolution and exclusion

Congruence in Contact-Induced Language Change Juliane Besters-Dilger, Cynthia Dermarkar, Stefan Pfänder, Achim Rabus, 2014-01-31 Modern contact linguistics has primarily focused on contact between languages that are genetically unrelated and structurally distant This compendium of articles looks instead at the effects of pre existing structural congruency between the affected languages at the time of their initial contact using the Romance and Slavic languages as examples In contact of this kind both genetic and typological similarities play a part On Languages and Language Werner Winter, 2011-06-24 TRENDS IN LINGUISTICS is a series of books that open new perspectives in our understanding of language The series publishes state of the art work on core areas of linguistics across theoretical frameworks as well as studies that provide new insights by building bridges to neighbouring fields such as neuroscience and cognitive science TRENDS IN LINGUISTICS considers itself a forum for cutting edge research based on solid empirical data on language in its various manifestations including sign languages It regards linguistic variation in its synchronic and diachronic dimensions as well as in its social contexts as important sources of insight for a better understanding of the design of linguistic systems and the ecology and evolution of language TRENDS IN LINGUISTICS publishes monographs and outstanding dissertations as well as edited volumes which provide the opportunity to address controversial topics from different empirical and theoretical viewpoints High quality standards are ensured through anonymous reviewing The Handbook of Educational Linguistics Bernard Spolsky, Francis M. Hult, 2010-02-01 The Handbook of Educational Linguistics is a dynamic scientifically grounded overview revealing the complexity of this growing field while remaining accessible for students researchers language educators curriculum developers and educational policy makers A single volume overview of educational linguistics written by leading specialists in its many relevant fields Takes into account the diverse theoretical foundations core themes major findings and practical applications of educational linguistics Highlights the multidisciplinary reach of educational linguistics Reflects the complexity of this growing field whilst remaining accessible to a wide audience Perspectives on Variation Nicole Delbecque, Johan van der Auwera, Dirk Geeraerts, 2011-06-24 The significant advances witnessed over the last years in the broad field of linguistic variation testify to a growing convergence between sociolinguistic approaches and the somewhat older historical and comparative research traditions Particularly within cognitive and functional linguistics the evolution towards a maximally dynamic approach to language goes hand in hand with a renewed interest in corpus research and quantitative methods of analysis Many researchers feel that only in this way one can do justice to the complex interaction of forces and factors involved in linguistic variability both synchronically and diachronically. The contributions to the present volume illustrate the ongoing evolution of the field. By bringing together a series of analyses that rely on extensive corpora to shed light on sociolinguistic historical and comparative forms of variation, the volume highlights the interaction between these subfields. Most of the contributions go back to talks presented at the meeting of the Societas Linguistica Europaea held in Leuven in 2001. The volume starts with a global typological view on the sociolinguistic landscape of Europe offered by Peter Auer. It is followed by a methodological proposal for measuring phonetic similarity between dialects designed by Paul Heggarty. April McMahon and Robert McMahon. Various papers deal with specific phenomena of socially and conceptually driven variation within a single language. For Dutch, Jos Tummerts, Dirk Speelman and Dirk Geeraerts analyze inflectional variation in Belgian and Netherlandic Dutch. Reinhild Vandekerckhove focuses on interdialectal convergence between West Flemish urban dialects and Arjan van Leuvensteijn studies competing forms of address in the 17th century Dutch standard variety. The cultural and conceptual dimension is also present in the diachronic lexicosemantic explorations presented by Heli Tissari, Clara Molina and Caroline Gevaert for English expressions referring to the experiential domains of love, sorrow and anger respectively; the history of words is systematically linked up with the images they convey and the evolving conceptualizations they reveal. The papers by Heide Wegener and by Marcin Kilarski and Grzegorz Krynicki constitute a plea against arbitrariness of alternations at the level of nominal morphology dealing with marked plural forms in German and with gender assignment to English loanwords in the Scandinavian languages respectively; their distributional accounts bring into the picture a variety of motivating factors. The four cross-linguistic studies that close the volume focus on the differing ways in which even closely related languages exploit parallel morphosyntactic patterns. They share the same methodological concern for combining rigorous parametrization and quantification with conceptual and discourse functional explanations. While Griet Beheydt and Katleen Van den Steen confront the use of formally defined competing constructions in two Germanic and two Romance languages respectively, Torsten Leuschner as well as Gisela Harras and Kirsten Proost analyze how a particular speaker's attitude is expressed differently in various Germanic languages.

Language Planning and Policy in Europe Robert B. Kaplan, Richard B. Baldauf (Jr.), 2005. This text covers the language situation in Hungary, Finland and Sweden, explaining linguistic diversity, historical and political contexts, including language in education, planning and the roles of the media, of religion and of minority and migrant languages. The authors have been participants in the language planning context in these polities.

covers speech and writing Linguistic Choices in the Contemporary City Dick Smakman, Jiří Nekvapil, Kapitolina Fedorova, 2022-05-22 Linguistic Choices in the Contemporary City focuses on how individuals navigate conversation in highly diversified contexts and provides a broad overview of state of the art research in urban sociolinguistics across the globe Bearing in mind the impact of international travel and migration the book accounts for the shifting contemporary studies to the workings of language choices in places where people with many different backgrounds meet and exchange ideas It specifically addresses how people handle language use challenges in a broad range of settings to present themselves positively and meet their information and identity goals While a speaker's experience runs like a thread through this volume the linguistic cultural and situational focus is as broad as possible It runs from the language choices of Chinese immigrants to Beijing and Finnish immigrants to Japan to the use of the local lingua franca by motor taxi drivers in Ngaound r Cameroon and how Hungarian students in their dorm rooms express views on political correctness uninhibitedly As it turns out language play improvisation humour lies as well as highly marked subconscious pronunciation choices are natural parts of the discourses and this volume provides numerous and extensive examples of these techniques For each of the settings discussed the perspective is taken of personalised linguistic and extra linguistic styles in tackling communicative challenges This way a picture is drawn of how postmodern individuals in extremely different cultural and situational circumstances turn out to have strikingly similar human behaviours and intentions Linguistic Choices in the Contemporary City is of interest to all those who follow theoretical and methodological developments in this field It will be of use for upper level students in the fields of Sociolinguistics Pragmatics Linguistic Anthropology and related fields in which urban communicative settings are the focus Studies in Functional Stylistics Jan Chloupek, Jiří Nekvapil, 1993-12-23 The 15 contributions in the present collection can be divided roughly into three groups 1 Papers directly following up functional stylistics and the theory of language culture elaborated in the classical period of the Prague Linguistic School 2 Papers concerning the problems of style in a wider communicative arena These contributions are closely related to contemporary text linguistics and also deal with problems involving psycholinguistics sociolinguistics and semiotics 3 Papers having at least in some part a pronounced historiographic character These contributions reflect the fact that contemporary Czech linguistic research is firmly anchored in the Prague linguistic tradition Although the authors frame of reference is mainly Czech and the current language situation in the Czech Republic the majority of contributions were intended to have a more general linguistic character and general linguistic validity Receptive Multilingualism Jan D. ten Thije, Ludger Zeewaert, 2007-01-01 Receptive multilingualism refers to the language constellation in which interlocutors use their respective mother tongue while speaking to each other Since the mid nineties receptive multilingualism is promoted by the European commission on par with other possibilities of increasing the mobility of the European citizens Throughout the last ten years a marked increase in the research on this topic has been observable This volume reveals new perspectives from different theoretical frameworks on linguistic analyses of receptive multilingualism in Europe Case studies are presented from contemporary settings along with analyses of historical examples theoretical considerations and finally descriptions of didactical concepts established in order to transfer and disseminate receptive multilingual competence The book contains results from research carried out at the Research Center on Multilingualism at the University of Hamburg as well as contributions by various international scholars working in the field of receptive multilingualism Sociolinguistica ,1993 Prague Linguistic Circle Papers Eva Hajiřová,Petr Sgall,Jirí Hana,Tomáš Hoskovec,2002-06-27 The fourth volume of the revived series of Travaux du Cercle linguistique de Prague brings three contributions by J Vachek O Le ka and V Skali ka connected with the classical period of the Prague School as well as papers delivered at the conference Function Form and Meaning Bridges and Interfaces held in Prague in 1998 Some of the contributions concern issues of grammar of different languages including a syntactic annotation of a large Czech text corpus a comparison of Hebrew conditionals with English a characterization of the typology of the Indo European verb A further part focuses on topic focus articulation information sentence structure functional sentence perspective with a concept of perspective introduced as close to but distinct from topic and with three different viewpoints on the semantics of information structure Two broader essays on the nature of language are then presented while the last section analyzes the structure of free verse The volume represents a contribution to the continuing fruitful interaction between the work of the Prague School and the more and less closely related approaches of linguists in other countries
