Reading Dont Fix No Chevys:

Reading Don't Fix No Chevys Michael William Smith, Jeffrey D. Wilhelm, 2002 The problems of boys in schools especially in reading and writing have been the focus of statistical data but rarely does research point out how literacy educators can combat those problems That situation has changed Michael Smith and Jeff Wilhelm two of the most respected names in English education and in the teaching of reading worked with a very diverse group of young men to understand how they use literacy and what conditions promote it In this book they share what they have learned Through a variety of creative research methods and an extended series of interviews with 49 young men in middle and high school who differ in class race academic achievement kind of school and geography the authors identified the factors that motivated these young men to become accomplished in the activities they most enjoyed factors that marked the boys literate activities outside of school but were largely absent from their literate lives in school Their study questions the way reading and literature are typically taught and suggests powerful alternatives to traditional instruction Building their findings on their understanding of the powerful and engaging experiences boys had outside of school Smith and Wilhelm discuss why boys embrace or reject certain ways of being literate how boys read and engage with different kinds of texts and what qualities of texts appeal to boys Throughout the authors highlight the importance of choice the boys need to be shown how to read the cost of the traditional teaching of difficult canonical texts and the crucial place of meaningful social activity The authors data driven findings are provocative explaining why boys reject much of school literacy and how progressive curricula and instruction might help boys engage with literacy and all learning in more productive ways Providing both challenges and practical advice for overcoming those challenges Smith and Wilhelm have produced a book that will appeal to teachers teacher educators and parents alike

Evaluating and Promoting Nonfiction for Children and Young Adults Don Latham, 2025-01-07 Evaluating and Promoting Nonfiction for Children and Young Adults isn't another bibliography that will quickly become outdated. Instead, it situates nonfiction resources within the recent emphasis on reading nonfiction as a way of enhancing critical thinking and combating susceptibility to fake news. Donald Latham offers strategies for evaluating nonfiction for the purposes of collection development, providing readers advisory, and developing programs using nonfiction for children and young adults. The book includes lists of professional resources as well as recommended nonfiction titles.

The Space and Practice of Reading Chin Ee Loh, 2017-02-10 Mirroring worldwide debates on social class, literacy rates, and social change, this study explores the intersection between reading and social class in Singapore, one of the top scorers on the Programme for International Assessment (PISA) tests, and questions the rhetoric of social change that does not take into account local spaces and practices. This comparative study of reading practices in an elite school and a government school in Singapore draws on practice and spatial perspectives to provide critical insight into how taken-for-granted practices and spaces of reading can be, in fact, unacknowledged spaces of inequity. Acknowledging the role of social class in shaping reading education is a start to reconfiguring current practices and spaces for more effective and equitable reading practices. This book shows how using localized, contextualized approaches sensitive to the home, school, national, and global contexts can lead to more targeted policy and practice transformation in the area of reading instruction and intervention. Chapters in the book include: Becoming a Reader, Home School Connections, Singaporean Boys Constructing Global Literate Selves, School-Nation Connections, Levelling the Reading Gap, Socio-Spatial Perspectives. The book will be relevant to literacy scholars and educators, library science researchers, and sociologists interested in the intersection of class and literacy practices in the 21st century.

Alternatives to Privatizing Public Education and Curriculum Daniel Ness, Stephen J. Farenga, 2017-03-16 Through conversations in honor of Dale D. Johnson, this book takes a critical view of the monoculture in curriculum and policy that has developed in education with the increase of federal funding and privatization of services for public education and examines the shift from public interest and control to private and corporate shareholder hegemony. Most states' educational responsibilities, assessment of constituents, curriculum development, and instructional protocols are increasingly being outsourced to private enterprises in an effort to reduce state budgets. These enterprises have been given wide access to state resources such as public data from state-sanctioned testing results, field testing rights to public schools, and financial assistance. Chapter authors challenge this paradigm as well as the model that has set growing premiums on accountability and performance measures. Connecting common impact between the standards movement and the privatization of education, this book lays bare the repercussions of high-stakes accountability coupled with increasing privatization.
