Urban Public Space in Colonial Transformations Monika

Baumanova, 2022-09-21 This book offers an interdisciplinary perspective on the precolonial to colonial transition in an urban context by focusing on the changing distribution character and role of public spaces and buildings The volume focuses on three case study regions East African coast North West Africa and the Iberian Peninsula The regions are selected to provide a novel perspective on the socio spatial impact of colonialism on the public life of urban settlements driven by different political forces in different geographical contexts and time periods The three study areas are also linked by sharing several features of urban lifestyle such as the role of trade and the influence of religion Islam in particular The intertwined influence of socio spatial urban characteristics on public life is presented on a range of case studies selected from Africa and southern Europe The approaches are rooted in archaeological thinking on the built environment as material culture and incorporate critical interpretation of ethnographies and historical accounts on both the precolonial and colonial eras This volume is of interest to archaeologists and researchers working in urban history anthropology and heritage

Verandahs of Power

Garth Andrew Myers, 2003-02-01 Garth Andrew Myers work makes a significant contribution to a long tradition of research on colonial cities and a multidisciplinary body of literature on urban legacies of colonialism He examines both colonial rule and postcolonial inheritance in these cities tracing the legacies of colonialism in different and divergent postcolonial settings a revolutionary left wing socialist state Zanzibar and a reactionary right wing dictatorship Malawi In addition to the examination of urban plans and the African urban majority s responses to them the book traces the experience of the urban planning process through three different verandahs of power or levels of class depiction the colonial power the colonized middle and the urban majority Interspersed with personal stories this book illuminates our understanding of the workings of power in African cities by addressing human experiences of that power

The Politics of Precarity Gediminas

Lesutis, 2021-12-30 Based on critical theory and ethnographic research this book explores how intensifying geographies of extractive capitalism shape human lives and transformative politics in marginal areas of the global economy Engaging the work of Judith Butler Henri Lefebvre and Jacques Rancière with ethnographic research on social and political effects of mining induced dispossession in Mozambique in the book Lesutis theorises how precarity unfolds as a spatially constituted condition of everyday life given over to the violence of capital Going beyond labour relations or governance of life in liberal democracies that are typically explored in the literature on precarity the book shows how dispossessed people are subjected to structural symbolic and direct modalities of violence this simultaneously constitutes their suffering and ceaseless desire however implausible to be included into abstract space of extractivism As a result despite the multifarious violence that it engenders extractive capital accumulation is sustained even in the margins historically excluded from contingently lived imaginaries of a good life promised by capitalism Presenting this theorisation of precarity as a framework on and a critique of the contemporary politics of unliveability the book speaks to key debates about precarity dispossession resistance extractivism and development in several disciplines especially political geography IPE global politics and critical theory It will also be of interest to scholars in development studies critical political economy and African politics Imperial Encore Caroline Ritter,2021-01-26 In the 1930s British colonial officials introduced drama performances broadcasting services and publication bureaus into Africa under the rubric of colonial development They used theater radio and mass produced books to spread British values and the English language across the continent This project proved remarkably resilient well after the end of Britain's imperial rule many of its cultural institutions remained in place Through the 1960s and 1970s African audiences continued to attend Shakespeare performances and listen to the BBC while African governments adopted English language textbooks produced by metropolitan publishing houses Imperial Encore traces British drama broadcasting and publishing in Africa between the 1930s and the 1980s the half century spanning the end of British colonial rule and the outset of African national rule Caroline Ritter shows how three major cultural institutions the British Council the BBC and Oxford University Press integrated their work with British imperial aims and continued this project well after the end of formal British rule Tracing these institutions and the media they produced through the tumultuous period of decolonization and its aftermath Ritter offers the first account of the global footprint of British cultural imperialism Dock Workers Sam Davies,Colin J. Davis,David de Vries,Lex Heerma van Voss,Lidewij Hesselink,Klaus Weinbauer,2017-09-29 Workers who loaded and unloaded ships have formed a distinctive occupational group over the past two centuries As trade expanded so the numbers of dock labourers increased and became concentrated in the major ports of the world This ambitious two volume project goes beyond existing individual studies of dock workers to develop a genuinely comparative international perspective over a long historical period Volume 1 contains studies of 22 major ports worldwide Built around an agreed framework of issues these port studies examine the type of workers who dominated dock labour their race class and ethnicity the working conditions of dockers and the role of government as employer arbitrator and supporter The studies also detail how dockers organized their labour patterns of strike action and involvement in political organizations The structure of the port city is also outlined and descriptions given of the waterside environment These areas of investigation form the basis for a series of 11 thematic studies which comprise Volume 2 Drawing on the information provided in the port studies these essays identify important aspects and recurring themes and explain how and why particular cases diverge from the rest The final chapter of the book synthesizes the various approaches taken to offer a model which suggests several configurations of dock labour and presents suggestions for future research This major scholarly achievement represents the most sustained attempt to date to provide a comparative international history of dock labour An annotated bibliography completes this essential reference work Making Identity on the Swahili Coast Steven Fabian,2019-11-07 A re examination of the historical development of urban identity and community along the Swahili Coast Decolonization and African Society

Frederick Cooper, 1996-08-28 This detailed and authoritative volume changes our conceptions of imperial and African history Frederick Cooper gathers a vast range of archival sources in French and English to achieve a truly comparative study of colonial policy toward the recruitment control and institutionalization of African labor forces from the mid 1930s when the labor question was first posed to the late 1950s when decolonization was well under way Professor Cooper explores colonial conceptions of the African worker and shows how African trade union and political leaders used the new language of social change to claim equality and a share of power This helped to persuade European officials that the modern Africa they imagined was unaffordable Britain and France could not reshape African society As they left the continent the question was how they had affected the ways in which Africans could reorganize society themselves Cultural Memories Peter Meusburger, Michael Heffernan, Edgar Wunder, 2011-05-11 The revival of interest in collective cultural memories since the 1980s has been a genuinely global phenomenon Cultural memories can be defined as the social constructions of the past that allow individuals and groups to orient themselves in time and space The investigation of cultural memories has necessitated an interdisciplinary perspective though geographical questions about the spaces places and landscapes of memory have acquired a special significance The essays in this volume written by leading anthropologists geographers historians and psychologists open a range of new interpretations of the formation and development of cultural memories from ancient times to the present day The volume is divided into five interconnected sections The first section outlines the theoretical considerations that have shaped recent debates about cultural memory The second section provides detailed case studies of three key themes the founding myths of the nation state the contestation of national collective memories during periods of civil war and the oral traditions that move beyond national narrative The third section examines the role of World War II as a pivotal episode in an emerging European cultural memory The fourth section focuses on cultural memories in postcolonial contexts beyond Europe The fifth and final section extends the study of cultural memory back into premodern tribal and nomadic societies Identification and Citizenship in Africa Séverine Awenengo Dalberto, Richard Banégas, 2021-05-09 In the context of a global biometric turn this book investigates processes of legal identification in Africa from below asking what this means for the relationship between citizens and the state Almost half of the population of the African continent is thought to lack a legal identity and many states see biometric technology as a reliable and efficient solution to the problem However this book shows that biometrics far from securing identities and avoiding fraud or political distrust can even participate in reinforcing exclusion and polarizing debates on citizenship and national belonging It highlights the social and political embedding of legal identities and the resilience of the documentary state Drawing on empirical research conducted across 14 countries the book documents the processes practices and meanings of legal identification in Africa from the 1950s right up to the biometric boom Beyond the classic opposition between surveillance and recognition it demonstrates how analysing the social uses of IDs and tools of identification can give a fresh account of the state at work the practices of citizenship and the role of bureaucracy in the writing of the self in African societies This book will be of an important reference for students and scholars of African studies politics human security and anthropology and the sociology of the state
