other agents. It must also be able to complete its planning and resolution of these conflicts within a reasonable time to have an acceptable quality plan. Although we adopt hierarchical planning (HP) for example see 7.12 using the decision theoretic planning (DTP) approach 6 for efficient planning, it is not trivial to apply HPO to MAS. In HP, appropriate abstract plans are selected level by level to maximize the utility  $U_p$  where  $p$  is the expected plan comprising a sequence of primitive actions. However, in the MAS context, conflicts between agents affect the efficiency and quality of resulting plans. When a conflict is found at lower levels, an additional sophisticated process for avoiding it, conflict resolution, must be invoked and some extra actions such as waiting for synchronization and detouring may have to be added to the plan. The conflict resolution process may become costly or fail. Even a single conflict if it is difficult to resolve will result in a plan with considerably lower quality than it otherwise would have. As a result, in multi-agent systems, the second or third best plans may result in better overall performance.
