The Neuroethology of Birdsong Jon T. Sakata,Sarah C. Woolley,Richard R. Fay,Arthur N. Popper,2020-03-19 Vocal signals are central for social communication across a wide range of vertebrate species consequently it is critical to understand the mechanisms underlying the learning control and evolution of vocal communication Songbirds are at the forefront of research into such neural mechanisms Indeed songbirds provide a particularly important model system for this endeavor because of the many parallels between birdsong and human speech Specifically 1 songbirds are one of the few vertebrate species that like humans learn their vocal signals during development 2 the processes of song learning and control in songbirds shares many parallels with the process of speech acquisition in humans and 3 there exist deep homologies between the circuits for the learning control and processing of vocal signals across songbirds and humans In addition because of the diversity of songbirds and song learning strategies songbirds offer a powerful model system to use the comparative method to reveal mechanisms underlying the evolution of song learning and production Taken together research on songbirds can not only reveal general principles underlying vertebrate vocal communication but can also provide insight into potential mechanisms underlying the learning control and processing of speech This volume will cover a range of topics in birdsong spanning multiple level of analysis Chapters will be authored by the world s leading experts on birdsong and will provide comprehensive reviews of the processes underlying song learning of the neural circuits for song learning and control as well as for the extraction and processing of song information of the selection pressures underlying song evolution and of genetic and molecular mechanisms underlying the learning and evolution of song The primary goals of this volume are to provide comprehensive integrative and comparative perspectives on birdsong and to underscore the importance of birdsong to biomedical research evolutionary biology and behavioral systems and computational neuroscience The target audience of this volume will be graduate students postdoctoral fellows and established academics and neuroscientists who are interested in mechanisms of communication from an integrative and comparative perspective The volume is intended to function as a high profile and contemporary reference on current work related to the learning control processing and evolution of birdsong This volume will have broad appeal to comparative and sensory biologists neurophysiologists and behavioral systems and cognitive neuroscientists who attend meetings such as the Society for Neuroscience the International Society for Neuroethology and the Society for Integrative and Comparative Biology Because of the relevance of birdsong research to understanding human speech it is likely that the volume will also be of interest to speech researchers and clinicians researching communication motor and sensory processing disorders

Theatre, Exhibition, and Curation Georgina Guy, 2016-04-20 Examining the artistic intellectual and social life of performance this book interrogates Theatre and Performance Studies through the lens of display and modern visual art

Moving beyond the exhibition of immaterial art and its documents as well as re enactment in gallery contexts Guy s book articulates an emerging field of arts practice distinct from but related to increasing curatorial provision for live performance Drawing on a recent proliferation of object centric events of display that interconnect with theatre the book approaches artworks in terms of their curation together and re theorizes the exhibition as a dynamic context in which established traditions of display and performance interact By examining the current traffic of ideas and aesthetics moving between theatricality and curatorial practice the study reveals how the reception of a specific form is often mediated via the ontological expectations of another It asks how contemporary visual arts and exhibition practices display performance and what it means to generalize the theatrical as the optic or directive of a curatorial concept Proposing a symbiotic relation between theatricality and display Guy presents cases from international arts institutions which are both displayed and performed including the Tate Modern and the Guggenheim and assesses their significance to the enduring relation between theatre and the visual arts The book progresses from the conventional alignment of theatricality and ephemerality within performance research and teases out a new temporality for performance with which contemporary exhibitions implicitly experiment thereby identifying supplementary modes of performance which other discourses exclude This important study joins the fields of Theatre and Performance Studies with exciting new directions in curation aesthetics sociology of the arts visual arts the creative industries the digital humanities cultural heritage and reception and audience theories An Evolutionary Genetic Analysis of Metabolic Pathways and Physiological Performance in Drosophila Kristi Luella Montooth,2005 Biodefense in the Age of Synthetic Biology National Academies of Sciences, Engineering, and Medicine,Division on Earth and Life Studies,Board on Life Sciences,Board on Chemical Sciences and Technology,Committee on Strategies for Identifying and Addressing Potential Biodefense Vulnerabilities Posed by Synthetic Biology,2019-01-05 Scientific advances over the past several decades have accelerated the ability to engineer existing organisms and to potentially create novel ones not found in nature Synthetic biology which collectively refers to concepts approaches and tools that enable the modification or creation of biological organisms is being pursued overwhelmingly for beneficial purposes ranging from reducing the burden of disease to improving agricultural yields to remediating pollution Although the contributions synthetic biology can make in these and other areas hold great promise it is also possible to imagine malicious uses that could threaten U S citizens and military personnel Making informed decisions about how to address such concerns requires a realistic assessment of the capabilities that could be misused Biodefense in the Age of Synthetic Biology explores and envisions potential misuses of synthetic biology This report develops a framework to guide an assessment of the security concerns related to advances in synthetic biology assesses the levels of concern warranted for such advances and identifies options that could help mitigate those concerns
