Reading and Its Difficulties M. D. Vernon,2010-06-24 Originally published in 1971 this book constitutes a scientific enquiry into the basis of reading and dyslexia Professor Vernon considers visual perception reasoning motivation and outlines work in psycholinguistics in order to define the basic psychological processes involved in learning to read She also discusses the problem of specific developmental dyslexia and concludes that the basic deficiency may lie in the processes of conceptual reasoning between the sequence of printed and sounded letters A fundamental disfunction of the brain is also seen as a possibility She stresses the importance of early recognition and remedial treatment of reading difficulties since these may be alleviated if not entirely overcome by suitable treatment Research in Education ,1974 Making Race

Research Report , 1996 Resources in Education , 1979 The Impact of Learning to Read on Visual Processing Tânia Fernandes, Regine Kolinsky, 2016-01-26 Reading is at the interface between the vision and spoken language domains An emergent bulk of research indicates that learning to read strongly impacts on non linguistic visual object processing both at the behavioral level e g on mirror image processing enantiomorphy and at the brain level e.g. inducing top down effects as well as neural competition effects Yet many questions regarding the exact nature locus and consequences of these effects remain hitherto unanswered The current Special Topic aims at contributing to the understanding of how such a cultural activity as reading might modulate visual processing by providing a landmark forum in which researchers define the state of the art and future directions on this issue We thus welcome reviews of current work original research and opinion articles that focus on the impact of literacy on the cognitive and/or brain visual processes In addition to studies directly focusing on this topic we will consider as highly relevant evidence on reading and visual processes in typical and atypical development including in adult people differing in schooling and literacy as well as in neuropsychological cases e.g. developmental dyslexia We also encourage researchers on nonhuman primate visual processing to consider the potential contribution of their studies to this Special Topic
