Paul Gauguin Images From The South Seas:

Paul Gauguin Eckhard Hollmann, Simon Haviland, 1996 Gauguin's South Seas Paul Gauguin, 1992 It is 100 years since Paul Gauguin set sail for Tahiti a journey that was to change his life and the course of western art Like other Europeans before him he travelled to the South Seas possessed with the dream of discovering a primitive paradise untroubled by the adverse effects of civilization In his 10 years in Tahiti and later in the Marquesas Islands where he spent his last days Gauguin felt he had become a savage dressing eating and living like a native and conducting liaisons with Tahitian women whom he featured in many of his paintings In Gauguin's South Seas an illustrated biographical introduction tells the story of his tropical sojourns drawing on his own writings while the colour plates feature both well known and less familiar works that convey his unique idyllic view of the exotic landscapes he treasured Post-Impressionism Jane Bingham, 2008-12-17 Introduces Post Impressionism including its history the famous artists and works of the movement and the different methods of painting derived during the period Masterpieces of European Painting, 1800-1920, in the Metropolitan Museum of Art Metropolitan Museum of Art (New York, N.Y.), Kathryn Calley Galitz, 2007 The White Pacific Gerald Horne, 2007-05-31 Worldwide supplies of sugar and cotton were impacted dramatically as the U S Civil War dragged on New areas of production entered these lucrative markets particularly in the South Pacific and plantation agriculture grew substantially in disparate areas such as Australia Fiji and Hawaii The increase in production required an increase in labor in the rush to fill the vacuum freebooters and other unsavory characters began a slave trade in Melanesians and Polynesians that continued into the twentieth century The White Pacific ranges over the broad expanse of Oceania to reconstruct the history of blackbirding slave trading in the region It examines the role of U S citizens many of them ex slaveholders and ex confederates in the trade and its roots in Civil War dislocations What unfolds is a dramatic tale of unfree labor conflicts between formal and informal empire white supremacy threats to sovereignty in Hawaii the origins of a White Australian policy and the rise of Japan as a Pacific power and putative protector It also pieces together a wonderfully suggestive history of the African American presence in the Pacific Based on deft archival research in Australia New Zealand Fiji Hawaii the United States and Great Britain The White Pacific uncovers a heretofore hidden story of race labor war and intrigue that contributes significantly to the emerging intersectional histories of race and ethnicity South Sea Maidens Michael Sturma, 2002-03-30 From the first European contact with Tahiti in 1767 the myth of the South Sea maiden has endured through many incarnations Although the maiden frequently provided an idealized antidote to Western women's self assertion the South Pacific also afforded a space where boundaries between the sexes could be relaxed and transgressed From James Cook and Captain Bligh to James Michener and Margaret Mead the Island girl has occupied a special place in the erotic imagination of the West In a sweeping study that embraces history literature visual arts anthropology and film this study gives fresh insight into the myths and reality of a Western icon While women from far off lands have always been presented as exotic and alluring the South Sea maiden has come to symbolize feminine sexuality as an integral part of the adventure sensuality and romance of the South Pacific Everyone from early explorers to 19th century writers and artists to latter day anthropologists film makers and tourism promoters have extolled their virtues and their bodies Sturma looks behind the popular cliché to reveal how the myth making process reflected not only Western desires but the cut and thrust of changing sexual politics The result is an intriguing look at both South Sea image makers and the women whom they found so seductive

How Do We Look? Fatimah Tobing Rony, 2021-10-18 In How Do We Look Fatimah Tobing Rony draws on transnational images of Indonesian women as a way to theorize what she calls visual biopolitics the ways visual representation determines which lives are made to matter more than others Rony outlines the mechanisms of visual biopolitics by examining Paul Gauguin's 1893 portrait of Anna la Javanaise a trafficked thirteen year old girl found wandering the streets of Paris as well as US ethnographic and documentary films In each instance the figure of the Indonesian woman is inextricably tied to discourses of primitivism savagery colonialism exoticism and genocide Rony also focuses on acts of resistance to visual biopolitics in film writing and photography These works such as Rachmi Diyah Larasati's The Dance that Makes You Vanish Vincent Monnikendam's Mother Dao 1995 and the collaborative films of Nia Dinata challenge the naturalized methods of seeing that justify exploitation dehumanization and early death of people of color By theorizing the mechanisms of visual biopolitics Rony elucidates both its violence and its vulnerability
