D. Sinclair, 2014-04-04 First published in 1982 The human brain is the most complex object on Earth that can be studied scientifically a collection of over 100 billion neurons squeezed into a space about the size of a grapefruit which somehow is able to control all that you feel do and know There still is little understanding of the most important and interesting functions of the brain such as what really happens up there when you learn something when you are thinking or when you are feeling happy In this book the author attempts to organize nearly the entire field of psychology within a single new theory based upon only one very simple assumption about neuronal functioning
