Cell Biology of Protist Parasite-Host Interfaces Carmen Faso, Adrian Hehl, 2022-04-28 New advances in the biology and pathogenesis of free-living amoebae Isabel Marcelino, Ascel Samba-Louaka, Christopher A. Rice, 2024-05-06 Free living amoebae FLA are fascinating unicellular eukaryotes living freely in soil and freshwater habitats and feeding mainly on bacteria Under stressful conditions they can transform from a motile metabolically active and replicative trophozoite to a dormant and resistant cyst Some FLA can be pathogenic to humans such as Acanthamoeba Balamuthia Naegleria and Sappinia causing rare but fatal infection in humans FLA are also known to be carriers of pathogenic microorganisms but few information is currently available on the natural bacteria of FLA and how various bacteria avoid phagocytosis predation by these specific types of amoebae There is an imperious need to draw more attention to this group of microorganisms and for this we seek submissions that address advancements in the biology and pathogenesis of FLAs

Host-Parasite Cellular and Molecular Interactions in Protozoal Infections K.-P. Chang, David Snary, 2013-06-29 Tropical diseases such as leishmaniasis malaria trypanosomiasis toxoplasmosis and amebiasis continue to plague the world resulting in considerable morbidity and mortality especially in the third world countries These diseases are caused by a group of protozoa which have over the years undergone evolutionary adaptation to live often intracellularly in a parasitic way of life So well adapted have they become that they recognize the right hosts or cells to parasitize yet at the same time they escape recognition and destruction by the host immune system The mechanisms of such recognition and the escape of recognition are governed largely by host parasite surface membrane interactions at the cellular and molecular level Unique molecules produced by unusual pathways of these parasites have also been discovered and found to play important roles in their survival in the host. Understanding these mechanisms and pathways is essential not only to formulate a rational strategy for chemo and immuno prophylaxis and therapy but also to unravel the mystery of biological evolution in symbiosis and parasitism. In the advent of our knowledge on the molecular biology and biochemistry of parasite membrane and other molecules it is opportune to examine and discuss their possible roles in host parasite recognition and interaction in a comparative approach. To highlight the recent advances of this area in various host parasite systems a NATO advanced Research Workshop was held from September 27 to October 1 1986 at Hotel Villa del Mare Acquafredda di Maratea Italy.

Microbial Surface Components and Toxins in Relation to Pathogenesis Eliora Z. Ron, Shlomo Rottem, 2012-12-06 The meeting on Microbial Surface Components and Toxins in Relation to Pathogenesis was held on May 15 19 1989 in the Mitzpe Rachel guesthouse of Kibbutz Ramat Rachel in Israel. Four major topics formed the basis for the meeting: adhesion and colonization, cell invasion and intracellular multiplication, evasion of host defenses, toxins and systemic effects. The presentations clearly show that our understanding of the pathology of pathogenesis and bacteria host cell interaction has greatly advanced over the last few years. The contributions to our knowledge on the biogenesis of adhesins and their molecular organization as well as on the mechanism of adherence to infected target tissue by pathogenic bacteria have been particularly impressive. Significant progress has been made in defining the nature of pathogenic and cytotoxic factors produced by bacteria and much has been learned about the biochemical and antigenic modifications occurring in diverse types of host cells upon infection The discussions of polysaccharide capsules bacterial endotoxins and secreted toxins illustrated the challenge and the possibilities for vaccine development
